

ADMITS KILLING

(CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1) Police began a search for the husband and found him slumped over the same bed at dawn. They said he apparently had gone outside after his wife had been shot, turned the weapon, a .38 caliber pistol, on himself, and then staggered back into the bedroom where he collapsed. Lunnerman was held in jail here on a charge of murder.

NAACP PAYS

(CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1) for any foreign corporation which does business in the state without registering with the secretary of state. Atty. Gen. George Patton said he received the check after notifying the NAACP that he would take court action to collect the penalty. Patton said the payment was an admission that they were doing business here before the organization registered. The organization had maintained earlier that it was not doing business in the state.

The NAACP filed suit seeking a declaratory judgment that the law did not apply to it. It later dropped the suit, however, and registered with secretary of state Chad Eure in February. The NAACP still has not registered under an act requiring registration of organizations which seek to influence legislation or public opinion. Patton said there are no plans at present to force registration under this law. Eure originally asked the NAACP to register under both laws. The request was sparked by the Pro-segregation Patriots of North Carolina, Inc., which called Eure's attention to the fact that the NAACP had not registered.

WHEELER DIES

(CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1) Saturday night in Harris Memorial Hospital after a brief illness. Following rites at Big Bethel AME Church of which the deceased was a member, the body was brought to Durham where graveside rites and burial took place on Wednesday in Beechwood Cemetery there.

Born July 8, 1889, at Nicholasville, Ky., Mr. Wheeler graduated from Wilberforce University in 1917 with highest honors and spent one summer at the University of Chicago in 1920.

In 1928, he entered the teaching profession at Kittrell College, Kittrell, N. C., rising to president during his 10-year tenure. He resigned as Kittrell president in 1938 and joined N. C. Mutual as an agent in the Raleigh District. He rose to regional supervisor in 1927 and in 1933 became assistant director at the home office, a post he held until retiring in 1950.

Mr. Wheeler was a member of the Atlanta Civic League, the Negro Chamber of Commerce, the Negro Business League, the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People and Omega Psi Phi fraternity.

In addition to his son, survivors include his wife former Miss Margaret H. Hery, two daughters, Mrs. Ruth H. Lowe of the home and Mrs. Margaret W. Brown of East Orange, N. J., and five grandchildren.

LA. CHARGES

(CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1) his racial origins has never been challenged before and that there must be an error in birth records submitted to the commission showing him to be a Negro. A finding against Dupas would force the commission to cancel Dupas' scheduled fight in New Orleans April 8 with Vince Martini because of a state law prohibiting interracial athletics. The Louisiana Legislature passed a law last year banning athletic events between Negroes and whites. Dupas said he couldn't understand "why anybody would want to do this to me."

FLAMES SWEEP

(CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1) the house to find it engulfed by flames. Firemen found the bodies of Aubrey, 5, Norman, 4, and the nine-month-old twins, Bessie and Charlie, near the kitchen door of the house. Deputy Sheriff Jack Overton said the "flash fire" was out of control when firemen arrived on the scene about 11 a.m. Fire Chief Claude Butcher said his department did not receive the alarm until it was too late.

Firemen said they were unable to get near the building to attempt to rescue the children. Overton said the father was away at work at a box factory near this Southside Virginia town.

Firemen said the only fire in the house was contained in a small wood heater. Mrs. Lee said she thought one of the older children may have been playing with matches. The house was located about 11 miles south of here on state Route 701.

RAPE SUSPECT

Mrs. Mary Lou Carter, who lives alone four miles north or here, was operated on in James Walker Memorial Hospital in Wilmington, for a fractured skull. She identified Faison from her hospital bed. "She identified him at the hospital," Sheriff Ralph Miller said. "But she has a fractured skull, and there could be a mistake." Meanwhile, he said, the investigation is being continued.

ODDS & ENDS

(CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1) an American, Jackie knows something we all should know — that the Negro's fight for justice is a righteous fight and God has never deserted those who fight for justice and righteousness. Within the framework of the American Constitution lies all that the Negro in America hopes for. We can all join Jackie and be proud we are Americans. We should join him also in the crusade in which he is engaged, a crusade to hasten the day of fulfillment of our faith.

