KINSTON — The Adkin High School Parent Teacher Association observed its sixteenth birthday, Sunday afternoon, April 14, 5 p.m. with a birthday game, "The Child—The Home—The School," a gift and refreshments. These activities followed the regular business session over which Pres. Frank Butler presided.

Participating in the interesting game were Mrs. J. J. Hannah and C. K. Harris as parent and teacher, respectively. Misses Dorothy Canady and Daphne Simmons portrayed "Child" in the role and Misses Virginia and Patricia Rhodes and Bertha Komesary played student roles. These participants led the audience in a discussion of problems encountered by the teacher, the parent, the home plays and the solution of these problems.

A group, directed by Mrs. Harris, sang "Somebody's Knocking at My Door." J. R. Banks, Adkin's Band Director, reported to the group that the band received a B-1 rating at the district festival in Rocky Mount and was eligible in attendance at the State Festival in Greensboro.

The twenty-sixth annual meeting of Crown and Scepter Clubs convened Saturday, April 13, at St. Augustine's College, Raleigh, N. C. Theme for the session was "Choice Making—A Challenge to Youth."

Highlighting the morning session was the address by Dr. W. R. Strasser, president of Shaw University. Between the morning and afternoon sessions, workshops and a talent program were held. The workshops held were Marriage and Family Life, Use of Leisure Time, A Philosophy of Life, Economic Activities, Educational and Vocational and Manners and Discipline.

Members of Adkin High School Crown and Scepter Club, who attended the meeting were Misses Jesse Sutton, Angela Moore, Eva Atkinson, Carolyn Alford, Carolyn Lyn Gray, Miriam McLeary and Bessie Foster. Also Dallas Thompson, George Dnuu and Marshall Teler, III. Miss V. T. Dunn, club advisor accompanied the group.

The Hi-Y and Tri Hi-Y Clubs of Adkin High School sponsored a helpful husband is a good thing to have at times, but not so good at other times. Like last night, when Bill insisted on doing the dishes. He wouldn't even let me clear the table—said he'd clean up while I relaxed.

It was a great idea last night. But this morning I discovered that Bill had put some uncovered green onions in the refrigerator.

Bill noticed at breakfast that the butter had a new and different flavor so I tried to explain about how certain foods, if left uncovered, transfer flavors and odors to other foods in the refrigerator.

"I get it," he said suddenly. "That's what the salesman was talking about when he showed me the RCA Whirlpool refrigerator-freezer yesterday. To combat the transfer of food odors and tastes, this unit has an exclusive air purifying system with an ultraviolet lamp to retard bacteria growth and a fan to circulate sanitized cold air around the foods."

I managed to ask, "Why this sudden interest in refrigerators?" Bill grinned sheepishly. "Ever since I helped you defrost and spilled water all over the floor, I've been looking at the new refrigerators with automatic defrost. We need something bigger anyway, and this one even has a separate freezer at the bottom."

Imagine Bill shopping for a new refrigerator during his lunch hour! I must say, though, his taste is excellent—whether he's considering refrigerators or butter...

Automation Comes To Baseball

Automation has entered the baseball picture now that the Kansas City Athletics are using a traffic radar set at spring training camp to check the speed of their pitchers. The portable Admiral Radarcope speed meter transmits a beam of light—150,000 miles per second—which is reflected simultaneously from the moving ball back to the unit. The highest speed of the ball is registered in a fraction of a second on a dial calibrated in miles per hour up to 100. A pitcher's throwing speed formerly was checked visually, a method described by Manager Lou Boudreau as "not very accurate." While speeds up to 70 miles an hour have been recorded it is still too early in the season for the hurlers to throw full steam.

Ham and Chicken Shortcake

Shortcake made with ground cooked ham is perfect to serve with creamed chicken.

Are you looking for something new in food—something acceptable to the family yet different enough to interest them? Here's a dish that caters to a popular taste in foods, yet avoids the stigma of "sameness."

Ham and Chicken Shortcake combines three popular foods in one good-tasting main dish. The shortcake is made from biscuit dough, with a cup of ground ham added to make a really distinctive bread. Over the shortcake goes a richly flavored sauce of creamed chicken.

The shortcake is easy to make when you use self-rising flour. This time-saving ingredient already contains salt and baking powder, so you don't have to measure those two items when you bake.

