ROXBORO — LEON HARRIS of New York City and a former footballer at Person County High School is home with his wife and kids visiting his grandmother and relatives.

Bana director Motion of Person County High School has been a member of many big name bands. Robie Barnett will leave Roxboro in time to be present at the opening game of the World Series in New York's Yankee Stadium.

Mr. Farley, who operates Farley's fabulous Grill on Market Street in Greensboro is a Roxboro boy.

John Pefeat says that he didn't call the police to stop the fight between Charlie Noll and his girlfriend as stated in this news column last week.

But Pefeat says that Charlie called the police himself after the girlfriend had beat him out of his senses, and being in this condition Charlie mistakely called the fire department instead of the police.

The new clean cut and pleasant smiling counterman that you see at Satterfield's Cafe is Willie Walters.

Roxboro citizens are happy to have two race doctors in their midst — Dr. Clayton and Dr. Tracy.

STRENGTH FOR THESE DAYS
from The Bible
And, behold, there are last which shall be first, and there are first which shall be last. —(St. Luke 13, 30.)

There are always among us the "firsts" in all fields of activity, and it is traditional that we honor their material success and achievement. But, in God's sight, the "firsts" among us may be the meekest, the lowliest, the most humble of people—for they put Him first, and love Him.

BRING ON THE YANKEES!!—Hard-hitting Milwaukee Brave outfielder Hank Aaron waves his arm happily as he is mobbed and carried aloft by teammates, after stoking a game winning and pennant winning home run in the 11th inning of a recent game with the Cards. The Braves expect the momentum of winning their first pennant to carry them right on through to victory against the New York Yankees in the World Series. (Newspress Photo).

CONCORD NEWS

MRS. MARION W. BOLD
CONCORD — Funeral services for Mr. James Edward Howell were held Friday afternoon, September 20, from the Ebenezer A.M.E. Zion Church in Cabarrus County Township, No. 10. Mr. Howell was eighty-year-old last March and during his long life had been active in both church and school work. He has served as chairman of the Trustee Board, class leader and in many phases of Sunday School work.

He was one of the pioneers in the movement for bus transportation and better schools for Cabarrus County children. His various activities were proof that he always had the welfare of his church and community at heart.

He is survived by his seven children: Mrs. Jennie H. Jenkins, of Concord, Arthur W. Howell of Concord and Midland, Ira W. and James Thomas Howell of Midland, John Price Howell of Charlotte, Chaplain C. J. Howell of Denver, Colorado, and Dr. Monticello J. Howell of Princess Anne, Maryland; eighteen grandchildren; and three great grandchildren.

MISS DORIS HORNE

Miss Doris Horne has returned to her home on Hilltop after working with migrant children in New York during the summer. She was a member of a migrant ministry service team composed of one Keweenaw, four white, and four Negro college students.

Headquarters for the members of the team was 230 N. Main Street in Lyndonville, N. Y. They taught Bible, arts, and crafts to children of migrant families who lived in a nearby camp. The children were Jacinto Rican, white, and Negro.

Miss Horne gave an interesting account of her experiences with the children, her teammates, and places visited in the congregation of Westminster Presbyterian Church last Sunday evening. She is a member of this church and a junior at Furber-Scotus College majoring in elementary education. She has received a scholarship from the New York State Council of Churches.

Roanoke Rapids News

COLORED TOWN, the Negro community of Roanoke Rapids, is just like any other community in any other town... But it has produced some of the best plasterers, bricklayers, lathers and cement finishers in the mechanical field.

Lovely Ivey, was tops as a plasterer and contractor of merit. Before him was J. H. Browning and J. W. Porter... Some of the Daniels and Sledges were past masters of the trade.

In the bricklaying business there was E. J. Conner and others — Eli Williams, and Herbert Daniel were lathers par excellence. Buddy Mills, a top cement finisher, has mingled with the best all over the county.

Buster Reid, who still makes Roanoke Rapids his home with his family knows the history of Roanoke Rapids backwards. He can also tell you where the old timers are living that have moved to greener pastures.

COLORED TOWN has grown and seemingly it is going to continue to grow — The high school is modern and spacious.

The churches are well-attended and attractive. The Sledges, Daniels, Mills, Iveys, Richards, Williams and Parkers are still there and carrying on first like their fore-father did — and they like it that way.

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS"

For quite some time past mortems have been going on as to just what last session of Congress meant, or did not mean.

All the huffing and puffing to the contrary, pro and con, observers close to the Washington scene feel that 1957 will go down as the year of the Great Congressional Revolt against dictation by the administrative branch of the government.

For one thing, the seizure of well-nigh dictatorial power by State Secretary John Foster Dulles has not set well. The edict nullifying traditional U. S. free press has deeper effect.

When Dulles refused to let reputable American newspapermen go to China, a lot of eyebrows were raised. Traditionally, the American public holds in high respect the nation's working press for objectivity in reporting the facts as they appear at any given time. Only communists and fascists, who cannot stand up under scrutiny attack American newspapermen with such epithets as "the lying press."

That is due to the fact they fear a free press. In their own nations, the press is controlled by government. Yet the Dulles action marks the first time, in modern times, at least, that an American official by edict has suppressed the free ranging, world-wide search for facts by the American free press.

This has led to the question "What is State Dept. hiding?"

Most people have no truck with any theory that the reds might subvert the entire U. S. press.

Not only is the average working newspaperman quite cynical of propaganda, but also among newspapermen is found perhaps a greater understanding of the principles of democracy than in any other group.

So people are curious as just what Dulles wants hidden from American readers in China. To be sure, he eventually rescinded his ruling, then the Red Chinese government helped him out by having U. S. newsmen witness they could send their own over in this country.

Yet Sen. William Knowland goes on record that he has no objection to some Chinese newspapermen coming into this country on permits.

If national security is a plausible excuse, then the United Nations headquarters should be removed to Timbuctoo or some far place because as it is now, UN members have liberty to bring into teeming, sprawling New York their delegations and retinues. And New York is an easy place to hide.

Thus, this hush-hush ban imposed by government officials is a hard one to sell to Congress.

The putting into a secret category the report of the Government Accounting Office alleging graft and corruption in the use of foreign aid funds is another example of this trend.

In addition, probably never before in the history of the Republic has task forces of cabinet members been formed to storm Capitol Hill to browbeat Congress.

Thus, there is an uneasy feeling. And in view of the situations that have developed where by government officials seek to lay down an unwarranted blanket of secrecy, there is small wonder that such feelings exist.

Production of wheat this year is down about 6 per cent. The produce industry is big business.

Turn tobacco roots up now! A little extra attention at planting time will pay big dividends in alfalfa production.