WILL THE DOORS OF THE RALEIGH SCHOOLS OPEN? News dispatches out of Charlotte report the school superintendent and the Charlotte schools as saying that the "doors of the Charlotte public schools are open to Negroes." This and other related statements were given to a fairly large Negro delegation that met with the Charlotte school authorities last week. The group, headed by Kelly Alexander, president of the North Carolina NAACP Conference, requested this meeting in order to clarify the school integration situation in Charlotte. The Charlotte school officials said it was their feeling that until and unless Negro children applied for admission to the schools now attended solely by whites, there was nothing that could be done about school integration. The statement by these officials that the doors of the Charlotte schools are open to Negroes will have to be taken for its face value. Negro leaders in Charlotte freely admit that no Negro children there have sought admission to any school they have not previously attended. There is no reason to doubt or to question the good faith intentions of the Charlotte school officials. Nothing has ever been gained by doubting the good faith of any one before a test has been made of that purported good faith. It is incumbent upon the Negro parents in Charlotte to speedily seek admission of their children to the schools nearest to where these children live or to the schools that offer facilities and training that will best serve these children's needs.

It will not be known whether or not the Charlotte school people intend to obey the law as interpreted by the U. S. Supreme Court after these school applications have been filed. Regardless to the outcome of the Charlotte school interpretation of the situation, it is pertinent to point out the difference in the expressed attitude of the Charlotte and Raleigh school officials. Delegations seeking to learn the attitude of the Raleigh School Board concerning school integration have repeatedly appeared before the Raleigh School Board. At no time has this board given any indication that it was even considering the question of integrating the schools here. Suggested ways of accomplishing integration have been presented to the local school board.

These suggestions have never been studied or even considered by the Raleigh Board. Petitions and applications from Negro parents for the admission of their children to the schools nearest them, addressed to the school board, have been thrown into the waste basket by the Raleigh school superintendent. Negro parents who have gone to the superintendent with a request that their children be allowed to attend the schools in their district, have been intimidated and threatened with job reprisals. In view of these sad experiences encountered by Negroes in Raleigh who have sought relief and compliance with the school law, there is no doubt that the Raleigh school officials have closed the door to the so-called white schools to all Negro children, regardless of the justice of their pleas. No one can say that Negroes here have not tried to have the superintendent and the school board comply with the law. True, no suits have been brought here, as far as we have been able to learn, no suits are contemplated. We would like here to call attention to complaints so often voiced by Southern whites, that the Negroes would gain more by trying to work out a peaceful solution of the problem than they can get through court actions. The Raleigh school officials have blown that fantasy sky high.

They have closed the door to every peaceful solution Negroes here find themselves damned if they seek justice by law, they find themselves ignored when they ask to be given the same consideration accorded other citizens. The city of Charlotte has said that the doors of its schools are open to Negroes when will the school doors here be opened to them.

WATCH THAT X: April 30 is primary day in Raleigh. On that date the citizens of this city will go to the polls to select the candidates to be voted on in May for membership on the City Council. At one time it seemed as if there might be a dearth of council candidates. Although to date, the four names needed to fill the requirement for a run off election have not appeared, there is a strong possibility that a sufficient number of candidates will file before the April 15 deadline. This city needs a Negro on its City Council. In no other way can a sense of balance be obtained.

In no other way can Raleigh's 30,000 Negroes obtain representation. We sincerely hope that a Negro will be elected to the council this year. However, regardless to whether or not this can be achieved, seven persons will be elected to serve on that important body for the next two years. Because the Raleigh City Council is an important body and because what it does and fails to do for the next two years, is of vital importance to every Negro in Raleigh, it is highly important that when you go into the voting booth on April 30th, try to know for whom you are voting before you mark X besides his name. The record of most of the announced candidates can easily be obtained. A person cannot live in a community no larger than Raleigh or staying years without doing or saying things that will indicate his attitude toward Negroes. Study the racial record of all the candidates and then vote only for those you can reasonably expect to give you a square deal. Be careful where you put that X. HIND SIGHT VERSUS FORE-SIGHT

Now that the North Carolina Conference of NAACP branches has given this state a check for $500.00 as a penalty payment for failing to register when it was asked to do so, it might be appropriate in connection with that, to relate an old Irish proverb, "If we would use as much foresight as we use hindsight, we would all be better off by a d — n sight." We know the North Carolina NAACP Conference would have been $500 better off had its officials exercised a bit of fore sight in the matter of complying with the laws of this state regarding registration of foreign corporations.

We have stated in this column several times that, in our opinion, the NAACP was legally bound to comply with this law and we felt it should do so. We do not however, find any solace in the fact that the organization was fined $500.00 for its failure to comply. The state officials of the NAACP are all upright, honest and conscientious persons, dedicated to serving the cause of true democracy. Those qualities do not, however, take from the human weakness of making a mistake. This mistake was a bit costly but we predict they and the organization they so ably serve will benefit from this mistake.

