

Head Of Surgery At Howard:

Dr. Clarence S. Greene, 55, Dies Of Heart Attack In DC

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dr. Clarence Summer Greene, 55-year-old, head of department of surgery at Howard University college of medicine and well-known neurosurgeon, died Wednesday at Freedmen's Hospital after suffering a heart attack at his home. A native of District of Columbia, Dr. Greene had suffered a cerebral thrombosis last July and spent several weeks at Freedmen's and the National Institute of Health for treatment and recovery. A graduate of Dunbar High school, where he was on the track and basketball teams, Dr. Greene was graduated from the Howard University college of medicine in 1909, and received bachelor of arts and doctor of dental surgery degree from the University of Pennsylvania.