Breads, main dishes and desserts made with enriched self-rising flour add a nutrition bonus to your meals. Thiamine, niacin, riboflavin and food iron are added to flour in the enrichment process. And the leavening agent in self-rising flour contributes additional calcium. Use self-rising flour for convenience, and good nutrition.

MILK PRODUCERS FOR SCHWEITZER'S AFRICAN HOSPITAL

CINCINNATI—Much-delayed expedition to deliver a herd of dairy goats to Dr. Albert Schweitzer finally got underway here with the last financial obstacle of a 2-year program being removed. The public donated more than $2,000 for the venture and another $2,000 came from the World Services Committee of the Evangelical and Reformed Church at St. Louis. The truck was another donation by Studebaker-Packard.

Dairy cows do not survive in the dank climate at the Equator and the Schweitzer jungle hospital at Lambarene in French Equatorial Africa is entirely without milk-producing animals. These Nubians, being loaded above are of African origin and are expected to survive on the sparse fare available there.

Personal

Mrs. Rosetta Wright of Ino, Virginia is visiting in Kinston with her children and grandchildren. Rev. and Mrs. Joseph H. Banks, Michael Anthony and Yolanda Bissetta.

William Webb has returned here after spending two weeks in New York due to the illness of his aunt, Mrs. Lavenia S. Hall.

J. A. Harper, principal of Sampson School is home after being hospitalized recently at Duke Hospital.

James R. Banks, band director at Adkin High School, spent a recent weekend in Washington, D. C. with his wife.

Misses La Verla Henry, Marionette Tilley and Frances Nixon were present at an opera at the Pink High School, LaGrange a few days ago. The youngsters are students at the J. H. Sampson Elementary School here.

The Entire Nous club met with Mrs. Bruce Patterson at her home on Tower Hill Rd. earlier this month. Spring flowers were used in the dining room.

Mrs. James Cogdell, pres. presided over the business session. Mrs. Bruce Patterson, Jr. gave the final report for the club's 11th anniversary to be observed Sunday, April 14 with a special church worship followed by a dinner for members and their husbands. Mrs. Rufus Flanagan was scheduled to be dinner guest speaker.

Three progressions of pinocle were played. Highest scorer was Mrs. Tilley. Mrs. A. Hill won second place and consolation prizes were presented to Mrs. James Graham of Winton-Salem, former Kinston teacher and Miss Annette Johnson.

Refreshments were served. Club members present were Messdames W. A. Lawson, Joe Stanley, J. R. Henry Harvey Beech, Lenoris King, Dennis Tilley, Edgar Murphy, Dr. Alexander Hill and James Cogdell, Jr.

The Omicron Club members met Saturday, April 13 at the home of Miss Annette Smith on University Street. Games were played and first prize was a pink photograph album, second prize was a portfolio of pink and blue and a pink ball point pen and memo pad were given as third prize. A colorful serving enjoyed by club members and guest, Miss Hattie Gray was guest of the evening.

Mrs. Joseph Stanley entertained the Entire Nous Club members and invited guests at her home on North Adkin St. Saturday evening. Greenery and arrangements of cut yard flowers accented decoration with the Easter motif throughout in attractive residence. The dining table was centered with multi-colored Easter eggs on lace doilies with a green plant in each egg.

After a brief business session, presided over by the pres., Mrs. James Cogdell, three progressions of bridge were played. At the end of play, Mrs. Bruce Patterson, Jr. had compiled the highest score and Miss Elmo Shapman, second highest. Consolation prize went to Mrs. J. R. Henry. Guest prizes were awarded Messdames Noah Loftin and E. K. Best, Jr. and Miss Carrie Baker of Brooklyn, New York.

Refreshments were served buffet style. All members were present for the Saturday evening meeting.

Sunday afternoon the club members had dinner together. This dinner meeting was in observance of the social and civic club's 11th anniversary. Club members and guests were welcomed by the president, and short speeches were given by each member and guest of the club.

Of the eight charter members four are still residents of Kinston and Lenoir County. They are the public schools of Kinston and Lenoir County. They are Mrs. Sallie Cogdell Hill, Mrs. Ruby Loftin Henry and Mrs. Zella M. Patterson King.

Many telegrams and letters of congratulations were sent to the club on its anniversary.

