Employe Of Cafe Given Term Here

James Wilbert Saunders, 30, of the 400 block of Dakar Street, accused of assaulting an eight-year-old white girl at a cafe here last Saturday, drew a two-year sentence Monday in the Wake County Domestic Court.

Although Saunders pleaded not guilty, he did not appeal his sentence.

The defendant had been charged with placing his hands on the girl in the restroom of Joy's American Grill, located on E. Martin Street.

Saunders was arrested by detectives on a warrant issued by the girl's aunt.

JAMES W. SAUNDERS

Detective Sats. J. B. Upchurch and R. L. Ennis, investigating officers, said that so far as they knew Saunders had no prior sex-offense record.

The man had been employed at the cafe where the assault occurred for several years.

The girl is reported to have gone to the women's restroom and could not reach the light switch. She then allegedly went out and asked Saunders, who was dressed in a white uniform, to cut on the light for her. He did this and left the room.

Later he returned and asked the child to stand up. When she refused, the man is said to have stood her up and fondled her, police declared.

Saunders left the restroom afterwards by crawling out of

Inspectors Shunned At "Private School"

In Little Rock School Case:

7 Judges Must Rule

ARLINGTON, Va.—A group of 5 county inspectors who wanted to check the safety requirements of a "model" private segregated school were turned away Monday at the school's front steps.

Jack Rathbone, executive director of the segregationist 10th District Educational Corp., turned down pleas to enter by inspectors for the Arlington County Plumbing, Child Care, Electrical, Building, Fire and Zoning Departments.

The school was opened last week in a six-room stucco house as a demonstration of how private schools could replace public schools, which close under integration. It does not have a fire escape, contrary to fire regulations, or

Bass Case Appealed To State Court

BY MARCUS H. BOULWARE

When the CAROLINIAN went to press last week the fate of Matthew Phillip Bass, alleged rapist, was being weighed in the balance by the jury as it listened to the final arguments of the counsel for the plaintiff and the defendant.

The next morning as this reporter expected, Bass was found guilty by an all-white jury which reached a decision after an hour's deliberation.

Judge Malcolm C. Paul of the Wake County Superior Court sentenced Bass to die on September 26 in the State gas chamber for raping 35-year-old Mrs. Sarah K. Mahler, white.

Bass, 46, and the father of six children, received the sentence with no outward show of emotion. Neither did Mrs. Mahler make a show of emotion when the verdict was announced, although she did leave the courtroom when the solicitor was making

Blind Man Held For Coroner's Inquest On Suspicion Of Murder

BY E. RUDY YORK

FAYETTEVILLE—On July 16, a 40-year-old farm laborer, Alonzo McGirt, was allegedly stabbed to death and Sheriff's deputies arrested blind Albert Smith on suspicion of murder. "Blind Albert" as the suspect is known, is a familiar figure to many Eastover and Fayetteville residents.

Deputies arrested "Blind Albert" as he walked along Highway 301, near Rock Hill. He told the officers that he was on his way to the Sheriff's office to report a "lamentation" he had heard at the McPhail home where he lived.

He said that he and McGirt had "had a few drinks together" at about 10 p. m. Tuesday. He said he went to bed, latching the door that separated his room from the one in which McGirt slept.

Smith said he heard "three men" come in the front door sometime later. He told the Sheriff that he

Bishop Spottwood Stirs Zion Bodies At Confab

COLUMBUS, Ohio — "The church today must bear our Christian witness for freedom. It is not enough for us to subscribe to the story of freedom taught by Jesus preached by Paul and proclaimed by the early church fathers. It is not enough for the church to endorse a credo of freedom.

The demand of society, the expectancy of God, the purpose of the church call for the minute fulfillment of the implications of freedom in practice, in brotherhood, in the spread of free men and in a free world of democratic ideals," thus said Bishop S. G. Spottwood, in the opening message to the General Christian Education Convention and National Youth Council, A. M. E. Zion Church, which opened here Sunday, at the All Ohio Youth Center, with more than 1000 youth in attendance.

