

ROXBORO-REIDSVILLE

ROXBORO—Take it or leave it "Blue Monday" is a tough day to stomach whenever it rolls your way. It was "Blue Monday" this week in Roxboro for everybody. The deaths of love ones, friends and near fatal accidents of friends, relatives and neighbors created too great a load to be passed unnoted by the most unsympathetic and calloused souls within the environs of the county. It was "Blue Monday" that mounted to the strained hearts of the citizenry of Roxboro when news reached town that Peter Johnson had suffered the misfortune of being crushed severely by an overturned tractor. Although he was rushed to the Veterans Hospital in Durham and hearts and hands were pondered over his critical condition.

The death of Mrs. Fannie Bell Smith came like a bad early morning dream that is hard to piece together after rising for the day. A pleasant personality had passed suddenly and the news was too shocking to accept without question. Her husband, Mr. James Smith and six children are the surviving ones of her immediate family. She also leaves sisters, brothers, relatives and friends to mourn her loss.

Little 13-year-old Johnny Poole drowned Sunday evening while swimming with four other companions in Newell pond on Seneca Road. Johnny lived with his grandmother, Mrs. Maggie Bumpass on First St. His mother, Mrs. Wilhelmina Satterfield, lives in Danville, Va.

Mrs. Mattie Lyons, 91, died at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Dixon in the Jones Chapel Community Saturday evening at 5 p.m. Funeral services were conducted from the Jones Chapel Baptist Church at 2 p.m. Tuesday with the Rev. U. B. Booker officiating.

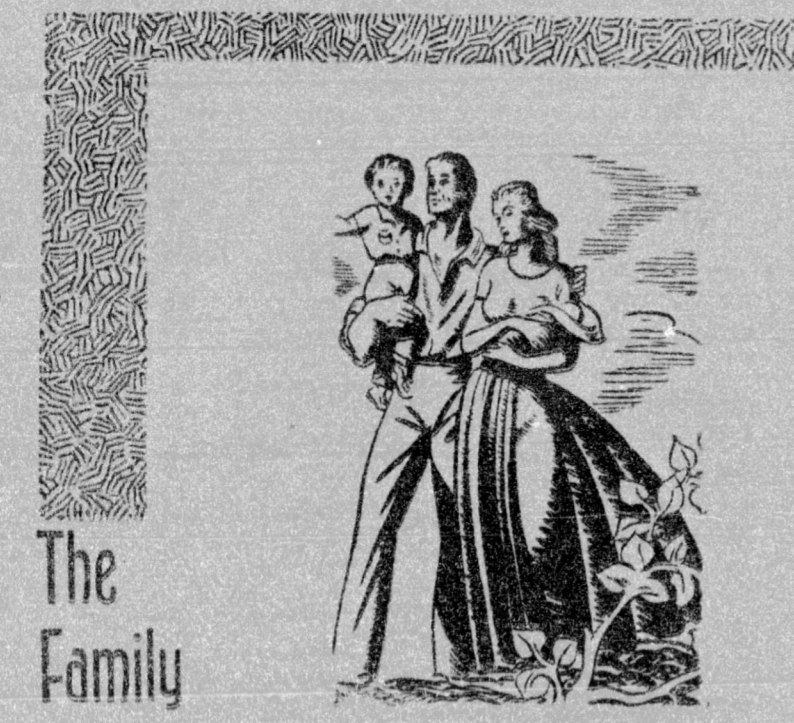

Monday was a day of sorrow and grief and no person was free from the mournful moments that accompanied the passing of friends, relatives and neighbors. Monday was "Blue Monday." Take it or leave it.

Clowns and New York Black Yankees

The Indianapolis Clowns and the New York Black Yankees will play in South Boston, Va. Thursday night, June 6. These worldwide famous teams are on their season's tour around the nation and South Boston is one of the lucky towns to get a play "King Tut" and Spec Behm. "Prince Joe Henry" and Clown Ed Hamon will entertain the fans with their antics.

Highlights Of Activities At Person County High School

ROXBORO—During the school year of 1956 and 1957 the various clubs, groups and departments participated effectively in the life of the school.

The choir consisting of about fifty members, under the able leadership of Miss Georgia McCoy, took an active part in such community interests as the Interdenominational Musical Festival and the finals of the Person County Rural Progress Program. The choir rendered two or more public musical concerts at the school. Recently the choir toured sections of this state rendering concerts at Chapel Hill, Yanceyville, Winston-Salem, and Joe Toler School of Granville County. Miss McCoy gave her service as director of the choir of Shady Hill, a local church.

The band of about forty members, under the progressive leadership of Mr. Alexander, rendered public concerts at the school, participated in the finals of the Person County Rural Progress Program and in the annual homecoming program of Person County High School. The band toured sections of the state and rendered concerts at Yanceyville, Henderson, Wake Forest, Hillsboro, and Joe Toler High School of Granville County.

