Atlanta Youths Held In Charlotte

CHARLOTTE — City police searched two busloads of teenagers from Atlanta, Ga. in Charlotte Sunday after the youngsters, returning from a trip to Washington, D. C. were reported to have taken merchandise from a soda shop here.

Officers said the proprietor of the Hotel Charlotte Shoppe reported about $50 worth of merchandise missing after the teenagers visited his place of business. The only things discovered were a compact and two classes.

Professionals Give Details Of Their Jobs

The last in a series of vocational guidance clinics for teen-agers of Raleigh was held at the Chavis Heights Community Center on Tuesday evening, May 7, under the auspices of the Alpha Theta Omega Chapter of Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority. The activities proved to be quite enjoyable for the 125 young people in attendance.

Mrs. Jocelyn E. Boulware, a member of the chapter and music instructor in the city school system, gave many of the guests an opportunity to participate as she read a story of music and they carried it out in pantomime. As the guests entered, some were given either a placard with a name or a toy instrument and told to keep them until further notice. At the beginning of the story, each was told to play the instrument as the name was called or to go to that part of the room indicated for those hearing the name placards.

As the story progressed, the guests shared in the fun as the characters met and were married, had lots of children who moved to various parts of the world and invented instruments common to their locales. The story of music could not have been told in a more practical manner and the guests enjoyed it more because of their participation.

Not only were they entertained in this way, but also by the Ligon Swing Band which made its debut, under the direction of Mr. J. Edwards, by playing Canadian Sunset. All present expressed a desire to hear more of the group at future times.

The Vocational Guidance Clinics

have been an outgrowth of the local chapter's annual event. The Debutante Ball. It was felt by the chairman, Mrs. Susie V. Perry, that these young people should have more activities after the Ball and this idea evolved. Throughout the year the activities have been varied and included a Charm Clinic during which Mrs. Eula M. Holden, local cosmetologist, and Mrs. Orelia Byrd of the Bridal Salon of Mother and Daughter Stores served as consultants. For the dismisses have been Sorors Frances H. Cutchin, Jeannette E. Hloks, Phyllis R. Mann, Joyce C. McLendon, Virginia K. Newell, Ruth Pope and Martha W. Wheeler. Discussion of Teen-Age Problems, Mrs. Sarah B. Brower, counselor, domestic Relations Court, Mrs. Neal Paris, executive secretary of the local Family Service Society, and Mrs. Marjorie B. Debnam, of the local county department of public welfare were the panelists.

Following each of the clinics, the Social Committee, under the direction of Mrs. Fannie V. Latham, has sponsored a social hour. Sorors Marjorie B. Debnam, Minetta
