Cooperation Agreement With Ghana Is Signed By The U. S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States has signed a technical cooperation agreement with Ghana, the former British African territory on the Gold Coast which became independent last March.

The agreement provides a framework for United States technical assistance in the field of agriculture, technical education and community development.

The agreement was signed last week at Accra, capital of Ghana, by Prime Minister Kwame Nkrumah and the United States Charge d'Affaires Peter Butler.

The liaison officer for the International Cooperation Administration will leave shortly for Accra to provide a local point of contact for discussions of the type of technical cooperation projects which the Government of Ghana may request.

One of the first technical cooperation projects under the new agreement will provide a 200-volume technical library previously announced by Vice President Richard M. Nixon at Ghana's independence day ceremonies as an independence gift from the United States.

The library is expected to be attached to the Kumasi Technical Institute at Kumasi, but will be maintained as a separate collection. The books will be selected principally in the fields of agriculture and vocational education, including technical engineering.

Va. State Again Chosen As Testing Center For Teachers

PETERSBURG, Va. — Virginia State College has again been designated as a testing center for the 1957 nation-wide administration of the National Teacher Examinations, it was announced recently by Dr. P. C. Johnson, director of testing at the College. The examinations will be administered on Saturday, July 27, at 8:00 a.m.

College seniors preparing to teach and teachers applying for positions in school systems which encourage or require applicants to submit their scores on the National Teacher Examinations along with their other credentials are eligible to take the tests. The examinations are prepared and administered annually by Educational Testing Service, Princeton, New Jersey.

The designation of Virginia State College as a testing center for these examinations will give prospective teachers in this area an opportunity to compare their performance on the examinations with approximately 10,000 candidates throughout the country. Dr. Johnson said, at the one-day testing station a candidate may take the Composite Examinations which includes tests in Professional Information, General Culture, English Expression, and Non-Verbal Reasoning. In addition, each candidate may take one or two of the eleven Optional Examinations which are designed to demonstrate mastery of subject matter in the fields in which he may be assigned to teach.

Applications for the examinations and a Bulletin of Information describing registration procedures and containing sample test questions may be obtained from Dr. P. C. Johnson, Virginia State College, Petersburg, Va., or directly from the National Teacher Examinations, Educational Testing Service, 20 Nassau Street, Princeton, N. J. Prospective teachers planning to take the test should secure an Application Blank and a Bulletin of Information promptly. Dr. Johnson advised.

All applications must be made by July 6, 1957.

Moore received awards from the above publishers in the fields of Negotiable Instruments, Sales, and Corporations. He was the highest ranking student in these fields.

Wednesday is important at this time of year and may mean the difference between saving and losing that valuable shrubbery.

Georgia Gubernatorial Prospect Vows He Will Retain Segregation

SAVANNAH, Ga. (AP) — Loud and vehement exhortations came from the mouth of the lieutenant Governor of this state last week as he addressed a convention of the County Officers' Association of Georgia here and vowed all-out war against integration anywhere in the state.

The speaker was Lt. Gov. S. Ernest Vandiver, who is expected to toss his hat in the next gubernatorial race in Georgia.

Vandiver emphasized so long as I remain in public life, I intend to work for the preservation of the segregation of whites and Negroes and the county unit system of voting.

The pro-segregationist politician attacked the U. S. Supreme Court's public school desegregation decree as a "political" decision, assailed civil rights legislation as an "ugly sore that can't be cured by the use of force," and spelt anti integration venom at just about every thing opposed to segregation.

He declared, "you can't change the way of life ingrained into the hearts of people for 800 years by passing a law."

Brutal Test For Outboards

When a boat slams over a rocky reef at 35 miles per hour, this photograph taken at 1/1000th of a second shows what happens. The prop keeps churning, and bits of rock fly everywhere. Strangely enough, this brutal treatment is part of a routine test conducted by engineers to double check the ruggedness and safety of Mercury outboard motors. It means owners shouldn't have to worry about motor damage if they accidentally hit submerged or floating objects.

Inset photos at top show the lower unit of the 40 horsepower model before-and-after three hours of this test. The sleek is worn down but the motor is still in perfect running order. Lower inset before-and-after photos show how 60 percent of the propeller from a 6 horsepower Mercury has been worn off in the same three hour test. More than meets the eye is the progress in modern outboard engineering brought about through tests such as this.

Boston Pastor Succeeds With Church Program

BOSTON, Mass. — When the Rev. B. C. Woodhouse was assigned to Mother Wall A.M.E. Zion Church here in 1954, there were very few who thought that he would raise the membership to 450 in two and one-half years, as reported by him at the recent meeting of the New England Conference, held recently.

The Rev. Woodhouse reports wonderful progress and feels assured that the people of this city are one hundred percent behind him. He, even though having a busy pastoral schedule, has found time to take on extra duties and was the first Negro to be named to the Department of Corrections in the state.