The North Piedmont Bus Drivers' Guild, consisting of fifty or more bus drivers from Caswell, Person, and Granville counties, under the leadership of Mr. S. N. Knight, rendered two public programs, one in October and the other in February at Caswell Training School. The club featured Patrolman Cliff Palmer and Patrolman Gifford as keynote speakers, respectively. The aim of the guild is to promote safe school bus transportation, to encourage desirable attitudes, to provide diversions, and to give status to public school bus drivers.

The Girl Scouts, Lone Troop, under the leadership of Miss L. A. Perry provided baskets for the aged, sick and shut-in persons last Thanksgiving. Recently, Miss Perry and the scouts took a trip to Winston-Salem. On the return trip they stopped and toured A&T College, Greensboro.

The Dramatic Club, under the leadership of Mrs. Virgie B. Philfer, did not participate in the District and State Dramatic Contests this term. The club presented several original dramas for the benefit of the pupils and teachers during the school term. The club presented also one of its original dramas to the students of Caswell County Training School, Yanceyville, N. C.

The Professional Committee, composed of departmental heads with Mrs. H. F. Satterfield, dean, acting as chairman, conducted monthly clinical studies of Better Correlation of Secondary School Subjects, with the basic aim of promoting reading skills, study habits, and logical thinking.

The Journal Club, under the supervision of Mrs. Ruby Hester took the Panther, the school paper, as a project. During the month of April the club made an educational tour to places of interest in Durham, N. C. Several members of the club and faculty advisors attended the Forensic Clinic conducted at North Carolina College at Durham.

The Committee on Entertainments headed by Miss Georgia McCoy made the usual schedule for the annual Freshman Hop, the Sophomore Ball, and the Junior-Senior Prom. In addition weekly chapel programs were scheduled and assigned. The teachers took turns to make simple information and inspirational talks to pupils on such topics as "Activating a Devotion to High Civic, Ethical and Moral Ideals," "Using the Library as an Aid to Mental Growth," "Pupils' Role in a Better School-Community Relation Program." The committee brought such well known speakers and entertaining groups to the campus as Mr. Jones, Principal, Roxboro High School; Sergeant Fry, Rev. H. A. Smith, Dr. Albert Turner, Mr. Louis Austin, Caswell County Training Band and Choir.

The Student Council, under the direct supervision of Mrs. H. F. Satterfield as chairman, Mrs. S. N. Knight as co-chairman, sponsored a "Get Acquainted Social" for new students and presented student handbooks to seniors and freshmen. The council sent eleven delegates to the state meeting in Raleigh. It is now editing a 1957-58 handbook for students.

The Forensic Club, with Mrs. H. F. Satterfield as chairman, sponsored one public program as preparatory step to participation in a speaking contest next spring.

The National Honor Society of sixteen regular members and eight probationary, under the leadership of Mrs. E. M. Harper has been very appreciatively effective in efforts to promote desirable attitudes, school citizenship and a scholastic climate on the campus. This year the society is giving a scholarship to one of its deserving members on the condition that the candidate enrolls in some standard college to pursue a four-year course of study.

The Panther Club of which Mr. Deumwright is president and Mr. Wm. Tuck is secretary, voted to sponsor baseball this term. The club contributed two hundred dollars ($200.00) to the financial support of the athletic teams and officials of the various clubs and organizations of the school with a banquet. During the banquet, the officials gave high lights of the activities of their respective organizations. The basketball team ended the season with fifteen games won and five lost. Brady Johnson, who for two consecutive years set a new record for Person County High School with 38 and 42 scores respectively, Johnson received the recognition of being the "Player of the Year."

The Commercial Club members contribute annually to the "Award Funds" to be used to encourage outstanding accomplishments and excellence in the area of commerce.

The person County High School and Roxboro Elementary Parents and Teachers' Association of which Mr. Houston Partilo is president contributed two hundred dollars ($200.00) to each of the schools. The high school used gratefully the money for athletics and the elementary school for audio visual aids equipment. Mrs. Catherine Lawson, Mrs. Ruth Tillman, and Mr. Collie Allen deserve words of gratitude and commendations for recent growth in interest in and increased support of the schools by parents and patrons.

On May 30, 1957, diplomas were awarded to eighty-nine (89) students. Miss Julia Oliver, Miss Doris Brooks, Miss Leslie Pulliam, Miss Nora Lansford, Miss Doris Villines, Mr. Philip Johnson, Mr. Frank Bradsher, Miss Leola Williams, Miss Katie Rogers, Miss Eva Johnson, Miss Arlean Robertson, Sylvia Outlaw, Mr. Alexander Branson, Miss Blorencia Bass and Mr. Brady Johnson were among those awarded for outstanding accomplishments. Rev. H. A. Smith delivered the graduation sermon and Dr. Albert Turner, the educational address.

The physical facilities of Person County High School are augmented by six modern classrooms and a large gymnasium.

