ROXBORO — The New Gymnasium at Roxboro Co. High School was dedicated to the principles of basketball Tuesday evening when Coach George Brooks opened his fall practice sessions to the "Orange Cone All" candidates for the 1957-58 basketball season.

The spacious and comfortable experience for the "followers of the past and dribble" came in Person County, but the wholesome and responsive atmosphere that is generated by an edifice of its kind in our community is a fulfillment of the high hopes that for years we have been waiting for.

Homecoming at Winston-Salem Teachers College resembles "Old Home Week" at Person County High School in Roxboro, seen taking part in the annual festivities of the Council City College were Julia Oliver, Sylvia Outlaw, Ella Smith, Bessie Noble Smith, Joyce Winstead, Joan Barnett, Shirley Bradsher, Mrs. Rosie Bowman Hubbs, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Monroe of Burlington — Mrs. Monroe is the former Miss Shirley Outlaw — Clark Galley, Eric Davidson and A. and T. Visitor Franklyn Bullock.

Miss Nettie Nelson, ninth grad. Coach of Person County High, presided over "Ten Commandments of Love."

Talking on a six-yard pass from Charles Farrington was Fred Weaver. This accounted for Lincoln's final score.

Expansion Fund Reported By An A. M. E. Bishop

OMAHA, Neb. (ANP) — Bishop Frederick D. Jordan visited the Nebraska Annual Conference at Trinity A.M.E. Church this week at the invitation of Bishop R. R. Wright, Jr., recently assigned to the supervision of the 5th Episcopal Diocese. After complimenting the district upon its Bishop Wright to supervise their work, Bishop Jordan announced to the Conference the receipt of $3,000 by his friend, Mr. Sidney M. Schallmann of Los Angeles.

At the meeting of the Southern California Conference in Los Angeles a year ago, Mr. Schallmann announced that as a token of his appreciation for the leadership of Bishop Jordan in church and community relations, he was going to give $5,000 at the rate of $3,500 a year for the quadrennium, to be used for the direction of Bishop Jordan for the development of the African Methodist Episcopal Church.

A few weeks ago, Bishop Jordan stated, Mr. Schallmann during the session of the Southern California Conference, presented the first $1,250 which had been appropriated as follows: $250 each to Jordan Chapel, a new congregation at Monterey, California; Elroy Mission near Tucson, Arizona; Price Chapel in Los Angeles.

CLARENCE "BIG HOUSE" GAINES

Clarence "Big House" Gaines, Athletic Director and Head Basketball coach at Winston-Salem State Teachers College says that "A cooperative and understanding administration is responsible for the great success that he has enjoyed with the athletic teams at 'T. C.' President Francis L. Atkins has been the guiding light in all Gaines' undertakings, augmented by such creative and imaginative minds as executive secretary Jasper (Jack) Alston Atkins, business manager, Andrew Isaac Terrell — chairman of athletic committee for thirty years — and Andrew B. Reynolds, Principal of Columbia Heights Junior High School and a strong 'T. C.' alumnus. It was under his administration as president of the Alumni Association that the mammoth and extraordinary 'T. C.' Homecoming attraction" was inaugurated — and the present Alumni president, Belevader Nathaniel Cooke — member of the faculty at Kimberly Park Elementary School.

Gaines pointed to the big, extensive program that is engineered by the Alumni Association and the extra fanfare, showmanship and all-around build-up that it sponsors and promotes.

A maximum number of tickets are sold to the Alumni at cost — The Alumni treasury is profit recipient — data for alumni dance profits — The gate receipts go to the school — All visiting bands are taken care of by the school this year's parade had 16). Former athletes earmark good prospects and notify their offices — They contact the administrations for available jobs and aid before making a lead. It is this kind of organized consistency, says Gaines, that has carried him over the "ruff" spots in molding a good athletic program at 'T. C.'

Gaines came to 'T. C.' in the fall of '45 as assistant football coach to the great "Brutus" Wilson. They won 14 (Knoxville) and lost eight that year. Brutus didn't carry long after that. He assumed the head football coach post at Shaw "Big House" then had to coach all athletic teams — Archibald Morrow and William "Sugar Lump" Bryant were called in to assist. Since football and bigtime basketball were young at the college, city, alumni and student interest and enthusiasm was far from complimentary. "Big House" talked the situation over with Sam Cary, who at that time was coaching at Atkins High School — Then he contacted other interested sources that consented to help execute a city-college public relations program that would reach the urban and rural homes and create a personal interest atmosphere rather than the existing "hands off, do it yourself" attitude.

Through officiating high school scrimmages and games, holding clinics, group meetings, personal home visits and fireside chats, the program began to click.

In 1949 "Tank" Conrad was brought to 'T. C.' to take over as head football coach which gave Gaines more time to make contacts, take care of his office work and coach the basketball team — he still works as hard with the football team as ever, because of his interest in the program.

His basketball teams have just about dominated the CIAA for the past five years, winning two conference championships and running up three times. His boys have played 250 basketball games during his regime, compiling an 80 per cent win record. . . The football team has won 65 games, lost 30 and tied eight. . .

"Big House" was a star All-American tackle at Morgan State College . . . he started in football at Lincoln High School in his native hometown Paducah, Ky.

He is married and has a fine daughter that should be around school age . . . recently moved into his palatial ranch style home with a back large enough to hold a Kentucky style barbecue.

He smiles when he speaks of the grand gesture that the Alumni made when it coughed up $300.00 to sponsor the Coliseum relays trip for Elias Gilbert and Coach to California. . . You can't mention one without thinking of the other — The "T. C." Rams, "Big House" Gaines.

Here and There: The Green Lantern on Market Street in Greensboro was the only Negro establishment on the street that stopped selling Schlitz beer when it was rumored that one of the company's executives belonged to the White Citizens Council.

"Unk" Campbell, former Morgan football great stepped into some tall shoes when he was appointed basketball coach at Laurinburg Institute to replace the great veteran Frank McDuffie.

Frank is now President of the school. . . Orchids to "Sugar Lump" Bryant. . . he is the new head coach at Fayetteville State Teachers College. . . Pete Williams the popular and likeable coach of Raleigh's Ligon High School is out again after having been hospitalized with the flu. . . Tank Conrad, head football coach at Winston-Salem Teachers College could not witness the 45-6 schellacking that his boys handed Johnson C. Smith last weekend. . . The Flu.

A.T.'s gauntlet of coaches reads like an All-America football team since the booming days of Coach Byrum. . . Harry Jefferson, Luman Breaux, Charlie Deberry, Roland Bernard, Archie Harris, William "Bill" Bell and Bert Pisgot. . . The next guy they hire should be named "Two Points."

Gov. Faubus Sees No Loss Of Industry

LITTLE ROCK (ANP) — Industrial prospects for the state of Arkansas have not faded out of the picture, but have increased since the Little Rock integration furor began.

This was the opinion given by Gov. Orval Faubus here last week to a group of businessmen.

Insisting that he has "never been uneasy" about the state losing industries because of the action he took early in September, Faubus hit back at critics who said he "periculated the integration crisis and that his actions have hurt the state industrially."

"I can show you a list of a dozen prospects," Faubus said, "who have expressed stronger interest in locating in Arkansas than before this occurred. Recent events have not hurt us."