He also has built a congregation at Taunton and boasts a membership of 125 there. He has become known as "God's Ambassador of Song." He is considered one of the best gospel singers in this section of the country.

Tips on Touring

Women's Travel Authority
Travel Survey

If you took a trip last year, you are a statistic — part of a survey taken by the AAA on vacation travel. Here are some of the facts and figures you probably figured out.

One half of all American vacations at least once a year — spending some $12 billion in the process.

Private automobile trips in the United States account for 85 percent of all travel within the country each year; 11.5 billion vehicle-miles driven on vacations; and a $10.4 billion expenditure.

In half the states, travel is ranked among the three most important industries. It ranks first in Florida, New Jersey, Nevada and Washington, D.C.

Here is how the traveler spends his dollar: food, 28 cents; lodging, 22 cents; retail purchases, 20 cents; gasoline and oil, 19 cents; entertainment and recreation, 8 cents; tires, parts, repairs, 3 cents.

Of every 100 motorists en route, 63 stay in motels; 16 stay at hotels or resorts; 16 with friends or relatives; 4 camp out; and 1 lives in a house trailer.

The great upswing in travel is due to population rise; increased earning power; more leisure time; retirement plans, insurance and social security benefiting older citizens; and increased passenger car registration.

Mammoth Dam In Ghana May Interest America

ACCRA (AP) — The Volta River project a mammoth dam which would open up the way to producing electric power for the development of aluminum is one of the great hopes of Ghana to increase its income and strengthen its financial position. The country must do something to great away from its one crop economy dependent on cocoa.

Back in 1952 it looked as though British and then Canadian interests might try to back the effort. Its cost is prohibitive to most, more than half a billion being the latest estimates.

AMERICANS OPEN NEGOTIATIONS

Last month, however, three American business men opened negotiations with the Ghana Government on the project. They were Edgar White of the Utah Construction Company, San Francisco; G. Van B. Slagle of Foreign Construction Associates, Houston, Texas; and H. Frazier Leith of Winslow, Conn. and Stetson, New York.

No one is certain what will come of the talks but government officials seem hopeful. Meanwhile the opposition NLM party has warned the CPP party which now controls the government, they had better take the opposition party into consideration when a question of this type which concerns the whole nation is at stake because if the political fortunes were changed the opposition might not choose to cooperate.

NEW YORK CITY — Mrs. Gladys Joyner, well known Harlem business woman and Cosmetologist with her own shop, called a group of women together recently at the Hotel Theresa and organized the National Guild of Career Women. The group selected Lou LaTour as President who consented to serve only for six months until the group became fairly well organized, this being because of Miss LaTour's already full schedule.

Mrs. Joyner — Vice President, Miss Ophelia Jordan — secretary, High School teacher as Mrs. Iris Hayes — Beauty Shop owner of Vanders, Business Manager, Mrs. Carolyn of Public Relations, and Mrs. Suzie Hans, Real Estate personality — Treasurer. In Baltimore: Lawyers Admitted To Bar

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — An age old traditional unwritten law that had kept Negro men and women lawyers out of the Baltimore Bar Association was torn away with last week's membership in the association was officially opened to Negroes.

The move was made by a vote of 614-409 for acceptance of women lawyers and 600-417 for men lawyers. The vote was by secret ballot.

Even though the vote was favorable for the acceptance of Negro lawyers into the bar association, they will have to be sponsored in order to gain admittance. Nominations of four attorneys are now pending.

Technically, Negroes were not barred from the association throughout the years, but traditionally they were not accepted.

Hampton Summer School Registers 300 Students

HAMPTON, Va. — About three hundred persons have registered for the Summer Session at Hampton Institute for classes which began last Wednesday, according to Dr. Hugh M. Glover, Director of the Summer Session.

"Final registration figures are not available," the director said, "due to the fact that a number of students will be arriving for registration throughout the week."

There are three divisions in the college's summer program. The Graduate program offers courses leading to the Master's Degree in various areas of education, including teaching of specific subject areas — mathematics, second language, education and supervision. About a third of the summer's enrollment is in this category, most of the students being in-service teachers.

A phase of the summer program which has been attracting an increasing number of students each year is the six week pre-college course. These courses are designed to provide a more effective transition from high school to college and the students earn more college credit in basic subjects such as English and Mathematics. There is a trend over the country for offering such transitional programs to alleviate the difficulties experienced by freshmen due to highly varied high school backgrounds and records.

About half of the students attending Hampton Institute's summer session will be enrolled in the regular undergraduate courses which in the main, are offered by regular members of the college's student body.

"I like to return to Hampton in the summer, said one in-service teacher attending a workshop in reading, "because of the opportunities in the college and the community to combine study with a summer's vacation. Some work and a good measure of play clears the cobwebs of the mind and enable us teachers to face next Fall's classes refreshed."
