JONAH JAMES is sporting a new glamour gal around Charlotte. He is 53, she, 18, a marriage date is to be set soon. JOHNNY WILD, the Blowing Rock playboy, lost his best gal to his best college chum last week. Johnny played with trash, Chum played with cash. POPULAR SALISBURY MATRON, lost her sack dress in the street last week. She was tipping out lightly with another, the grapevine tipped off the main stud and he took wings downtown. Stud, femme and dress went in different directions. ROBERT (Chapel Hill) SNIPES, paid the wife and kids (Mrs. Frances, Celestine, Johnnie and Gloria) a surprise visit last week. The family enjoyed the evening together. MATTHEW PHILLIP BASS was sentenced to die last week in Wake County Superior Court, for the rape of Mrs. Sarah K. Mahler. Solicitor CHAMBERS made a poor showing for the state. Guess he was surprised by the staunch and forceful argument that Attorney HERMAN TAYLOR presented for the defense. Bass, seemingly was convicted of sentiment and not on the feeble efforts of the solicitor. BASS was up for a similar crime in the early part of the year, but the state set him free, thereby encouraging the attacker. The North Carolina Association Tennis Tournament, held in Durham, July 16, 17, 18, and 19, got less publicity than the local Tournament held last week for junior boys and girls at Chavis Park. Director, Carl Easterling, saw to it that the public kept informed to the progress of the tourney. The "closed affair" in Durham was not held as far as the public was concerned. Guess the few that attended, heard of it by the "grapevine" or the one or two small articles that appeared in the local papers. Guess that's the dismissed way to hold a Negro Tennis Tournament, especially in Durham. People were there from New York to Texas, and maybe a few from Durham. Edward Thorpe, Cecil Perry, Motyre Lattie, Eleanor Nunn were the first juniors to represent Raleigh in the Tennis Event since the days of Chris and Douglas Hunt—who were tennis demons.

MRS. MARY POOLE THROWS A PARTY FOR THE ACE. With all of the Newport touches and a Waldorf fringe the birthday party was a whammy. It was HUBERT POOLE'S birthday and the wife didn't forget it. K-26 in Washington Terrace will never forget July 18, 1958, and the guys and company that assembled for the celebration will never forget the assortment of salads, braised and barbecued chicken, confit d'ail Cape Cod fashion, sun-crushed newbengs, dainties of all descriptions and lush waterfalls to suit the taste. They were there: the Wayland Hortons, the Wade Smiths, the William Holloways, the David Douglasses, the George Handys, the Albert Johnsons, the Hilton Riddicks, Fortia Cutchins, Lizzie Birdson, Sgt. Allen Kelly, Henry Whitehead and Dick Revis. A cross-section of coaches, recreation celebs, medical professionals, paratrooper jump Sats, school madams and masters and out-of-towners highlighted the occasion to the top round of the Raleigh summer social season.

THE MIRACLE "SHOT" THAT DETROYS BLOOD CLOTS. "DR. MARIO SEFANINI, of St. Elizabeth's Hospital in Brighton, Massachusetts has discovered a new mold that may be a more important life-saver than Sir Alexander Fleming's mold that yielded up penicillin and led to the culture of other powerful antibiotics. Dr. Sefanini's mold when injected into the bloodstream, hunts down blood clots that have formed anywhere in the body and destroys them in a matter of minutes! And, unlike previous anti-coagulant drugs, it is completely safe and can be used without danger on the sickest patients. Now for the first time, we possess a weapon which can safely be used to break up blood clots without danger of shock attack." Note: The above paragraph was taken from a report in a national magazine.

RECEIVES MASTER'S DEGREE — Mrs. Anne Boone Arrington, daughter of Mrs. Mamie Boone, Jenkins St., Burlington, received her Master's degree at Rutgers College in New Brunswick, N. J. Mrs. Arrington is a graduate research assistant and meal planner for the college nutrition study. The protein nutrition study will continue for two more years as part of a required project sponsored by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, and Mrs. Arrington will work one more year with this class. She is assistant Director of Foods at New Jersey State Hospital in Marlboro, N. J., and will continue her work there after two years leave of absence. Mrs. Arrington is a graduate of Jordan Sellers High and Shaw University, Raleigh.

Burlington Notes

By MRS. MAUDE M. BROWN

601 Apple Street

BURLINGTON — The one-day District Conference of the Woman's Baptist Home and Foreign Missionary Convention was held last Thursday in Trinity N. C. at the First Baptist Church of which Rev. Chester Gage is pastor.

The theme was "Missions—World Peace." Mrs. Ruth Melton was chairman. Following a devotion the topic "Working for World Peace" was discussed by Mrs. J. W. Penny, of Burlington. Mrs. Elvira Guy of Greensboro, and Mrs. Gray of Trinity.

