CAREER OPPORTUNITIES

BY STAFF WRITER
Why Not Biology?
The field of biology offers unusual opportunities for Negro youth. It is a challenging profession and race is no longer a barrier if one is well prepared.

Many credit for conquering contagious diseases goes to workers in biology who have helped to discover drugs and better anti-toxins, dyes and medicines.

Thirty years ago, a pneumonia patient had little better than a 2 to 1 chance to recover. Pneumonia was the number one killer. Today, it's 25 to 1 a pneumonia victim will survive.

Some years ago, biologists learned that miracle drugs, antibiotics like penicillin could be made from molds. Drug companies redoubled their efforts along these lines. One company, for example, engaged a team of 50 scientists.

These scientists tested soil samples from all over the world in search of molds containing bactericidal qualities. Two and a half years later, after spending $4,000,000 and testing 100,000 soil samples, they discovered a certain grayish, crackly earth mold. Another wonder drug, terramycin, was given to humanity.

BIOLOGISTS PIONEERED, also, in the field of agriculture and food products. About 150 years ago, Malting forests that much of the world would soon be starving because population increased faster than food supply. But, in America, food supply outstripped population. Biologists studied methods to fight plant disease and developed hardier varieties of plants, grains, vegetables, fruits. They sought and found ways to produce poultry and livestock that simply more meat, with less fat, fat and bone.

Some questions that biologists can answer are: Can cancer be prevented and cured? Can we develop tropical fruits that will flourish in northern climates and thus cut down on transportation cost? Can we develop an attractive grass (for lawns) that grows a certain height and so does not require frequent mowing? Can we prevent the common cold?

Persons desiring to enter careers as biologists should consider going to some good four-year college. This training should be followed by graduate study leading to the M.A.

and Ph.D. degrees in biology.

READERS: This column will discuss questions relating to various careers open to Negroes, educational requirements and other qualifications, and available scholarships for such study.
