Joe Louis' Children Lose Trust Funds On Appeals Court Ruling

CHICAGO — (ANP)—Ex-heavyweight champion Joe Louis suffered what may be the worst knock-out of his life last Thursday when the U. S. court of appeals ruled the trust funds be set up for his children must be turned over to the government to help satisfy the estimated $25 million tax bill which Louis owes.

The ruling merely affirmed a 1956 decision by the U. S. Tax court. The opinion written by Judge F. Ryan Duffy, held that Louis was insolvent at the time he hired his wife, who is now Mrs. Marva Trotter Barrow Spaulding, as manager. She, in turn, established the trust funds, totalling $61,990 for their two children, Jacqueline and Joe Jr.

Though the ex-champ was having tax troubles, he was still making big money in the ring.

A separate concurring opinion by Judge Philip J. Finnegan held that Mrs. Louis acted as a conduit in transferring to the children, solely to keep it out of the government's hands.

Unable To Represent CIAA, NAIA In Texas

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Maryland's College Hawks won their third consecutive CIAA Baseball title since entering the CIAA in 1954. Maryland won in 1954 but was ousted out by A. & T. in 1955. The Hawks compiled, during the current season, a 13-1 record for winning percentage of .923.

A 93 defeat by arch rival A. & T. College prevented the Maryland team from completing an undefeated season.

Maryland State was selected to represent the CIAA and the combine NAIA Districts 29-9 in the Second Annual NAIA Baseball Championships June 4-7 at Alpine, Texas.

Because of distance and final examinations, the Maryland State team will be unable to make the trip.

Three Major Teams Scout Clown Rookies

HOLLYWOOD, Fla. (ANP)—The major leagues are looking more and more to independent clubs, like Syd Pollock's Indianapolis Clowns, for tomorrow's Star Moustache, Jackie Robinsons and Ted Williamses.

As evidence of this, Sylvester Snodgrass, ex-Negro American League star, pilot of several Canadian League championship teams and manager of the 29th edition of baseball's top firmakers, reported that three Clowns rookies are being scouted by major league clubs and may get their "big chance" before another campaign rolls around.

The trio "under the eye" are Billy McDaniels, a Milwaukee Braves prospect, Walter Robinson, a potential for the Baltimore Orioles, and Doug Williams, right-hand moustache, slated to join the Chicago White Sox next spring.

Earlier in the season, the Clowns announced the sale of pitcher Raymond Holmes to the Cincinnati Redlegs for a "sizeable sum." After three weeks in the Tampa (Fla.) camp, he was signed to a Savannah (South Atlantic League) contract, and later upped to the Albuquerque, N. Mex. (West League, Class A) team.

The Clowns have two games scheduled in the south before beginning their northern tour. They open June 8 in Russwood Park, Memphis, and then play the new 22,000-seat Fairgrounds stadium, Louisville, June 9.

The northern swing starts with Connie Mack stadium, Philadelphia, June 13, and goes to Griffith stadium, Washington, D. C., June 19, Westport stadium, Baltimore, June 20, and Yankee stadium, New York, June 22.

The Philadelphia team will be sponsored by the charities of the Philadelphia Tribune in cooperation with the North Philadelphia Federation of Older Boys' clubs.

Major League Roundup

MAJOR LEAGUE BASEBALL NOTES

CHICAGO — (ANP) — Willie Mays' tremendous hitting spree kept the San Francisco Giants at the top of the National League. The outfielder, regarded as baseball's most exciting, if not best, performer, was on his way to his best season in the majors. He was second in batting in the NL (.319) leading in hits (241), runs (133), and triples (37), second in home runs (42) and RBIs (81).

Mays was one of four ten players among the RBI leaders. His teammate and talented rookie first baseman, Orlando Cepeda, had 27. Eugene Banks, Chicago Cubs' slugging shortstop, and George Crowe, hard-hitting Cincinnati first baseman, had 25 each.

Crowe and Roberto Clemente were among the first 10 NL hitters. The left-handed swinger, Crowe was batting .355, good enough for third in the NL and trailing only Stan Musial of the St. Louis Cardinals, and Mays, Clemente was in a two-way tie for eighth place with a .314 average.

Cepeda was tied for third in the home run derby with nine.

In the American League, Mingo was among the leaders in home runs and RBIs. He hit his sixth home run and drove in his 18th run when he walloped a triple that cleared the 365-foot mark in Cleveland stadium to give the Indians a 3-to-2, 12-inning victory over the Boston Red Sox.

Elston Howard of the New York Yankees hit his first home run of the season against the Chicago White Sox, a 2-run blast that tied the game, which the Yankees won eventually, 5 to 2.

In the same game, Al Smith, White Sox outfielder, hit a fumble homer, his third of the season. The week before, Smith had been on a strong hitting spree, raising his average from an anemic .176 to .271. Although his average was down

Has Rickey Done It Again?

LOS ANGELES — (ANP) — After watching the Pittsburgh Pirates beat the Dodgers as if they owned them, one can not help but think Rickey has done it again. The present crop of Pirates under the direction of Manager Danny Mortimer are mostly Rickey discoveries.

In Boston, Boyd snapped out of his doldrums with a 400-foot home run and a single in two times at bat. He continued hitting in Detroit with a pair of singles off the left handed throwing Billy Hoelt.

Larry Doby made his first appearance at bat for the Cleveland Indians in a month when he was called on as a pinch-hitter against the Boston Red Sox. Doby, counted on to supply much-needed power for the Indians, has been sidelined with a mystifying sore shoulder which hampers his throwing.

When Branch Rickey left St. Louis some years ago, they gave him a watch with the inscription on the back, "so you can always now when it is time come back to us in St. Louis". But except for a visit Branch never returned.

In Brooklyn he laid the groundwork for creating a pennant winner for a number of years. After leaving Brooklyn for Pittsburgh, the man is putting his baseball know how to work again with the Pirates. He is chairman of the board of

Browns Trade Lennie Ford To Packers For Grid Rookie

CLEVELAND (ANP) — Lennie Ford, a 19-year veteran in professional football, last week was traded by the Cleveland Browns to the Green Bay Packers for an undisclosed draft choice. He had been a member of the Browns for eight years.

The move was part of the Browns' announced move to rebuild for youth.

The general feeling is that Ford, despite his 32 years, will help the Packers, one of the most bustling units in football. A 5-foot-5-inch

Beating The Gun

By BILL BROWER FOR ANP

It has been said, there's no sentiment in sports. This isn't exactly true, but it's close enough. It seemed that way last week when the Cleveland Browns traded Lennie Ford, the great defensive end, to the Green Bay Packers.

"It's simply a matter of believing that Paul Wiggin can get the job done better for us than Ford," said Paul Brown, coach of the National Football League eastern division champions.

It seems to us an incredible estimate, but perhaps Brown knows more about his business than we do. He should. He has been winning division or world titles for eight seasons (save one) in the NFL and for four seasons in the old All America conference.

Even so, it's hard to reconcile Ford's departure from the Browns. He became a fixture with the per-

GREENSBORO — The A&T College Aggies closed out the baseball season last Friday with a 6-4 win over Fayetteville State Teachers College.

The winning pitcher was Aussie Broadnax, the loser was Robert Gordon. Both went the distance.

The win gave the Aggies a 9-4 record for the season.
