REV. AND MRS. JOHN BARNES

Sue New York Country Club

WHITE PLAINS,N. Y—(ANP)—The publishers of the Westchester County Press, a Negro weekly, newspaper, filed a $500,000 damage suit against a country club here last week for allegedly discriminating against their daughter and cancelling an alleged party because of the girl's race.

The suit names the Beacon Hill country club as defendant in the case claiming it discriminated against the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alger Adams, publishers of the Negro newspaper.

Mr. and Mrs. Adams said they made reservations for a "Sweet 16 party" for their daughter last June 28, informing the club of their daughter's race.

They said that five days before the event was to be held, the club cancelled the affair "because some of the directors didn't like the idea."

The manager of the club, Mrs Francis Holzheimer, has denied discriminating against the Adams Beacon Hill Country Club is in Dobbs Ferry, N. Y.
