BEATING THE GUN

By BILL BROWER

You hear a lot in major league baseball about the sophomore or second year jinx. Whenever a rookie comes through with a fine season, it's expected the following year his performance will tail off.

It can be said without fear of contradiction that the jinx (if it actually exists) was defied in the 1957 season by Frank Robinson, young outfielder for Cincinnati Redlegs. Robinson has been acclaimed sophomore-of-the-year in the National League. He was the odds-on choice for rookie-of-the-year in 1956.

Robinson was no sentimental choice. He deserved the honors in each of the seasons. A sturdy right handed hitter, Robinson batted .322 in the recent season. This was good enough to tie him with Hank Aaron for third place in the NL batting race.

In his first season in the majors, Frank batted a respectable .290. He attracted attention because of his home run prowess as freshman swinger. His 28 home runs tied a major league record as the most ever hit by a first-year player.

His homer production dipped last season to 23, but Robinson collected 31 more base hits. His total number of hits for the season (197) left him just three short of the magical 200 mark, which was attained by the leader, Red Schoendienst. Aaron's teammate on the Milwaukee Braves.

Young Robinson gives much credit to Manager Birdie Tebbetts for his improvement at the plate and in the field. He says his manager uses the utmost patience with him.

Tebbetts reciprocates. He thinks that Robinson might eventually be ranked with the San Francisco Giants' Willie Mays and Aaron as the most promising players in the National League.

Tebbetts is justified in taking a sanguine view of Robinson. He is just about the most valuable player on the Cincinnati roster now. In fact, in the bygone season the youngster was used frequently at first base, particularly when

Riddick Says Cliff Jackson Insubordinate

DURHAM — Clifton Edward Jackson, 29-year-old junior halfback on North Carolina College's football team and the leading ground-gainer in the 18 college Central Intercollegiate Athletic Association, has been "suspended indefinitely" from the Eagles' squad.

Jackson got the word during a meeting of the entire team last Tuesday afternoon. He was asked to turn in his togs to an assistant coach James A. Stevens.

Riddick indicated Jackson's troubles started early in the season when the backfield star and an assistant coach "got in an argument."

Jackson's recent difficulties involved his apparent disinclination to heed coaches' orders to report to team meetings promptly and to report to the gymnasium sleeping quarters at the requested time, before last Saturday's Homecoming with Shaw.

6,000 Chilled Fans See A&T Gridders Go Down In Defeat

Stephens-Lee Tops Penn Hi For 7th Win

GREENSBORO — The A and T College Aggies suffered their worst defeat of the season in falling before a juggernaut from Florida A and M University Rattlers, 42-6, last Saturday in a football game here at Memorial Stadium.

A few more than 6,000 fans sat chilled, to see the Floridians score in every period, once each in the first and final stanzas and twice each in the second and third, with 100 per cent conversion, to outclass the locals.

Alonzo Vereen, 198-pound speed merchant for the Florida outfit, was a key engineer in the scoring spree. Besides scoring two — of his team's touchdowns, he broke away for a brilliant 50-yard run which set up another.

About the only thing which gave

Aggie fans reason for genuine cheer was Arthur Worthy's 70-yard touchdown play on which he gathered in a 40-yard pass from Paul Swann. Aggie quarterback and galloped the remaining distance.

The locals threatened twice after that, but both were turned back by a team, rated number one among Negro aggregations in the country.

CHARLOTTE — West Charlotte and Second Ward High Schools are planning an elaborate basketball show for the Park Center ... The date has been set for Dec. 19 ... The contest will match the Tigers against the Lions in the feature game, with the West Charlotte sextett and the Second Ward girls meeting in the preliminary ...

"Going to go all out to make it the best promotion in the history of the two schools," Mr. C. L. Blake, the efficient principal at West Charlotte, informs ...

JOHNSON in the West, has ineligible player trouble ... Which, if true, means West Charlotte will play Asheville Stephens-Lee for the Western crown ...

The Lions added Statesville Morningside High to their list of victims with a 26-6 victory here last week ... Jack Martin's Sharpies have now won six straight after losing their first three ... and are the equals to any prep team in the state at the moment ...

Looks like Johnson C. Smith University will have to be satisfied with one victory for the 1957 campaign ... After losing a 13-0 lead to Livingstone College here Saturday and eventually ending with a 10-19 tie, the Golden Bulls were a very discouraged group ... Even after they ran up the 13 point lead, the Smith crew didn't seem to have their hearts in their work ...

FOOTBALL ODDITY: Ernie Wade, Smith's 250 pound tackle, misses few extra point attempts from placement in practice sessions ... Seems unable to kick true during games ...

Missed two kicks and a field goal here Saturday.
