Garden Time

A friend brought in a shoot from his sasangua camellia which was infested with leaf and bud gall disease. This disease is caused by mold-like airborne fungi and is quite prevalent on both azaleas and camellias this year.

The leaves become thickened, curled, fleshy and pale green to white, or pink in color. Frequently a white powdery surface will develop on the leaves. The disease is usually worse on the lower leaves but may also appear on any part of the plant, especially under humid conditions and in shaded locations. Flower parts may be affected on some species of rhododendron. The trouble seems to be more prevalent on sasangua than on the japonica camellia.

The disease is more alarming from the standpoint of disfigurement than from actual damage to the plant. However, it may become severe if weather conditions are favorable for the development of the organism.

Around the home, the galls should be removed from the plant and burned just as soon as they are detected. Bordeaux mixture may be used effectively if removal of the galls by hand is not feasible. Prepared Bordeaux may be purchased from your local seedman or hardware store and mixed according to instructions on the package.

If you only require a small quantity of spray, use one and one-half level teaspoons of powdered copper sulfate and one and one-half teaspoons of fresh hydrated lime to one gallon of water. To this solution add about one-half cup of skimmed milk which will serve as a spreader and sticker.

Side dress your leafy vegetables with nitrate of soda. Keep all vegetable and ornamental plantings free of weeds. A good mulch will help control moisture, soil temperature and weeds. Stake and mulch tomatoes.

The church extended condolences to Mr. C. E. Lightner whose brother died recently in Goldsboro. Funeral was held in Goldsboro Sunday afternoon; the body was brought to Raleigh at 4 p. m. for burial.

The Young Wives Club will order on June 11 a set of hymn books for the church. All members and friends who desire to give one hymn book can do so by contributing $1.50. The pastor will direct the contribution to the club.

Bishop Walls Is Supporting Cong. Powell

NEW HAVEN, Conn. — Bishop W. E. Walls, senior prelate, A. M. E. Zion Church, took up the cudgel for Congressman Adam Clayton Powell here this week when he told the delegates of the New England Annual Conference that no longer could the Negro permit the politicians to use him as a pawn.

The prelate charged that southern Democrats brought pressure upon Carmen DeSappio to the extent that Tammany Hall read Powell out of the party. He lost no time in saying that party leaders did not want Powell to head a committee, which he is due to inherit, due to seniority, at the next Congress.

Bishop Walls went farther and said that he had instructed all of the pastors of the New York conference to support Powell. "I shall not sit by and see Adam Powell persecuted and prosecuted because he dared to be a man. I shall use

"I am not ashamed of the gospel of Jesus Christ, for it is a power unto salvation unto them that will believe." (Romans 1:16) served as the text for the sermon delivered by the pastor, Rev. Robert L. Shirley, at the morning service Sunday at 11 a. m.

Of the many things of which Christians are ashamed, Rev. Shirley mentioned these four points: (1) many are ashamed of their family heritage, (2) many are ashamed of their race, (3) many are ashamed of their weaknesses, being made public, and (4) many are ashamed of their lives.

In comparing the present-day Christian with the Apostle Paul, Rev. Shirley emphasized that Paul was not ashamed of his former persecution of Christians, nor was he burdened down with his "Osmasus Road" experience. "Paul felt that God had freed him indeed from his past sins," declared the pastor.

AN EVENT OF HISTORICAL importance occurred in Pittsburgh on May 28 when the United Presbyterian Church merged with our church (Presbyterian Church in U.S.A.). By this merger, our church family is now increased by 250,000, one-seventh, and more than 800 churches. The merged church will now be known as the United Presbyterian Church of the United States.

The deacons of the church met in the pastor's study immediately after the Sunday morning service. The session held its regular monthly meeting Monday at 7 p. m. at the church.

A special call meeting of the Social Service Club met Tuesday, 8 p. m., at the home of Mrs. Annie Robinson.

Church members, who plan to teach two weeks in the Daily Vacation Bible School, met after the Sunday morning service with the every influence at my command to see that he returns in Congress," the bishop said.

He called upon the members of the New York Conference to see that every effort was made to get the vote out for Powell. He predicted that the congressman would win, even though he had been indicted for income tax evasion.

He pictured this as another effort to belittle the Harlem pastor and pointed to the fact that he was not too sure that there were thousands of other people, whose records would show that they had not been in making reports. The bishop did not name anybody, but indicated that they might be found in high places in the government.

SINCERE THANKS

I wish to take this opportunity to express sincere appreciation to all persons who supported me in my recent efforts to secure a seat in the North Carolina House of Representatives. Let us continue to help our people on the books so that we can make our greatest asset, the vote, count most. A large Negro vote in Raleigh and Wake County will bring us increased job opportunities, better schools, and larger representations in all phases of our life as citizens.

Iota Sorors Commemorate Founding

On June 1, members of Iota Phi Lambda Sorority commemorated the founding of this organization. More than 2,000 women across the continent were spiritually united, according to Mrs. Wilhelmina Godfrey of Buffalo, New York, member of the national publicity committee, as thoughts turned in retrospect to the evening in June, 1929, when Mrs. Lola M. Parker of Chicago, founded the sorority. Six women met at her invitation, and pledged themselves to the aims and ideals for which the sorority now achieves.

Its purpose is to promote interest in further business education among high school girls, and to encourage higher education among its members. To this end, the members rededicate themselves on Founder's Day.

Since this year's Founder's Day was on Sunday, many chapters began it with group worship. Whatever method was chosen for the observance at 4 P. M., however, dignity and charm prevailed as they listened to the annual message from Mrs. Parker, Founder-President Emerita. This command was issued by the Director of Education, Miss A. Lucille Reynolds of Los Angeles.

The members next turn their sights toward Miami, Florida where the national convention will be held in August. Mrs. Celia Mitchell of Birmingham, Alabama, Southern Regional Director, is counseling the hostess chapter as they make preparation for this momentous occasion.

Mrs. Marion E. Jackson of Washington, D. C. is the national president.