MORE PRISONS NEEDED! Commenting on the almost prohibitive cost of using the Raleigh high schools for Saturday night dances for the teen agers, one Raleigh parent is quoted as saying that if the Raleigh boys and girls were had enough to require the amount of policing and supervision as requisites for holding these dances in the school buildings, it seemed to her that instead of more schools, there is a need for more prisons. We have no intention of entering into this controversy between the school superintendent and the recreation department over the use of these schools for Saturday night dancing, but we would like to point out that unless something is speedily done to check the lawlessness of this city's teen agers, more prisons will soon be needed to house them.

BELATED AWAKENING: It was not until a Negro woman through her Negro attorneys filed a suit challenging the right of a Northhampton County registrar to deny the right to register that this state realized that its voting registration laws are wrong. This law now says that a person presenting himself for registration must be able to read and write the state Constitution to the satisfaction of the registrar.

Why such an arbitrary and despotic provision has not been attacked before now possibly remains a mystery. Everyone knows this provision was put into the law for the express purpose of preventing Negroes from voting. The registrars, particularly those in this state's eastern counties where, in some, Negroes out number the whites, were set up as the tools by which we are to be disfranchised. Being an integral part of this diabolical plot to prevent Negroes from voting, graduates of Oxford or Harvard or any other institution of higher learning could never "satisfy these registrars." How could they?

Now that a suit has been filed seeking to outlaw this law, members of the general assembly and the press are saying that it should be changed. Even Governor Hodges is quoted as being in favor of modification of it. A bill introduced in the General Assembly last week would strike out the clause, "to the satisfaction of the registrar and simply say that every person must be able to read and write before being allowed to register. As it now stands, there is no appeal from the ruling of the registrar. The bill before the General Assembly would allow a person the right of appeal. It is a foregone conclusion that this bill will be passed but it is also a foregone conclusion that all of these persons know the wrongness of the present law and are only advocating its change for outside publicity reasons.

The Thursday night, April 4 show will feature more than one dozen singing groups in a musical extravaganza. There will be the usual demonstrations at all sessions. There is no charge for the demonstrations and the other features given by the CAROLINIAN. There will be an admission fee to the "Jabberwock" on Friday night. The promoters of this outstanding event use the money raised to give scholarships for deserving girls. The enjoyment that one will receive will be well worth the price of admission and those who attend the event will be helping a worthy cause. These dates should be marked on your calendar so that you will not miss this educational, fun - filled, prize-giving event.

Queen To Get $50 Bond Candidates for queen of the Jabberwock from the J. W. Ligon High School are Loretta Pellers, senior; Barbara Moore, junior; Antoinette Spaulding, sophomore; Dennis Perry, sophomore; Pauline Keith, senior; Barbara Taylor, senior; and Bobbie Jean Mitchell, freshman.

In addition to an evening of entertainment, the sorority is offering a portable television to the holder of the lucky ticket. The Jabberwock is sponsored throughout the United States, and Hawaii as a means of supplying scholarships to worthy students. One of last year's recipients was Miss Yvonne Autry, crowned Miss Ligon High of '56 and currently enrolled in business education at Shaw University.

Another recipient was Miss Mildred Hunter of the Berry O'Kelly High School. Miss Hunter is now at the Saint Augustine's College. Other scholarships were awarded to the Saint Agnes School of Nursing and Shaw University.

HOUSEWIFE WINS (CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1) home, or pay your rent to a person or firm, listed in the paper, you get credit for it. If your insureance premium is paid to an agent of one of the companies having an ad in the paper that week, it means that it should be so tabulated, or notice of payment so indicated, that it can be added to your total. If you make a down payment on a car from a dealer advertising in the CAROLINIAN, it will count, or even a down payment on a home will count. There are hundreds of families that spend huge amounts each month. The CAROLINIAN is doing two things. It is an effort to merchandise the products that the merchants offer each week in the columns and to also make people conscious of how they are spending their money.

The merchants who advertise in the CAROLINIAN certainly deserve your support, due to the fact that they are telling you what they have to offer and they are also telling you that they appreciate your business, by placing ads in your newspaper.

The average family income is often spent without too much attention being paid to what it is spent for. It stands to reason to believe that bulk buys for food shelter. All of this can very easily be spent with CAROLINIAN advertisers. Clothes take another large dip into the income. It does not matter whether it is for the baby, the teenager, mother or dad, CAROLINIAN advertisers are ready to serve you. So watch the CAROLINIAN and buy from merchants who advertise in your newspaper.

In an effort to make it possible for an average family to win, the management has restricted all purchases to actual household buys. Persons who are engaged in business and make food purchases, or any other purchase, for resale cannot include those purchases in their total.
