Dr. Miles Mark Fisher Lectures At Shaw Univ.

The third in a series of lectures in observance of the Baptist Series at Shaw University, was concluded last Friday. Dr. Miles Mark Fisher, minister of White Rock Baptist Church Durham and professor of the History of Religion, was the guest lecturer. The topic for discussion was "The Heritage of Negro Churches," with particular reference to the Baptists as to whether or not they are African or European, a stimulus or a threat. The heritage of the churches, he stated, is racial consciousness. He said that Negro churches should maintain their African culture which is different from European culture. He urged the students to remember the history of the Negro church and to also remember that the institution that gave the Negro status. Dr. Fisher was introduced by Dr. William S. Strasser, president of Shaw University.

Miss Bettie Giddings Represents Durham School In Debutante Ball

DURHAM — Miss Bettie Lou Giddings, native Ahoskie, has been unanimously selected by The Southeastern Business College student body as the school's contestant in the Annual Debutante Ball, scheduled to culminate early in January. The ball is sponsored by Durham's Beta Pi Sigma Chapter of The Sigma Gamma Rho Sorority, of which Mrs. Naomi Morgan is president. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hawley J. Newsome of Ahoskie, Miss Giddings is now pursuing a secretarial course at EBC and serving as a clerk typist in the Administrative Office of the school as a member of the SBC Choir, as social reporter for The Southeastern Star and Parliamentarian of The Student Council. Prior to graduating in June 1957 from the Robert Lee Vann High School (Ahoskie), the secretarial student was Advertising Editor of the high school's yearbook and member of the band, dramatic club, basketball team, varsity club, glee club, safety patrol and the New Homemakers of America. Ahoskie teenagers will remember her weekly Monday column "Keeping up with the Times" that used to appear in the Heiford County Herald.

Say Dodger, Giant Move Is Only The Beginning

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (AP)—The New York Giants moving to San Francisco and the Brooklyn Dodgers shifting their franchise to Los Angeles merely reflects the beginning of many baseball things to come. Cliff Evans of NBC-TV predicted last week. He said: "The major leagues will expand on a final basis to three leagues of eight teams each. Cities which will have major league baseball in the near future are: Atlanta, Dallas, Houston, Portland (Ore.), and Minneapolis. Major league baseball in time also will spread to Phoenix, but this will take about 10 years. Chicago now is the only city with two major league teams — the Cubs and the White Sox. But this, too, will change. One will leave. The Wrigley family, owners of the Cubs, have deep family roots in Chicago. Also, their ball park, Wrigley Field, is a much more valuable piece of property than Comiskey Park, the White Sox' home stadium. So the word is that it is the White Sox who will move — to Minneapolis. The Pacific Coast League has been hard hit, with the Giants moving into San Francisco and the Dodgers into Los Angeles. It is expected that the resulting PCL realignment will include teams in Phoenix and Tucson. Minneapolis debut into the majors also will force a realignment in the American Association. The Southern Association also will have to make changes.

Iota Sorority Observes American Education Wk.

During this period when so much attention is being given to the intense problem of school integration, American Education Week takes on new and greater significance. In its observance of this all important week, November 10 through 16, Iota Phi Lambda Sorority sees the need for placing special emphasis upon the preservation of this part of our great American heritage. Iotans can be proud of the major role they have played in the past and are playing now. American Education Week has been observed annually since 1921, to "inform the public of the accomplishments and needs of the public schools, and to secure the cooperation and support of the public in meeting these needs." Iota Phi Lambda Sorority is interested that all people avail themselves of every educational opportunity opened to them but it especially encourages high school and college women to seek business training to equip themselves for the challenges of living. To this end, scholarships are given. Affiliated chapters throughout the country plan special programs for this national observance, so that emphasis is made in each of the many communities represented. This year's theme, as announced by Miss Lucille Reynolds of Los Angeles, national director of Education, is: "An Educated People Moves Freedom Forward." Mrs. Marion H. Jackson of Washington, D. C. is the national president.

