Kinston—The Zeta Omicron Omega Chapter of the Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority presented its second annual Fashionista, with the theme "Fashions Through The Ages" at the J. H. Sampson School, Monday, March 25 at 8 p. m. Welcome remarks by Soror Marilyn Cogdell and the beautiful blending of AKA sorors singing the sorority hymn began the presentation. Attired in lovely pink dresses, they sang with Soror Mable Lenhardt as soloist against a corresponding background scenery.

Miss Fashionista of 1957, Eva Atkinson and Miss Jr. Fashionista were brought in by orientals in the rhythmic beating of drums. The orientals were Adkin High School students Robert Hall, Isaac Gray, Theodore Bradshaw, Aaron Pigford, William Burnett, Bobby Rhodes, Jasper Davis and Samuel Jones.

The two honorees were presented and crowned by W. F. Grice, Jr. Junior and Senior attendants were: Joyce Boone, Marjorie Fuch, Descria McAllister, Mary Smith, Ruby Suggs, Paulette Brock, Laverta Henry, Renee Green and Michelle Giles.

Fashions from the Family Album of Historic Kinston were noted with interest as styles from the twenties which were actually worn by older female citizens were modeled.

Part one of unit three "The 1957 Look" brought on the small fry dressed for a Birthday Party and Sunday School. Their appearance though indescribably appealing was enhanced by the adults as they "strutted" and showed off their

The Senior Class of Adkin High School presented a special bill of 24 inch screen television set to the faculty members and the student body on a recent Friday.

Mistress of ceremonies for the impressive program was Jessie Sutton. The program began with the school song and scripture was read by Joyce Boone. "The Lord's Prayer" was sung by Daisy Warren and "The Lord is My Light and My Salvation" by Pearl Grimley. The unveiling was presided over by Roenell Bryant, Sherod Houze, Robert Moses and Bernard Durant after which the Senior class song was rendered.

The gift was presented by the class president, Principal C. B. Stewart, accepted the gift wholeheartedly on behalf of the student body. In conclusion the Alma Mater was sung. The class expressed its appreciation to its sponsors, Miss E. L. Powe, Mrs. M. B. Lenhardt and W. A. Lawson.

Messrs George B. Lane of Kinston, B. S. Rivers of New Bern and Roderick Phillips of Greenville National Negro Funeral Directors attended the board meeting of the Association which was held in Baltimore, Md. on a recent Sunday, Monday and Tuesday.

The Lenoir County Board of Public Welfare held its yearly administrative review at its March session in Supt. Joe McCauley's office on a recent Thurs. afternoon. It was noted that the agency had made "real progress" on most of its six goals for 1956-57 and a new program of four major goals were outlined for the ensuing year.

The new goals are as follows: 1. To seek certain revisions of the adoption forms used in child placement. 2. To develop a foster parents manual for use in child adoptions. 3. To make a detailed analysis of the aid to dependent children case load to ascertain if there are any which might be altered or reduced by greater efforts to obtain support of absent parents. 4. To develop a policy relative to so called emergency cases brought to the attention of the department to better inform the public and petitioning citizens what is required to legally aid persons in need and to encourage others to further cooperate with the board and staff in meeting those needs.

Among achievements in the past year were expansions in the boarding homes programs to better serve clients here at home, rather than having to send funds to other counties. The acquisition of new quarters recently vacated by the Health Department and which provides a more adequate space for departmental functions and records. The staff has continued a public information program to PTA civic and other groups to better inform them of the scope of welfare assistance and services McCauley emphasized. This program will be continued in the new year.

KINSTON — This week April, first through the seventh, is observed as "National Beauty Week." We are devoting this column to people the world over who help others maintain beauty.

Cosmetologists, beauticians, hair stylists - all are obsessed with one purpose - to make Mademoiselle beautiful. Coiffures now range from "The Empire," which emphasizes the "comma curl" to the "bouffant," which adds a new purified look to the old page boy favorite.

Responsible for keeping your hair in style and beautiful are the beauty operators across the nation who try to stay abreast of the latest trends.

A beauty shop can rejuvenate a woman physically and mentally. She is made beautiful and the cost to her is immaterial. Patrons place their hair to be curled, their hands to be manicured, and their faces to be renewed in the hands of trained cosmetologists.

The training they receive prior to becoming capable licensed operators begins, not with the actual waving and curling, but with the prospective operators' physical fitness. In keeping with her profession the cosmetologist should be a living example of health and be able to advise patrons on how to attain it by hygienic living.

Wholesome mental attitudes, careful grooming and correct posture are encouraged. She is urged to give careful attention to her skin, make up, nails and coiffure so that the patrons will be favorably impressed with the knowledge and ability of the operator.

Nutrition of the operator is essential as good health is dependent upon the food one eats and upon health habits which enable the tissues to make the best use of food. They realize carbohydrates, fats and foods rich in vitamins and minerals - being essential to a balanced diet.

Anatomy and physiology are discussed with the students and the scientific names of all the tissues are discussed and memorized.

Joints and bones are discussed and they learn that the skull is divided into two parts: the cranium, consisting of eight bones; and the skeleton of the face, consisting of fourteen bones.

Muscles of the scalp, eyelids, eyeballs, nose, mouth, mastication, neck, back, ear and chest are presented. All of this theory is of the greatest importance to the operator in order to know where to give the manipulations which will do the most good.

After the vascular, glandular, excretory, respiratory and digestive systems are familiarized, then the histology of the skin is divulged. It is discovered that skin comes in layers and the two main layers are the epidermis and dermis. Skin color depends partly upon the blood supply, but more upon the pigment or coloring matter deposited in the deepest layer of the epidermis and the superficial layer of the dermis.

Are you aware that hair comes in shapes and takes its shape, size and direction from the follicles? Round hair is straight, oval hair - wavy, and flat hair is curly or kinky. Your operator is aware of these facts and knows also that your hair grows about one half inch per month.

Given particular emphasis are diseases of the skin, scalp and hair and then electricity in connection with the appliances to be used in the salons are discussed.

With the basic knowledge for a successful beauty operator thoroughly studied, the actual treatments are taught and practiced. The procedure for administering facials on dry, aging and oily skin become familiar.

The magic effect of eyebrow pencil achieved at a salon is possible because the operator learns the correct shaping and placing of eyebrows for various face shapes. The student is drilled in the art of manicuring, hand and arm massage and pedicuring. The manicurist with a thorough knowledge of other treatments given in the salon is of great value as there is no better time for selling products than when working on a patron's nails. By the power of suggestion the manicurist has a splendid opportunity to see other treatments and products.

Scalp treatments for all types of hair, shampoo and rinses in order to keep the ANGLICAN CHURCH LEADERS who will take part in the 1957 Jamestown Festival are the Most Rev. Geoffrey Francis Fisher, Archbishop of Canterbury and Primate of All England, and the Rt. Rev. Henry Knox Sherrill, Presiding Bishop of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the U.S.A.

and they emerge efficient and competent. We salute them this week! They are capable of styling your hair to suit your moods, shaping your face to correspond with your personality and keeping your hands well groomed for gracious living.
