ROXBORO — Mr. Lambeth Brooks, who has been in Uncle Sam's Army for the past three years is home visiting relatives and friends.

Miss Mozelle Wagstaff of Hill St. is at present the top salesgirl for the Carolinian in Roxboro. Misses: Jeanette Graves, Cleo Jones, Hazel Allen, Fairy Day, Catherine Johnson, Viola Brown and Blended Clayton are rated high by the Carolinian as salesgirls.

The Indianapolis Clowns and the New York Black Yankees will play their opening game in South Boston Thursday night, May 23rd at 8 P. M.

OAK LANE ELEMENTARY SCHOOL

ROXBORO — Thursday night, May 20th, at 8 P. M. the eighth grade will have its first graduation. 35 prospective candidates are in line to receive their certificates. All parents and friends are invited.

It is felt by officials and parents of the school that Principal W. M. Jones and his faculty have done a creditable job the first year in the consolidated school at Oak Lane.

Oak Lane girls' softball team was named champions of Person County. The boys' team won second place. Six games were played by both boys and girls with each team winning 4 and losing 2 with a percentage of .500. Not bad for a first year team. Now, that the schedule of games are all played the 5th, 6th and 7th grade are engaged in a strong daily intramural contest, trying to qualify for placements of 14 seniors being lost by the team this year.

Instructor, H. B. Seets states that it is his belief that the teams will be much improved another year because of the increased interest and competition involved.

The first May Day was held Thursday, May 2nd, on the school's lawn.

The theme of the occasion was "Spring's Awakening."

Over one hundred persons took part in this play including children from all departments.

The morning was climaxed with a "Round Dash" by the girls with Joie Shaw as the winner. A 100 yard dash was won by Willie Victory Paylor in the softball game the sons defeated the dads, 19-18 and the daughters out scored the mothers 17-5. A large crowd was present.

PERSON COUNTY MOTHER OF THE YEAR

Mrs. Ruby Rogers, winner of the Mother of the Year contest, sponsored by the Person County High and Roxboro Elementary Schools P. T. A., received special recognition recently in a program dedicated to the mothers participating in the contest.

Mrs. Rogers was sponsored by Mr. Johnnie Terrell and supported by the Old Mt. Zion Baptist Church and friends. A beautiful silver plated engraved disc with matching chain was presented to Mrs.

Rogers as a result of her efforts. Participating in the program were the choirs and dance groups from each school. Mr. Edward Bowman a 1936 graduate of P. C. H. S. appeared as guest soloist. He sang "The Lord's Prayer" and "Mother's Prayer." The Roxboro Elementary School banding and junior bands serenaded one half hour prior to the program.

Each contestant received a corsage as a token of appreciation for her unselfish cooperation and contribution to the contest which the group considered a great success. These beautiful corsages made up by the Roxboro Florist were designed for Mother's Day also as red corsages were presented the mothers with living mothers and white to those whose mothers were deceased.

We wish to thank each church for the support it gave its representing mother as well as each sponsor for his support. Special thanks also go to The Roxboro Florist, Elam Studio, Green's Jewellers and the Home Economics Department for their cooperation. After the program refreshments were served to everybody.

Historic Moment at Jamestown Relived in Painting by W. R. Leigh

"Pocahontas," the Rescue of Captain John Smith. JAMESTOWN and the crowds of tourists that the Festival celebration of its 350th anniversary is bringing to that area will recall with greater significance than ever previously the dramatic part Pocahontas, the beautiful Indian girl, played in the establishment of this first English settlement in America. Added to this romantic situation is the fact that the late William Robinson Leigh, N. A., founder with his wife of the Trapagen School of Fashion in New York, who re-created the famous scene of Pocahontas and Captain John Smith pictured above, was a direct descendant of this truly American heroine. This picture is now the property of the Woclarie Museum in Bartlesville, Oklahoma, founded by the oil magnate and art patron Frank Phillips and left by him to the State of Oklahoma. Whether you go to Jamestown or not, it is indeed worthy of a patriotic pilgrimage to see W. R. Leigh's conception of Pocahontas. Other Indian and Western paintings by Leigh are on exhibition at Grand Central Art Galleries, New York, N. Y., of which he was a member.