A-C ROY BROWN, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Border Brown of Person County is stationed at Seymour Johnson Air Base in Goldsboro. Mr. Brown was home over the weekend visiting his parents and his lovely girl friend, Miss Jeanette Graves.

MISS CLEO JONES is the popular and charming daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jones of Ivey Street. Miss Jones is active in civic and social circles of the younger set. Her dynamic personality and winsome smile are assets to success as a popular CAROLINIAN saleswoman.

MISS JOYCE ANN FEATHERSTONE, a graduate of Person County High School completed all requirements and graduated recently from the Duke University School of Practical Nursing. Miss Featherstone is the daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Featherstone of South Main Street in Roxboro.

The ninth grade English classes of the Washington School have just completed the prescribed units for the year. The classes used as the basic texts Enjoying English

The popular wall pulley lamp gave my sister an idea that looks like a stroke of genius. She utilized the pulley device in a place of lamps and ivy planters permitting her to raise or lower the plants to any desired height. One planter she hung over the table creating an above-the-table centerpiece, and it's most attractive!

Girl Scout Camp Opens Wednesday

The Girl Scout Camp Committee met Sunday June 2, 1957 with Miss Burma Raines, District Director to make final plans for camp. Members present were Mrs. Laura Wimberley, Mrs. Anne Robinson, and Miss Dorothy Lane. It wasn't possible for Mrs. Lillie Taylor and Miss Mae Ligon to be present.

Camp opens June 12th and closes June 22nd. The staff will be composed of the following people: Miss Burma Raines, Camp Director, Miss Margaret Parker, Nurse; Miss Naomi Leak, Cook; Mrs. Josephine Sanders, dietitian; Miss Majorie Adams, Program Consultant; Miss Elsie Howell, Program Consultant; Mrs. Doris McAdams, Program Consultant, and Mr. Daniel Howard, waterfront instructor.

For those who have lived it, camping conjures up many vivid impressions and memories. They have experienced the mysteries of nature, the excitement of adventure, the freedom to create, to relax, to choose and to explore, the making of new friends and the strengthening of old ones—the closeness to God.

Dr. C. B. Middleton, camp physician, 17 Tarboro Road, will give free health examinations to all campers Friday morning, June 7th, from 10:00 to 12:00.

MULLING WITH MULLER
By Edna M. Muller

Too few of us realize, sometimes, how much the often maligned trucking industry does for our general good and economic welfare. Just how much public service they render is probably best exemplified in the following little poem that appeared in a GMC truck advertisement paying tribute to the American Trucking Association:

This is the house that trucks built... At first, it was only a hole in the ground—A dump truck went off with the dirt in a hole... Here's the foundation, with strength and in its space... A transit-mix truck brought the wet concrete there... The furniture, carpets, the home accents galore... Were it not for this man, would he still be in the street?... The food on the table, Dad's suit, Mother's dress... All made their appearance by motor express. There's always hot water for son and for wife... A tank-truck delivers the fuel for the fire. The garden is pretty. Its shrubs and its trees... Weeds brought in a peck-up—there's waste use for these... And daily, though weather is wet—or it's shivery... The family milk's brought there by peddler delivery... While via the school bus, kids seek education... Dad's reach, in a transit bus, business locations... So just look around you and think of your truck... How much of your living you owe to the TRUCK!

Miss Geraldine Harris, Bride-Elect, Feted At Shower; To Wed June 15

Mrs. Mary M. Allen and Mrs. Rebecca Cooke were hostesses at a linen shower given for Geraldine Harris, bride-elect, last Tuesday evening. The Mary Talbot Home, 317 East Davie Street, was the scene of the shower.

Miss Harris will marry Lieutenant Frederick D. Burroughs on June 15 at the Saint Paul A.M.E. Church.

White flowers decorated the home and a punch bowl surrounded by white flowers centered the serving table.

"Veep" Richard Nixon, Wife Head List Of Notables At Press Awards Dinner

WASHINGTON (AP)—The "greatest mistake" Western nations can make is "to fail to recognize the equality and dignity" of the peoples of Asia and Africa. This was the observation made by Vice President Richard Nixon in remarks before the Capital Press Club dinner at the Willard Hotel Saturday night.

The Vice President was one of the honored guests at the Fourteenth Annual CPC dinner, which was addressed by Congressman Francis P. Bolton of Ohio.

Receiving it for the Rev. King was Eugene Davidson, president of the D. C. Branch of NAACP.

Mrs. Bolton, who was an official Government Representative accompanying the Vice President and Mrs. Nixon to Ghana during its freedom day celebration, pointed out that America recognizes the strength and possibilities of the future of Africa.

The Ohio Representative received a Press Club award for her work in the fields of health, education and social service.

Miss Rogers' education reporter Times Herald, was honored for her "objective and comprehensive reporting in the field of public education which helped to create a climate which facilitated the transition of the District public school from a dual to a single system." This award was presented by Mrs. Alice A. Dunnington of the Associated Negro Press.
