

Baptists Asks Eisenhower To Urge Halt Of Nuclear Tests

WASHINGTON (AP) — Negro Baptists of America have called upon President Eisenhower to urge the leadership in urging that tests of atomic weapons be discontinued.

Dr. J. H. Jackson, president of the National Baptist Convention, Monday praised the President for the work he has done in the interest of world peace. As testimony of the faith which the convention has in Mr. Eisenhower's leadership, Dr. Jackson, on behalf of the 5-million Baptists, suggested that the Chief Executive take the lead in calling three separate and distinct international summit conferences on the effects and the future of nuclear tests.

1. In which decisions for peace could be more easily made.

2. After these conferences there should be a third summit conference of the statesmen and political leaders of the world, who with the use of the findings of the scientists and religious leaders of the world would bring together their own conclusions as practical statesmen and help to formulate a program for united action for peace among the nations of the world.

URGES CHURCH PARTICIPATION

Dr. Jackson also suggested that the World Council of Churches be urged to participate in the second conference of religious leaders. And that this body, through its executive secretary, Dr. W. A. Vissor 't Hooft, would be asked to rally the denominations connected with the World Council.

He further suggested that Pope Pius would be asked to rally for this world wide religious conference the Roman Catholic Church, and that the Head of the Greek Orthodox Church and representatives of the Jewish faith would also be summoned. Representatives from the rest of the living religions of the world such as Mohammedans, the Buddhist, Hindus, etc. would take part.

One of these conferences should be held in Washington, D. C., said Dr. Jackson, one in the Far East, and one in Moscow, Russia. During the periods of these conferences the nations should agree to cease their nuclear tests.

"We feel that this is an urgent matter and the nations must act while there is yet time, or run the risk of losing their time in the broad abyss of an unknown eternity," he concluded.

W. B. Wicker, Lee County Educator, Appointed To Trustee Board Of A&T

SANFORD — A prominent Lee County educator received another honor last week when appointed to the trustee board of A and T College at Greensboro.

William Bartelle Wicker, a native of Lee County and in which he has labored, successfully, in education for more than 30 years, will bring to the college a wealth of educational experience and background.

Just three years ago the school, here, which he had served as principal since 1924, was named in his honor. Previously the Lee High School, it was renamed the W. B. Wicker High School in 1954.

Wicker returned to Sanford in 1924 after a one-year teaching stint in Albemarle, Va., to become principal of the then Sanford Graded School. He has seen a continual growth and development of the educational program here since that time.

He started with just five teachers and an enrollment of 368 pupils, including 9 high school students. The school now has an enrollment of 1,045 with a faculty of 36 persons. The high school was accredited by the State in 1929 and by the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools in 1946. The elementary department received State accreditation in 1940.

From a small wooden structure in 1924, the school plant, now located on a 13-acre site has several buildings: administration, trade vocational agriculture, two gymnasiums (one to be opened this fall) and a new and modern auditorium with a seating capacity of 600 persons.

Wicker, a graduate of Virginia Theological Seminary and College at Lynchburg, Va., had done further study at Shaw University, Hampton Institute and holds the M. A. degree from Atlanta University.

Vacation time is a good time to develop strong healthy bodies and minds.

Enrico Fermi atomic power plant is under way near Detroit through the joint efforts of 18 electric companies. A group of equipment manufacturers and the Atomic Energy Commission are also associated in the project.

Dresden, Illinois, plant is being developed by 7 electric light and power companies, their equipment manufacturers and with the cooperation of the AEC.

Yankee atomic-electric plant is being developed by 12 New England electric companies. A number of equipment manufacturers and the AEC are participating.

What will atomic-electric power plants look like?

Among the atomic-electric power plants now under way, three will look like the drawings above.

Although they appear somewhat alike, each involves different methods, different materials, a different type of atomic reactor or "furnace." That's because the electric companies, the equipment manufacturers and the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission—all participating in atomic development—are searching for the best ways to produce electricity, using atomic energy as fuel.

The development of atomic-powered electric plants is the latest stage in bringing plentiful electricity to America. You can be sure that electric companies, skills and experience, acquired in 23 years of service, are being applied to this great new job.

NBC BOARD APPROVES RESOLUTION

The resolution approved by the Board of Directors of the National Baptist Convention meeting in Dallas last week, and made public here this week, suggested that an international summit conference of the best scientists of the world be called to study the effects of atomic tests and the aftermath of radio active particles on the human society. And that these findings be released to the world in simple language that the ordinary mind could grasp.

3. That a second conference of a similar nature be called representing the living religions of the world. These religious thinkers would evaluate the findings of the scientists and then bring to bear their philosophical, moral and spiritual conclusions on the problems both of atomic tests and the damages of an atomic warfare. These leaders in the field of religion would release something in the world that would generate a new type of sanity and confidence and help to create a public opinion
