ROXBORO — Mrs. Marie Hammett's 159-month-old daughter died suddenly last Thursday night. The mother was enroute to the Memorial Hospital in Chapel Hill when the child succumbed.

Mrs. Clarice Ramsey Allen, of Baltimore, Maryland, spent the weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Lee Ramsey of the Lee Jeffers Community.

Bro. Rogers received a pistol ball in his hip when a playful group turned into a shooting party. Details to the case have not been set at yet.

Quite a number of students and teachers were out of school the first week due to attacks of the Astau Flu.

dent of Person County High School, is already planning for week-end party for the Thanksgiving holidays.

Elbert Morris Jones, of Baltimore, was home over the weekend, visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Jones of Ivy Street.

Rev. Sherrill Cunningham preached at Lawson Chapel Church last Sunday night and the Elijah Grove Church choir rendered the music. Mrs. Eggleston Bowman was pianist.

Mr. Aubrey Barnett, 53, of Roxboro, was buried last week. Mr. Barnett and his wife had made their home in Madison, New Jersey for some time. A few weeks ago he was stricken with an acute illness that resulted in his death.

M. T. C. Tillman, former principal of Person County Training School and now principal of East Union School High School in Nashville, was in town Monday evening saying hello to a few friends and former students. He was enroute to his home in Winston-Salem and thence to Marshallville.

His eastern tour had roused him as far in this section as Wake Forest, where he had spent a few hours with his brother, Mr. Jacob Tillman, Principal of Durham High School there.

ROXBORO ELEMENTARY School closed its Annual Drive Monday night with a "bang." More than a thousand dollars was collected in this financial marathon—which is a real "nest egg" in times like these.

If "Mr. Asian Flu" pays you a visit, don't let him in. He just wants to start a lot of unnecessary trouble. You can feel him coming your way.

GREENSBORO — 6,000 students are expected to attend the annual High School Senior Day celebration to be held at A and T College on Saturday, October 26.

William H. Gamble, dean of men and chairman of the committee on arrangements for the event, told reporters this week that the turnout for this year will eclipse the record 3,468 youngsters who came last year.

Nearly 150 high schools in North Carolina and border points in Virginia and South Carolina have already accepted invitations sent out by the college a week ago.

A full program of activities has been arranged for the visiting guests. The youngsters will see a special exhibit of scientific and technical equipment and purchase made and used by A and T students and a giant demonstration in nuclear science being provided by the American Museum of Atomic Energy at Oak Ridge, Tenn.

They will be conducted on a tour of the major laboratories, shops and instructional facilities about the campus and will see, at first hand how A and T students live, study and learn.

The young visitors, to be formally welcomed by Dr. Warmoth T. Gibbs, president, will be guests at luncheon and dinner and at the football game featuring the A and T Aggies and Winston-Salem Teachers College in the early afternoon.

...and him that cometh to me I will in no wise cast out. — (St. John 6:37.)

Sometimes, for reasons that we vainly try to justify, we look upon another human being with distaste or contempt. Then we should remember the abounding compassion of the Lord Jesus Christ, and humbly pray for His forgiveness.

High School Seniors Will Be Guests At Greensboro

Soil Test Proves Real Money Saver

Many farmers that ever have had their soil tested before buying lime and fertilizer according to latest figures. But there are still those that like to take a chance. Guessing about fertilization is highly costly, according to a Negro farm agent. And having the soil tested can be a real money saver.

C. R. Greene, Bladen County farm agent for the N. C. Agricultural Extension Service, says there are many examples of farmers profiting by having their soil tested and then following the recommendations. But none prove the point better than Pleasant Campbell, Clarkton, Rt. 2.

Recently Greene stopped by the Campbell farm and was greeted with broad smiles. "You know," said Campbell, "I've made more money on my tobacco crop this year than ever before."

And my fertilizer bill was less too. I'm also expecting my best corn yield."

Campbell had the soil in each of his fields tested last year.

Withdraws From Comm. Chest: Whites Boycott Urban League In Little Rock

NEW YORK (AP) — A segregationists' boycott was blamed by the National Urban League Friday, in a report to President Eisenhower for the withdrawal of the Greater Little Rock Urban League from the local Community Chest.

Theodore W. Kheel, national president of the League, in his wire to the President, told of Little Rock "being flooded with hate literature urging that no one contribute to the Chest," as long as the Little Rock Urban League branch is a member. A telephone marathon to Chest workers, threats of reprisal against businessmen and personal violence were among the pressures, he reported.

The League has been a continuously constructive force for better race relations in Little Rock," said Lester B. Granger, national executive director, "and used its influence to make the transition from segregation to unsegregated schools peaceful. These new pressures seek to ostracize the organization from any part of community life, and even worse, they undoubtedly will have the effect of widening the gap between the races."

Withdrawal from the Chest, said Kheel's telegram, was decided because of the League's mindfulness "of its larger responsibility to the community and in order to preserve the Community Chest and its good works against confusion, disruption and disunity." The League urged its local members to continue their full and normal contributions to the Chest.

By its withdrawal, the telegram concluded, the League intended "to symbolize the crying need for people of good will everywhere to rally behind the forces of law and order," and it urged the President to continue the use of his powers and moral leadership in "a nationwide crusade."

But your iniquities have separated between you and your God, and your sins have hid His face from you.... — (Isaiah 59, 2.)

It is our own willfulness, selfishness, weakness, that keep us from most enjoyable living and being fully in God's love, His perfect good—and yet, His mercy forgives and accepts the truly repentant heart.

November 13: FSTC Will Host College Conference

FAYETTEVILLE — The thirty-second annual one-day session of the North Carolina College Conference will be held at the Fayetteville State Teachers College on November 13, and it is expected that a goodly number of representatives from the several Negro colleges in the state will be in attendance, according to a statement by Dr. Clarence A. Chick, President of the group.

The purpose of the Conference is to stimulate study and discussion of problems incident to American higher education.

The forthcoming session will feature an assortment of strong speakers currently active in education.

'Next Phase:' Play Called 'Answer To Little Rock'

MACKINAC ISLAND, Michigan —White and colored leaders from the South hailed the new all-African play "The Next Phase" as the answer to Little Rock recently. They committed themselves to bring its message to America.

They spoke at the Moral Re-Armament Assembly of Nations as the cast of 55 from 19 African nations returned from a nine week series of 49 performances in Washington, Atlanta, Tuskegee and Broadway to 53,000 people.

Describing the play's performances in Atlanta, Ezra Newnam, Africa and one of the cast, said Africa and one of the cast, said, "It's the boldest and most audacious approach to today's burning issues."

For the South to see black and white with Africans arrayed together on the stage fighting as one unit, made a profound impression. The destiny of our age is to make such a uniting idea a reality everywhere."
