Apex Library Formally Opened; Raleigh's Mayor Enloe Speaker

By STAFF WRITER

APEX — Last Thursday at 8 p.m. a library experiment was set going here and the town's citizens have pledged themselves to make it succeed.

This was the prevailing spirit of an overflow crowd who witnessed the formal opening ceremonies of the new Apex Library, a branch of Raleigh's Richard B. Harrison Public Library, 214 S. Blount St.

Persons who attended the ceremonies learned that the guiding hand in bringing about the realization of this goal were eager and alert. Mrs. Mollie H. Lee, Richard B. Harrison's head librarian, Faith in the citizens of Apex led her to put forth every effort to help them bring to completion the initial stage of this library project.

Housed in a leased building, renovations and installations of shelves have transformed the interior into "a thing of beauty."

HIGHLIGHTING THE OCCASION was the presentation of the library key to the town of Apex by Raleigh's Mayor W. G. Enloe, chairman of the board, Richard B. Harrison Public Library. In his address, the Mayor compared the Apex library to a small acorn seed destined to grow into a mighty oak.

Mr. Hearden, banker, accepted the key in the absence of Apex

Mayor E. B. Tindal who was ill. The key was in turn presented to W. N. Reasley, chairman of Friends of the Library, who accepted it in behalf of the citizens and neighboring communities.

HOW $2,400 WAS MADE available for starting the new library was explained by Mrs. Elizabeth H. Hughey, N. C. State librarian.

She discussed the provisions of the Library Service Act designed to make available federal funds for starting libraries in rural areas with populations of less than 10,000.

Other participants on the program were: Rev. T. R. Cole, pastor, Mt. Zion Baptist Church, Friendship, N. C.; Mrs. Mollie H. Lee, H. Hughey, N. C. State librarian, who introduced the Friends of the Library.

Mr. P. A. Williams, principal, Apex Junior High School, presided over the ceremonies. He introduced Mrs. Irene Stuart who will be in charge of the Apex library, as well