St. Augustine's Library Holds Annual Open House

Using for its theme "A Good Book Is the Best of Friends, the Same Today and Forever," the Benson Library of St. Augustine's College held its annual open house on Sunday, November 10, from 3 to 5 p.m. Attractively displayed were a collection of new books which patrons were permitted to borrow. These books comprised many fields, such as special education for exceptional children, sports and athletics, history, fiction, biography, philosophy, education, psychology, mathematics, religion, science and so on. Librarians assisted visitors by pointing out special new books, as well as acquainting them with the many services which the Benson Library maintains for their use and enjoyment. During the fellowship hour, the guests were served fruit punch, minis, cookies, and peanuts. Mrs. M. B. Walker is head librarian who is assisted by Mrs. O. M. Irving and Mrs. C. H. Winters, associate librarians.

CLASSES OF MOTIONS
QUESTION: In reading different books on parliamentary law, I find that there is a difference in the names applied to the classes of motions. How do you account for this? Meanwhile, what is the purpose of placing motions in different classes? — Mrs. F. P.
ANSWER: It has been my experience that all of the books on parliamentary law list the same classes of motions, except that the name applied to one class differs. All of the parliamentary law books list the following classes of motions:
1. Main motions
2. Subsidiary motions (side-track motions)
3. Privileged motions
4. Incidental motions
5. Unclassified motions (special main motions)
The purpose of main motions is to bring business before the house for consideration. Subsidiary motions are designed to get rid of the main motion — temporarily or permanently — and to change the wording of the main motion — temporarily or permanently — and to change the wording of the main motion (for example, motion to amend). Privileged motions are designed for the comfort of the members and must take precedence over the business of the club. A motion of this type, for example is the motion "to take a recess." Incidental motions are proposed as the need arises in carrying out the business of the club. For example, the motion raising "a point of order." Unclassified motions have no characteristics in common.
READERS: For my motion chart arranged according to classes, send 3 dimes and a self-addressed envelope to Marcus H. Boulware, St. Augustine's College.

What A Strange World

MEXICAN JUMPING BEAN — You no doubt have wondered what makes a Mexican jumping bean jump. A Mexican jumping bean is a small brown pod which leaps and jumps into the air in the most amazing manner. The reason for this is that inside there is a small worm which doubles up and batters itself against the side of the bean, causing it to leap into the air. Eventually the worm inside makes its way out of the shell and turns into a moth.

This is a simple explanation of one of the most unusual oddities of nature, but the next question which arises is: how does the larva of the moth or worm get inside the bean? Well, in the spring the moth deposits an egg in the blossom of the swamp tree which bears the bean. As the blossom develops three seed pods form. Two of these seed pods contain seeds, the third contains the moth egg, which changes into larva.

When the seed pods or beans fall from the tree, it doesn't take long for an observer to discover which ones contain larvae of the moth and which contain seeds. The ones with the larvae in them begin jumping all over the place in the most frantic manner.

Clergymen Could Receive Social Security Benefits

Clergymen who have failed to elect social security coverage as self-employed persons now have survivors and disability insurance protection for themselves and their families. John Ingle, manager of the Raleigh Social Security office declared this week. "An amendment to the Internal Revenue Code gives them, in general, from August 31, 1957 through April 15, 1959 to elect social security coverage," he said. Ministers who file waiver certificates during this extended period will be mandatorily covered for 1956 and all subsequent years in which they have net earnings from self-employment of $400 or more, including earnings from the practice of their ministry. In addition, Ingle points out, "a minister who filed a waiver after April 15, 1957 and before August 31, which was valid for 1957 but too late to get coverage for 1956 by filing a supplemental waiver." The law now provides that ministers will include as net earnings for social security purposes, (1) the rental value of a parsonage or rental allowance furnished them as part of their compensation and (2) the value of meals and lodging furnished them for the convenience.

ence of their employer. This change in the law applies only to the amount of a minister's earnings which are covered by social security; it does not affect his liability for income tax. This provision is effective for taxable years ending on or after December 31, 1957. "Through misunderstanding," Ingle says, "some non-profit church related organizations erroneously reported the remuneration of certain ordained ministers performing teaching or administrative duties and paid the employer and employer social security taxes." The amended law provides that the remuneration reported as paid to these ministers in 1955 and 1956 shall be treated as if correctly reported and not as net earnings from self-employment to the extent employee tax was not credited or refunded before August 31, 1957. Farmers who have placed their cotton in the CCC loan program have until August 1, 1956, to re-pledge their cotton and sell at a higher price than the support price received at the time the loan was made. North Carolina has about 3 percent of the total supply of eggs in the United States.
