Rogers (left), Dean of Education at Syracuse University (N.Y.), has charged that Central High School's staff was "incompetent" to handle disciplinary problems, growing out of integration of the school. Dr. Rogers, one of two expert witnesses called to Little Rock by the NAACP during the school board's request for a stay of integration until January 1961, talks to a reporter after giving testimony. Christians' Failure To Understand Atoms, Missiles Is Scored At Religious Seminar

NASHVILLE, Tenn. — Christians' failure to understand how atoms and missiles have changed today's world was scored at American Baptist Theological Seminary's second annual missionary and religious vocational seminar and workshop here.

"We must understand the world before we can implement the kind Christ wants," cautioned the Rev. A. Johnson, pastor of Greater St. John Baptist Church, Chicago.

"Somehow," he said, "we must break into the cycle of fear and bring the message of God."

The Rev. Mr. Johnson was one of 10 leading Baptist writers, teachers, ministers, and missionaries serving the three-day seminar workshop as speakers and consultants. Their approach to problems presented the sessions was based on the theme, "Meeting World's Needs With Christ's Program."

More than 100 persons from 15 states participated in the program. Through services of the consultants, both young and older delegates came to grips with major moral and social ills facing the Christian world today.

Rev. Johnson suggested that men should reevaluate their estimation of what success is, adding that in these days success is measured by the length of a man's ear, the greatness of his house, or the expansiveness of his wife's fur coat.

Other consultants included Dr. D. E. King, pastor, Zion Baptist Church, Louisville, Ky.; Dr. T. J. Semison, pastor, Mt. Zion Baptist Church, Baton Rouge, La.; Dr. W. Herbert Brewster, pastor, East Trigg Avenue Baptist Church, Memphis, Tenn.; Mrs. Fred Terry, writer for the Southern Baptist Sunday School Board, Nashville; Dr. Earl L. Harrison, pastor, Shiloh Baptist Church, Washington, D. C.; the Rev. William A. Johnson, pastor, Greater St. John Baptist Church, Chicago; Mrs. Anna M. Hunt, president, Kansas Baptist Missionary Convention; the Rev. Kelly Miller Smith, pastor, First Baptist Church, Eighth Avenue, North, Nashville.

Dr. Maynard P. Turner, Jr., president of American Baptist Theological Seminary, and Dr. Primrose Funches, director of promotions for the Seminary, were directors of the seminar and workshop.

Mrs. Bass Interviewed By Reporter

The accused man is said to have shown no sign of emotion or regret, and he gave the police no trouble in arresting him.

ATTORNEY APPOINTED

Upon the refusal of Attorney Tom Ruffin to defend Bass, Judge Raymond B. Mallard named Negro Attorney Herman L. Taylor as Bass' defense attorney. Bass had requested the services of Attorney Tom Ruffin, but Ruffin wished to be left out of the case. Mrs. Mahler's attorney, Lester V. Chalmers Jr., said he would ask for the death penalty and wants the trial during the criminal term beginning in Wake Superior Court on July 7. In the meantime, Bass is expected to appear before the Wake Grand Jury June 23.

BASS' WIFE INTERVIEWED

Mrs. Bass had quite a mouthful to say about her husband when a CAROLINIAN reporter called on her this week. She said Bass is a very quiet type of person.

"He is not in speaking and action. He doesn't talk very much. In my opinion he is a very understanding man and very cooperative. He is a family man. He has taken good care of his family. But I will say he has been going on strange for the past two months, and it has been noticed even by the children. In the week of the tragedy, it was more so evident. He did not eat and talk. He is crazy about his family and children, but I could not reach him. This past week is the week he was really depressed. I don't think he spoke a dozen words," she said.

The janitor's wife is quite doubtful that her husband committed the rape act, and she has a few questions which she wants Bass' attorney to ask during the trial. In the event he did commit the act, "I think he had pushed things in the back of his mind. We have not had any quarrel. No financial problem. I think he pushed things in the back of his mind and probably something snapped. There is nothing that his family did to him. We could tell there was something wrong with him, because he acted so strangely. This is the first time he has acted so strangely."

Mrs. Bass is the mother of eight children whose ages range from thirteen years to three months.

A PREVIOUS ACCUSATION

On March 2nd, Bass was accused of raping a Negro woman, but the Grand Jury did not indict him. A local paper, in its editorial, noted "an attitude of too great leniency toward 'Negroes' who commit crimes against members of their own race."

Dr. Edmonds Challenges Women Here

The professor realized that the suggested remedy for juvenile delinquency — bigger and better homes, bigger and better Y. M. C. A.'s more parental guidance and attention—made 25 years ago had not cured the ill. "We have lived long enough to come to the realization that the old time remedy will not do."

It is foolish to carry the situation to the home and expect parents to change it. This type of thinking is contrary to the economics of our time. It takes two way envelopes for the normal home to keep it going. There is no point in sending behavior problems to the home.