Next were the reports of circle presidents and department workers. This part of the program was interesting and informative. A delicious lunch was served in the church dining room, and this was followed by resumption of the business session. Reports of committees and junior and senior supervisors were heard.

Mrs. Ruth Melton delivered the annual address based upon the theme. Mrs. Bass of High Point directed the Youth Program and was assisted by Mrs. Brooks.

The youth program featured solos, reading of papers, group discussion with one speaker from each of Guilford, Alamance and Randolph Counties. Mrs. Ophelia Sutton reported for the Junior Department.

Persons attending from Burlington were: Mrs. J. W. Pennix, Jr., Mrs. Ibbey Williams, Mrs. Corbellea Reeves, Mrs. M. M. Brown, Mrs. Emma McCoy, Mrs. Mary Thompson, Mrs. Mary Anderson, Mrs. Anna Warren, Mrs. Lorene Forest and Rev. H. J. Cobb, pastor.

The Southeastern District Sunday School Convention of the Christian Church was held this past week in the Ebenezer Christian Church with Rev. W. M. Lake, pastor. All sessions were interesting informative. The attendance was good and the convention was termed a very successful one.

The women of the First Baptist Church of which Rev. H. J. Cobb is pastor, began their meeting at 2 p. m. with Mrs. M. M. Brown serving as mistress of ceremonies. Mrs. Ethel Slade of Glover Garden Community delivered the main address: "The Women of Today, Her Faith, and Work" based upon Proverbs 31:10-31.

Sunday School followed this meeting and the morning service was held at 11 a. m. with Mrs. Mary Belton as mistress of ceremonies. The speakers were Miss Mae D. Holmes, superintendent of State Training School for Girls at Kingston, N. C. The theme was "Women's Imperatives for Growth."

Miss Holmes in her usual quiet manner, gave the women of this community the Bible recipe for growth at home, in the church and community.

At 8:15 p. m. Mrs. Mary Anderson directed the Baptist Training Union and the hour was treasured so much by the youth of the community.

At 7:30 p. m. with Mrs. Esther Pennix as mistress of ceremonies a pageant was presented. It was entitled "Women of the Bible" with Mrs. Ruth Warren as narrator. She made each of the following characters very real indeed as they marched down the aisle in the dimly lighted church. Sarah — Mrs. Myrtle Reeves, Rebekah — Mrs. Viola Stanfield, Jochebed — Miss Virginia Trölinger, Rachel — Mrs. Nathaniel Gaddison, Deborah — Mrs. Catherine Hobbs, Naomi — Mrs. Bessie Tate, Ruth — Mrs. Christine Vaughn, Esther — Miss Shirley Williams, Elizabeth — Mrs. Lillian Matthews, Mary Mother of Jesus — Mrs. E. radine Pennix, Martha — Mrs. Otha Ralfford, Mary (sister of Othar) — Mrs. Vivian Shoffner, Electa —

ODDS- ENDS

By ROBERT G. SHEPARD

RALEIGH MEN HELP CARRY THE BALL: The people hereabouts can be proud of the manner two of Raleigh's outstanding citizens helped carry the fight to compel the National Education Association to take a stand against segregation in the public schools during the closing sessions of the NEA in Cleveland, Ohio.

In the thick of this fight that was highlighted in newspapers from coast to coast, were our own Dr. W. L. Greene, executive secretary, N. C. Teachers Association and Dr. Nelson H. Harris, dean of the School of Education, Shaw University.

From all indications, the NEA, like our National Congress, is dominated by Southerners, who have since the Supreme Court outlawed public school segregation in 1954, blocked every effort to have the association take a public stand favoring the court's decision.

This year the liberal forces, after a series of parliamentary maneuvers, forced a declaratory resolution to be heard and debated on the floor of the convention. Due to the obstructionist tactics employed by the opposition, it was not until the last day of the convention that this resolution was presented to the full body for action. And it was in the usual turmoil of the closing session that the forces of democracy lost the battle. No one can deny the fact that a great moral victory was won, however, because before the resolution could reach the convention floor, it had to be cleared through several committees controlled and dominated by reactionary Southern leaders, both Negro and white.

Drs. Greene and Harris, using the same foresight and ability they have used in carrying the N. C. Teachers Association, became one of the leading educational groups in this country, were able to help bring this legislation to the convention floor and to keep it alive there until the convention's closing moment.

Having got this far this year it is a foregone conclusion that when the NEA meets in St. Louis next June one of the first orders of business will be a resolution favoring the U. S. Supreme Court school interpretative orders calling for immediate compliance with the same.

BASS TRIAL IN RETROSPECT. Now that the infamous Bass trial is over and a jury has found him guilty as charged it might not be amiss to dwell a little while on some background angles of the case.

