SUCCESSFUL EVACUATION of a large city would leave the downtown area a ghost town, as in this view of Portland, Ore., taken during Operation Greenlight—the largest civil defense evacuation exercise to date. The vast Interstate Highway System under construction would not only facilitate evacuation of large cities, but also would provide roads needed to supply the huge evacuee camps in outlying areas. Judge May Sever John Kasper's, Others Trial

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. — Federal Judge Robert L. Taylor said Tuesday he may rule Monday on a motion to sever the trials of segregationist John Kasper and 16 other defendants charged with fomenting racial strife at Clinton, Tennessee.

They are accused of conspiring to prevent Negroes from attending the Clinton High School in violation of Taylor's injunction after the school was integrated last fall on orders of his court.

Attorneys for the 18 defendants, all Clinton residents, said "their rights would be highly prejudiced" if they were forced to be tried with Kasper.

Kasper, a New Jersey native, already has been sentenced to a year in Federal prison for his part in stirring up near riots at Clinton.

No dates have been set for trying any of the 17 cases.

Small Business Health Vital To U.S.

The health of the four million small business concerns in this country is vital to the U.S. economy. But small business is ailing today and the illness can be fatal unless checked in time.

These are study findings reported by Dr. John W. Dargavel, chairman of the Bureau of Education on Fair Trade and executive secretary of the National Association of Retail Druggists.

Small business adds up to 95 per cent of all concerns operating in the U.S. today, he says. The small businessman provides the bread and butter for one out of every three people in America.

"If small business is permitted to wither away, the livelihoods of millions of Americans will wither too," he points out.

Crisis for Small Business

There are dangerous signs of withering right now. Despite prosperity, small business failures totaled 42,836, a 16% increase over 1955 and a post-World War II high. And 1957 has already chalked up more failures among small businessmen than in any year since 1939. By 1958, 13,000 small enterprises will be wiped out unless the present decline is halted. These failures are concentrated in retailing, small manufacturing and home building. Another grim note is a 35% decrease since 1955 in the number of new businesses opening each year.

What causes this crisis? Dr. Dargavel cites the diagnosis of the U.S. Senate Small Business Committee: the high cost of in-

Dr. Myron Wicke Closes Vespers At Greensboro

GREENSBORO — The assumption of leadership on a college campus is two things — danger and opportunity. Dr. Myron F. Wicke, of Nashville, Tenn., told student leaders at the closing vesper service at Bennett College Sunday afternoon in Pfeiffer Chapel.

Taking as his subject, "Choose Something Like a Star," the title of a Robert Frost poem, Dr. Wicke, a representative of the Board of Education of the Methodist Church, pointed to the rapid advances in science, the great increase in world populations and the rise of nationalism in the world, and said:

"Many people wonder whether an individual in a world like this has any status. They ask themselves, 'Is it true that each one counts?'"

Answering these persons, Dr. Wicke said that the individual counts if he is able to make three distinctions. He must be able to distinguish between the material and the spiritual, between the good of one and the good of all and between human beings and God.