Bishop Spottwood rang out a clarion call for freedom to men the world over. "We must preach freedom until the doctrine penetrates all men everywhere and translates itself into the spread of spiritual interdependence among the peoples of the world. Freedom encircles the culture and histories of mankind's false divisions, based on language and geographical barriers and includes men of all nations, races, cultures and customs, in an absorbing brotherhood of man that proclaims the efficacy of preaching freedom," said the

Johnston Man Gun Victim; "Accident," Says Accused

A 47-year-old Clayton resident was shot and killed at a night spot near Silerwell about 12:40 Sunday morning.

Novell Raye was pronounced dead on arrival at St. Arnes Hospital with a large bullet wound through his chest, according to police reports.

Lenwood Whitley, 24, also of Clayton, reportedly admitted the shooting and said it was accidental. He is being held in the Wake County Jail without privilege of bond pending a hearing.

Whitley was booked for murder by Deputy Sheriff Ed. Watkins.

The bullet entered Raye's left chest and came out of his back on the right side. Officers dug out the bullet, which had lodged half-way through a thick door.

Watkins said that the bullet was fired from an old make pistol.

BROKEN CONNECTION — The body of Miss Adele Shields, 35, of the Bronx, New York, lies slumped in a phone booth in a bar after being shot in the Bronx last week. Police have arrested Patrolman James Johnson, 29, in connection with the shooting. He is married. (UPI PHOTO).

Argument Over Light Bulb Is Fatal For Chatham Man

FITTSBORO — A 34-year-old local woman, who shot her husband with an automatic 22 rifle and then put a pillow under his head while someone called a doctor, has been released under bond of $7,500.

Mrs. Ethel Mae McDowell admitted the fatal shooting of her husband to Deputy Sheriff J. A. Farrell, Jr., but said she was provoked in the act when her husband argued with and abused her about a light bulb and the amount of light in the home.

According to Deputy Sheriff Farrell, the woman related that in the scuffle her husband, David Lawrence Smith, was shot.

The Smith woman has been charged with "assault with a deadly weapon, to wit, a rifle, inflicting serious bodily injury, resulting in death."

The shooting took place at the Smith home at 10 p. m. in South Pittsboro.

2 Brothers Drown In Wayne Pond

GOLDSBORO — Two teenage brothers were found dead Sunday in an irrigation pond on the farm of Carl S. Cox, in Grantham Township, 15 miles west of this city.

Robert Cox, 16, and Eugene Cox, 14, had reportedly gone to the pond with another youth, who told officers that neither of the victims could swim. The unidentified youth told Deputy Sheriff Mosco Britt that one of the brothers was wading in the pond when he stepped in the water over his head.

The other brother attempted to save his brother, but drowned in the attempt.

Members of the Goldsboro Rescue Squad recovered the bodies in 14 feet of water, approximately 45 minutes after they had become submerged.

The youths were sons of Robert Cox, Route 1, Goldsboro.

Dr. Frank Toliver, Asheville, New High Schools Supervisor

The appointment of Dr. Frank A. Toliver of Asheville as State supervisor of Negro High Schools was made last Thursday by Dr. Charles F. Carroll, State Superintendent of Public Instruction. Dr. Toliver will take over the post vacated by Dr. Samuel E. Duncan, who went to Salisbury to become president of Livingstone College on July 1.

The educator comes to the State Department of Public Instruction from the Asheville City Schools where he has been serving as principal of the Stephens - Lee High School.

A native of Atlanta, Ga., Dr. Toliver received his bachelor's degree at Atlanta University, his master's degree at the University of Michigan, and was awarded the doctorate degree by Columbia University.

Before going to Asheville, Toliver served as teacher and principal in the Statesville City Schools, professor of mathematics at Virginia State College, and for the past several summers has served as professor of education at Tennessee Agricultural and Industrial State University. Dr. Carroll in commenting on his appointment stated that Dr. Toliver "has demonstrated un-