Present were Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Beech, Mr. and Mrs. Elmo Chapman, Mr. and Mrs. James Cogdell, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Robert Crews, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Henry, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Patterson, Jr. Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Hill, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Murphy, Jr. and Messdames Dennis Tilley, Lenoris King and Joe Stanley.

Invited guest were Miss Victoria Black, Mr. Latham Whitfield and Mr. Wilfred Byrum.

National Bank Of Ghana Planned

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—It has been reliably learned that a national bank for Ghana in West Africa, already approved by the Legislative Assembly, will come into being shortly. The bill which created the bank also set up a new currency for Ghana.

The name of the central bank will be Bank of Ghana and one of the bank's chief functions will be to issue the national currency. The new unit of currency will be the Ghana pound and, under the bill adopted by the Legislative Assembly, its value has been established at par with sterling.

BACKED BY STERLING ASSETS

The Bank of Ghana will be required, on demand, to issue and to redeem its notes and coins against sterling. The new currency will be fully backed, mostly by sterling assets, but with provision for a limited fiduciary issue.

It is hoped in official Ghana circles that by these measures the value of the Ghana pound will be assured and that the currency will command confidence from the very start.

Another prime function of the Bank of Ghana will be to act as the main and ultimately the sole banker to the Government of Ghana. In this particular connection it has been empowered to make strictly limited and temporary advances to the Government to help smooth over the marked seasonal fluctuations in government revenue arising from the predominance of cocoa exports in the country's economy. The Bank may become banker to other banks and government institutions, but it will not compete for commercial business.

TSU Gridders Begin Training For 1957 Games

HOUSTON TEXAS — (AP) — A few bright spots have turned up in the second week of Texas Southern university spring training workout. The brightest spot is the big versatile TSU line with three candidates in dog fights for every position.

Cloid Bayette, the big 225-pound Orange tackle, has caused most comment. Bayette, in two weeks time, has moved from fourth string tackle to the number one team. His rapid rise has pushed aside such well known names as Chester Roy, 204-pound senior and James Sorey, 240-pounder.

Kelly's repeated long runs, the return of William Guiley, 1955, fullback stand-out, and improvement of Eddie Caldwell, 195-pond junior who showed great promise as a freshman but faded last year as a sophomore, and the power punning of Hosea Jackson are other bright spots.

OTHER BANKS MUST COOPERATE

It is rather important to note that the Bank of Ghana "will be empowered to require that other banks operating in the country should maintain at all times a minimum holding of liquid assets, to be expressed as a percentage of the other banks' deposit liabilities."

The Bank of the Gold Coast which had acted as one of the Government's bankers — in addition to financing African traders — was reorganized by separate legislation and in the future, under the name of the Ghana Commercial Bank, will confine its operations to commercial business.

'Tidbits By Beth'

By Y. Elizabeth Dunn

KINSTON — Have you ever seen anything or anyone as cute as a lot, say three-years-old? We are blessed with two, a niece and nephew of that age - and there's never a dull moment when they are around. They are surrounded by a host of aunts but only one grandmother here. This fact confuses our nephew who often refers to "mother."

You couldn't have heard this one, but it actually happened a twelve-year-old girl, new at preparing food was bubbling over with excitement as she prepared tuna fish salad. All of the ingredients were mixed except the eggs. She marched in all confident to ask or should I quote her and say, "to make sure" that the eggs are put in raw. (Sorry, Joyce but I couldn't resist telling this one).

Signs of Spring, around here, the Wisteria hanging from the trees remind one of a luscious bunch of grapes. The tulips, pansies, thirt and the ever popular dogwood trees are beautiful signs of nature's power. Every Spring the flowers seem more beautiful than ever. We remember one other year when the flowers and shrubs were so breathtakingly beautiful and a cold snap came and you know the outcome. We are praying for no "repeat performance."

Most of the sixth and seventh graders here wore "hoses" at Easter time this year. Is it state-wide or do our children mature faster around K-town? We fail to decipher their eagerness to wear hose when they have such a terrific time keeping them from falling down around their ankles.

Signs of School Closing. Hams outstretched to the "money train" recently. Moms and Pops, that is - for cap and gown rental fees, invitations, prom gowns and white coats. County schools here have less than twenty days to go - they close May 17.

This year, called "Resurgence" by Laura Lee Randall has only four lines but we like them and, think you will too.

Out of the earth, the rose. Out of the night, the dawn. Out of my heart with all its woes, High courage to press on.