Home Demonstration Body Stages A & T College Meet

GREENSBORO — Members of the Western District Council of Negro Home Demonstration Clubs attending the annual meeting here at A & T College last Friday (May 31) heard about home and family living in foreign lands.

The speaker was Miss Georgia E. Poinsett, home demonstration agent for Rowan County, who last year served as lecturer in Home Management and Education at Queen Aler Woman's College, Baghdad, Iraq. She served on the assignment under the Fulbright Plan, a second trip she had made to Europe since 1950 when she first visited several European countries on a special educational trek.

Miss Poinsett told the farm women that substantial social change is taking place in the Middle East. She related that these countries, through the aid of the United States and other foreign countries, had now embarked on a broad program of assistance for widows, aged and the infirm, a gigantic program for health improvement and are bringing in many well-trained foreigners to assist in a five-year plan for the social and economic development of its people.

"A new national program is now replacing old tribal practices," she said, "and Americans can benefit by learning of these new and ambitious undertakings."

She concluded her lecture with films which depicted rural and urban life in the nation of Iraq.

The group of nearly 50 farm women was welcomed to the campus by Dr. Wainwright T. Gibbs, president of the college. It was stated that the delegates came from the 19 counties in Piedmont North Carolina, comprising the Western District Council.

Mrs. Mamie S. Williams, Randolph County is president of the group.

Egg sales in North Carolina in 1955 topped sales in all other Southern states. Also, North Carolinians have increased egg sales faster since 1940 than either the Southeastern area or the United States.

North Carolina is now selling approximately one-half of its annual broiler output outside the state.

WASHINGTON AND SMALL BUSINESS

By C. WILSON HARDER

It appears investigation of labor affairs by Senate committee headed by Sen. John McClellan (Ark.) will not stop with sorry situation in Teamster's Union.

Neither are these probes expected to end in so-called "union busting," largely because Big Business breeds labor organizations to deal with the management of huge corporations which otherwise in madness for power might run amuck.

But shocking, C. W. Harner as many of the disclosures are, they come as no surprise to nation's independent businessmen.

On several occasions, nation's businessmen, voting through the National Federation of Independent Business, have urged unions be made liable to nation's anti-trust laws. So far no action has ever been taken.

Yet some of worst abuses coming to light stem directly from fact unions have been permitted to roam at will through economic structure with no checks on irresponsibility of a few leaders.

Thus, conspiracies have been entered into between unprincipled leaders and their counterparts in some aggressive firms whereby they have jointly stacked the cards against competition.

Occasionally, such as the machinations of James Hoff as reported in this column months ago, independent competition has been forced out to permit firms formed by labor leader associates to have a free hand.

These conspiracies have usually not been known to, or condoned by, either dues paying rank and file members, or responsible labor leaders. In great majority, © National Federation of Independent Business

American labor, as all other citizens, believe in fair play.

But naked power has been there for anyone to abuse.

And that power has been the freedom of labor leaders, if they so desire, to ignore the laws which govern the rest of the nation and engage in conspiracies for restraint of trade, price fixing, and similar other unwholesome practices. It is a tribute to majority of labor leaders this power has not been used even more.

But to many observers of the current economic scene, there is grave doubt there could have occurred such great concentrations in the hands of so few in such industries as baking, dairy, and brewing, for example, without active conspiratorial agreements entered into with the unscrupulous elements in labor.

Obviously, no higher degree of scruples has prevailed on the other side of the desk, either.

When anti-trust laws are enforced, independent businesses by better management, employing advantages inherent in personal ownership, can compete successfully against big corporations.

But when opposition is allied with labor leaders willing to take advantage of their immunity from anti-trust laws, survival is well high impossible.

But paradoxically, if some labor leaders are jailed as result of current probes, it will not be on the grounds they have engaged in jungle economic warfare. Rather, they will run afoul of income tax laws. This reliance on income tax laws to punish economic malfeasance is not only wrong in principle, but places an unfair burden on the Internal Revenue service. Thus, as nation's independent businessmen know, if labor organizations had been placed under anti-trust laws, such scandals as now rock nation would not have been possible.

