WASHINGTON (ANP) — The American Council on Human Rights has called upon the Senate Judiciary Committee to reject any proposal that would allow delay in arraignment of an arrested person.

Speaking for the Council, Bedford V. Lawson, Jr., a Washington attorney, argued that "delaying arraignment places the arrested at best under duress even though he may not be physically punished."

And, secondly, he contended that good police work determining "probable cause" makes undue delay unnecessary.

Finally, said Lawson, "the present provision does not rule out all delay but only requires no unnecessary or undue delay." Lawson's testimony was given in opposition to bills under consideration before the subcommittee on Improvement of the Federal Criminal Code, which proposes to change the law requiring no unnecessary delay in arraignment of arrested.

The bills are aimed to override a Supreme Court ruling that an unnecessary delay in arraignment of prisoners is a violation of his constitutional rights.

Dr. F. L. Atkins To Deliver Summer Commencement Talk At Livingstone Fri.

Teachers College, will deliver the Commencement Address at the eighth Summer School Graduation Exercise to be held at Livingstone College on Friday, August 1, at twelve o'clock noon. The convocation will be held in the College Auditorium. The distinguished son of a distinguished father, the Atkins name has for many years been associated with the growth in the Educational System of North Carolina. Dr. S. C. Atkins was the Founder and first president of Winston-Salem Teachers College.

Dr. Francis L. Atkins is a graduate of Lincoln University in Pennsylvania, where he received his bachelor of arts degree. He earned his master of arts degree at Columbia University, and carried on further studies at the University of Chicago. Later Lincoln University conferred on him the degree of Doctor of Laws.

Dr. Atkins' first educational experience was provided through his service as assistant principal of the Columbia Heights High School in Winston-Salem. From this position he went on to serve Winston-Salem Teachers College as instructor in education, registrar and instructor in education, and, since 1934 he has been president of the college. He is a member of the Executive Committee of the Commission on ATTENDS JEHOVAH'S WITNESSES MEET — Miss Ruth Gill, formerly of Raleigh, is attending the International Convention of Jehovah's Witnesses in New York City this week. Miss Gill, who is currently doing missionary work in Port au Prince, Haiti, arrived in New York, July 26, by chartered plane along with other delegates. A graduate of Berry O'Kelly High School and Gilead College in South Lansing, New York, she has been assigned to Haiti for the past six years. Following the convention she will spend approximately two months at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Gill, Sr., 334 E. Martin Street, here in Raleigh.

Inter-racial Cooperation, a Trustee of the Coler Memorial A. M. E. Zion Church, and a member of the Executive Committee of the North Carolina Teachers' Association. Dr. Atkins also served as a member of the "Governors' Commission on Higher Education."

Under his leadership Winston-Salem Teachers College has grown and has led in several educational fields. It is one of the colleges of the state which experienced an increase in enrollment last year rather than a decrease. The college is particularly outstanding for its physical surroundings and for the national honors earned in track.

Eleven candidates will be awarded degrees at this graduation exercise. These students, coming from several parts of the nation, make up the largest number of persons to graduate at a summer convocation. They are: George Berlin Baily, Jamaica, N. Y.; George Rufus Boler, Lexington; Virginia Nell Curran, Clover, S. C.; Howard DeJano Davis, Southport, Virginia; Delores Dixon, Cherry Hill; Walter Goodman, Elkhart, Indiana; William Madison Hall, Jr., Barber; Sophia Calena Horn, Mocksville; Willie McNeill, Jr., Philadelphia, Pa.; Louise Peterkin, Dunn; and Mae Osborne Rinchard, Newton.

The degrees will be conferred by President Samuel E. Duncan.

Check Your Tires Now, "Tired" Ones Can Kill

The August issue of the Reader's Digest reports that accidents caused by tire failure are becoming the number one headache on virtually every high-speed turnpike, and the hot summer months are deadliest of all.

However, the phrase, "tire failure" is misleading. More often it is caused by human failure—failure to care for tires properly.

Paul W. Kearney lists these six safety commandments:

1. Have tires inspected periodically for uneven tread wear, rim, bruises, cuts, wheel alignments, a wheel half an inch out of line. If means the tire is being dragged sideways 87 feet in every mile—scuffing off the tread which is your protection.

2. So tires will wear evenly, change their positions every 5,000 miles. Move front wheels straight to the rear on the same side; criss-cross rear wheels to the opposite sides in front.

3. Watch inflation. On a long trip, check tire pressure every morning while tires are cold.

4. If you habitually bump curbs, buy a pair of "cats whisker" curb feelers. It doesn't take many of these—two-ton nudges to knock your front wheels out of line. If anybody in your family makes tires scream on curves and stops, throws gravel in starts, take his keys away or make him earn the price of a new set of tires.

5. With old tires on a full car, stick to the slow lane. And whether they're new or old, make those periodic stops recommended for turnpike driving.
6. Remember the safest place for smooth tires is in the asphalt. If you insist on squeezing out the last dollar's worth of mileage, keep your life insurance paid up!