Since Bass was not allowed to take the stand, nothing about his previous criminal record was brought out during this trial. It seems to be a fact, however, that he does possess a rather dubious background, including a conviction for assault upon a man and a charge of attempted rape on a Negro woman this year.

It's the later charge, attempted rape of a Negro woman, that we feel is pertinent to the charge that has resulted in him receiving the death sentence in Wake Superior Court last week.

Bass was never tried for the rape attempt upon the Negro woman. At that time he was employed by the same insurance company for whom he was working when he made the attack last June. It has been alleged that the reason he escaped being brought to trial for the attempt upon the Negro woman last March was because some officials of the insurance company successfully intervened in his behalf and had him returned to the company's building to resume his work there.

If these allegations are true and as far as we have been able to learn, they have not been denied, it would appear that the insurance company is as guilty as Bass of the crime for which he was convicted last week. And if the insurance company shares in this guilt, the city of Raleigh, the state of North Carolina, in fact, the entire South, all share in this guilt.

It is not through accident that Negroes are let off so lightly when they are accused and convicted of gross mental enslavement, to prevent them from attaining the degree of respect for the rights of their brothers. When Bass was accused of trying to rape a Negro woman last March, to the white man's thinking that was nothing. So what? they probably mused. The story is that the Negro woman succeeded in getting away from Bass after a struggle.

The story in the other case is that the woman could not get away. The story behind both of these stories is a lesson for the white man in the South to learn: a lawless person is color blind. He will attack a white person just as readily as he will attack a black person. And he will feel free to make further attacks if he has

Mrs. Ella Stephens. The committee of the program consisted of Mrs. Helen Banks, chairman; Mrs. Garglene Harris and Mrs. Mary Shanks. Remarks were made by the pastor, Rev. H. J. Cobb.

PERSONALS. Mrs. Russell mother of Mrs. Ethel Slade, Mrs. Catherine Thompson of Stanford Conn. were weekend Burlington guests and worshipped at the First Baptist Church at the early service.

Mrs. Pauline Johnson of Rahut Stree left Friday evening for Pittsburgh Pa. for a visit with friends. Mr. and Mrs. Simon H. Baynes of Elmford N. Y. spent Friday in Burlington visiting relatives and friends. They were the guests of Miss Lena Baynes of Graham, N. C. and left Saturday for Hampton, Va.

Mrs. Key West Ebone and daughter, Kay, are in Washington D. C. with her mother, Mrs. Maude Cobb, who is ill. Miss Sarah Hazel of Chester, Pa. is visiting relatives and friends. We hope her a pleasant stay.

GOLDSBORO RELIGIOUS LIFE GROWS, HOMES IMPROVE

FIRST AFRICAN BAPTIST CHURCH — This church, shown above, at Goldsboro, is pastored by the Rev. M. W. Morgan, insert. It is one of the most beautiful churches in this community and has the largest membership in the city. Rev. Morgan has served the congregation for the past fifteen years. His objective: "The church is primarily concerned with the saving of souls, yet it has other objectives which it strives to reach in regard to its members. The objectives are: To keep the members informed as to the activities of the church; to improve the special talents for the good of the church; to prove to every member that he forms an integral part of the church; to develop members spiritually, physically and morally; and to help the members develop a more Christian attitude towards God and mankind." Deacons are James White, William Aldridge, A. B. Reid, Richard Howell, Matthew Sherard, Delvia Lewis, Clarence Sampson, C. I. Bland, T. C. Cooley, Hardy Coffield, Earl Whitfield, Sr. and James Cowan.

Goldsboro News

By J. H. GRAHAM

GOLDSBORO — Corporal Thaddeus Rayner of the armed forces, formerly stationed at Fort Bragg, recently sent to Germany, was accidentally electrocuted while putting up an antenna. It came into contact with a high voltage wire during a high wind storm. Corp. Rayner was a native of Mt. Olive. He often visited the Bostic family at 310 South Virginia St. also was a frequent visitor to the Shiloh Presbyterian Church, Goldsboro.

Mrs. Dorothy Parker of 207 South Leslie Street is taking a special course at THE GREATER UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA, Chapel Hill.

Prof. and Mrs. James H. Carney of 508 Miller Street visited with friends and relatives in Richmond, Virginia last week.

Mr. Stephen Sherard of 510 Canal Street died Monday night after having been sick for a number of months. He was sitting on his front porch during a part of the day and all thought that he was improved until late evening when he became very ill and failed to respond to medical treatment. He is the brother of Mr. Matthew Sherard, also uncle of Mrs. Leroy Borden, wife of Prof. Borden, principal of Barnes Elementary School.

We understand that Mrs. Freda McLamb is improving nicely at the hospital.

Mr. Dock Sykes of Washington, D. C. visited with his mother, Mrs. Cera Sykes, of 416 School Street. Mrs. Alice Sykes Hogans of 309 South Virginia Street, his sister, and other relatives recently.