Free Country Music Hits Like A Million

Carl Smith Goldie Hill Red Sovine

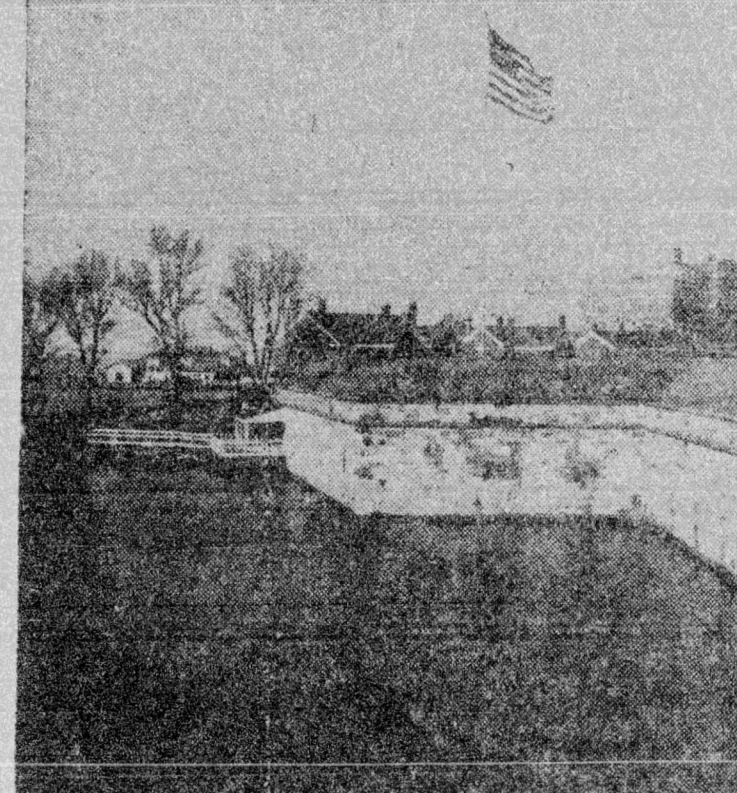

By Wilma Dobie

ONE OF THE MOST talked about shows in the country today is a lively, all-star country music show that plays nightly to audiences everywhere — in villages, towns and key cities in the U. S. Unlike most hit shows, there's never a ticket problem, seats are always on a first come, first served basis.

What makes for a show's success is always open to a free-for-all discussion. While talent is all important it isn't necessarily the dominating factor. In this instance, Jim Denny of Nashville, a 28-year-veteran of country music, has assembled a versatile and talented troupe of stars from radio, recordings, the stage and films — Carl Smith, Goldie Hill, Red Sovine, Ronnie "Rock 'n Roll" Self, Mimi Roman, the Tune Smiths, M.C. Eif Collier and a host of others — to round out a solid bill of country music fare.

It all began on a wintry January 5 day at the Mosque Theatre — the nation's fifth largest — in Richmond, Va. where the touring, free "Philip Morris Country Music Show" had its start. When the curtain came down on the Show's first performance, it closed on a capacity audience of five thousand while an overflow crowd of four thousand waited outside until an unscheduled second performance was given.

Since then the Country Music Show has enjoyed this same phenomenal success everywhere it has played — Virginia, West Virginia, Kentucky, Tennessee, Mississippi, Alabama, Arkansas, Louisiana, and more recently Texas and North Carolina. In addition to its free shows for the general public, the troupe has entertained generously at military bases, veterans and children's hospitals. Every Friday, wherever the entertainers are appearing, they broadcast their popular weekly Mutual network radio program, "The Philip Morris Country Music Show."

OLD GLORY, OLD FORT—Old Point Comfort, where the Jamestown settlers first landed 350 years ago, is the site of Fort Monroe, home of the Continental Army Command. The granite walls and water-filled moat of the Old Fort, itself one of several successors to the original primitive fortification, still stand.