She also had the answer to her questions: "I say that program you have here (referring to the Baptist leadership training and youth camp) will capture the interest of the children and prepare them for today. But what of tomorrow? The answer is preparedness. What we learned yesterday will not suffice for today, and what we learn today will not suffice for tomorrow. He who would be up and doing must keep abreast of the times. Youngsters must have new and fresh knowledge. Young boys need to be prepared." Then she admonished, "Let it not be said that we cannot get on the main street of American life because we are unprepared. Special information will pay off, if you know something special."

To answer her questions further, she continued: "The church as 'tomorrow cannot afford to ignore the education possibilities of its youngsters. The church of tomorrow will have to have departments or committees of education. . . will have to teach the simple virtues of honesty. . . will have to find a way to find and guide delinquents. . . will have to find a program to search into the byways to bring children out to Sunday Schools."

The church of tomorrow will have to have some kind of program whereby the people of the church will go into the homes of the underprivileged and induce them to Sunday School."

Speaking of television, Dr. Edmonds was in doubt as to whether children understood that the reason for showing crime and murder stories on television is to teach that crime does not pay. She observes that peoples' interest in television is robbing them of good wholesome conversation with their guests in the home. "All people have special TV programs. People are losing their posture because of TV."

Touching on outer space, the professor said that today's world has produced weapons of destruction. "We have devised flying into outer space. While we are learning how to go into outer space, we have not learned to live together in space. . . We shall be saved by brotherhood or we will die the agonizing death of disunity."

In today's world we must still save souls. "The things I have added (to the church) are new functions. The historic mission of the church is to save souls. It is only in the saving of souls that man can find peace and security," she concluded.

Church Bonus Money Rules

All purchase slips or receipts presented to your church must come from stores advertising in the CAROLINIAN.

Each week carries a date in the Bonus Money period. Purchases eligible must come from the store during the week the ad appears.

No purchase slips representing a business should be submitted. All receipts must come from individual purchases.

All churches in Raleigh and Wake County are eligible.

All purchase slips must bear the name of the store from which the purchase was made.

All purchase slips should be submitted in the name of the church; and should be in the office of the CAROLINIAN the Monday following close of Bonus period.

In order that smaller churches may have an equal opportunity to share in the Bonus Money the following regulations are expedient: No church of over 200 members will be awarded 1st Bonus Money consecutively. It should a church of 200 or more members receive 1st Bonus Money after the first period, it would have to wait until the third Bonus period to be presented 1st award again, except where a church has 200 or less members, then it could win top Bonus awards consecutively. However, this does not mean that second and third awards cannot be sought consecutively. Consequently every church group has the opportunity to secure an award every period.

No purchase of over $300 from any one merchant during a week can be counted.

There is a ceiling of $35 per person a week for grocery purchases.

In the event of the same amount of purchases by more than one entry, the award will be divided.

Weekly purchase totals should be shown on each packet and total placed on the outside of the envelope carrying the purchase entry along with name and address.

Bonus money winners will be announced in the issue following the closing of each period.

All entries remain the property of The CAROLINIAN.

All entries in which the name of the store is not clearly shown may be announced in The CAROLINIAN, and an responsibility is accepted by this newspaper beyond that point.

Drinks For All Occasions

THE TALL DRINK SEASON IS HERE! There are always occasions when there's nothing as good as a fine tasting thirst-quencher. When the youngsters raid the refrigerator when the teenagers gather, at your afternoon parties and when the family watches TV programs—these are a few of the countless times when drinks are in order.

To be prepared for all these demands, it is well to have an assortment of bottled carbonated beverages chilling in the refrigerator. Everyone's favorite flavor should be included. Small sizes take care of the quick pick-up drink for a member of the family, and the large size bottles are best for making drinks for a crowd. Popular flavors are black cherry, grape, orange and lemon-lime and, of course, ginger ale. A scoop of ice cream added to a tall glass of any flavor makes a wonderful soda.

tion but it shunned him, too. No longer able to teach at Alcorn, he moved to Gulfport.

Last month he said he would ask to be admitted to the University of Mississippi to work towards a Ph.D. No member of his race had ever attended the university and King said he would ask to be sent to Africa if rejected.

Segregationists no longer were for him. The NAACP, which usually assists in integration attempts, still remembered King's articles and took no part in his plan.

He arrived at the university June 3 after a 300-mile bus ride. From the registration line he was taken to assistant Chancellor Hugh Clegg, who later said he talked only 15 minutes with the man, telling him his papers would have to go before the state college board.

The rejection had come but King refused to leave the building. After more than two hours, officers said, he suddenly started running around a room yelling, "Help, help, help!"

It was then the highway patrolmen escorted him bodily from the building and drove him to a cell in Jackson, where he was held secretly until the next morning.

King was brought before two physicians in a chamber court. They said he should be committed to the state mental hospital for