Our women have been wearing the sack, sheath, and chemise, but boy a boy see some of these gals on the beach and you'll wonder why so much was hidden yet there and so much to be seen. To you gals that have a husband or sweetheart I say watch your man.

QUESTION: How can I get tree seedlings for my farm? ANSWER: Contact your county farm agent. He has the necessary order blanks and price list. The county agent or your local forester can also give you advice on the most suitable type of seedling for your land. The N. C. Division of Forestry expects to have 95 million seedlings available for 1958-59 planting. But order early.

QUESTION: Japanese Beetles are appearing on my land. What can I do? ANSWER: Spray with DDT. But if the beetles are attacking vegetables, which are to be marketed within four days, you should use Malathion. DDT can be dangerous when consumed by humans. It may be necessary to spray ditch banks and other vegetation around your fields, if the beetles are to be controlled.

QUESTION: Is there any danger of lightning damaging my barn by running along an attached wire fence? ANSWER: Yes. To correct the danger ground the fence at the post nearest the barn. Make sure the ground wire is attached to each lateral strand of the fence.

CARY-ASBURY ROUNDUP

BY MISS MAE N. HOPSON

By MISS MAE N. HOPSON

CARY — The Sunday morning service at Union Bethel AME Church was well attended. Rev. J. A. Hunter, pastor, preached a wonderful sermon from the subject: "GIVEN". Among visitors was Mrs. Nell Shore of Durham, N. C. A musical program, featuring the Golden Gate Quartet of Piquette Springs and other singers, was sponsored by Mrs. Lucy Statton in the afternoon. A substantial offering was raised.

Among those who attended the singing program, which was held in the Safety Club were Mrs. Snowden Perry, Mrs. Lena Jones and Mrs. Josephine Chevis. Mrs. Jones won the first prize of ten dollars.

SICK. Mr. Horace Jones, who is in St. Agnes Hospital, is steadily improving, while Mr. Clarence Cotton is at home doing fine. Mr. Estes Barbee is at his home on East Boyd Street. Let us remember each of them in an appropriate manner.

PERSONALS. Mrs. Grace Jones of Durham is here visiting her mother, Mrs. Estelle Burrell on 815 North Academy Street.

Mrs. Louise Jones, on 122 East Johnson Street, has as her guest her brother, Mr. Samuel Hicks of Durham.

Miss Essie Davis has returned to her home in New York after spending vacation with Mr. and Mrs. Willie Woods of 301 Walker St. after spending his vacation in New York with his son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. G. Garner Jr., Mr. G. Garner has returned to his home on Washington Road.

Not been punished for prior ones. The sooner the white South learns this lesson, the sooner we will have less lawlessness, less crime by Negroes against Negroes and the more respect for the rights and privileges of all persons. Crimes against each other. That is all done by design, to keep Negroes in the South.

Ninety-six per cent of U. S. farms are family operated. Daily demand for water in the United States is estimated at 200 billion gallons. The demand may double in the next 25 years.

It Pays To ADVERTISE

SOMETHING TO THINK ABOUT

Have you ever thought how you would you feel if you turned to God for help and found that He was on vacation for the summer? Perhaps we never even let that thought enter our minds, because we know that the God whom we worship and on whom we build our faith is never on vacation and never any farther away than a prayer.

Angier News

By MRS. POLLY C. STOKES

ANGIER — A well-attended service was held at Cutts Chapel on Sunday morning amidst the summer heat. Rev. Avery preached a challenging sermon. His subject: "Get Oil In Your Vessels". Matthew 28:19. He emphasized that as Christians, the world is trying to see the light in our lives.

Moral living is not enough. The cares of the world will put out the light, he that walketh in the dark stumbles. Keep oil in your vessels and let your light shine, the light will draw someone to Jesus. The spirit ran high during the service there were several visitors present.

Holy Communion and a program followed the service in the afternoon.

IN AND OUT OF TOWN. Mrs. Amy Carlton of New York City has been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. N. C. Matthews for several weeks.

Mrs. Pearl Merritte and Miss Rosa Matthews, grandchildren of Mr. and Mrs. N. C. Matthews visited for a week.

Mr. Henry Clark and Mrs. Lector Clark of Detroit, Michigan visited relatives for a week. Other visitors in town were Mrs. Roter Bundy of New York, Mrs. Roy Dewar of Detroit, Michigan, Mr. and Mrs. Herman McLaughlin and children of Philadelphia.

Mrs. Merritte and Miss Matthews are children of Mr. Quincy Matthews.

BIRTHDAY. Deborah Saunders celebrated her birthday with a party Thursday evening. She was ten years old. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Saunders of Philadelphia.

SICK LIST. Mrs. Lillie Matthews and Mr. Madison Dewar.

THOUGHT. The integrity of men is to be measured by their conduct and not by their profession.
