SLEEPY MAN LOCKED IN CLINIC

GOLDSBORO - Oscar Ezzell, of Mount Olive and Raleigh, al most got locked in the Wayne Memorial Health Department building. Ezzell went to a clinic at the health department shortly after lunch. He was sitting in the waiting room, waiting for a man who has brought him to the clinic to take him to Raleigh, when his presence was discovered at 9. P.M.

Dr. A. H. Chesson, health officer, had locked up after attending a TB Association meeting, and was walking down the steps when he heard a tapping. "Hey let me out of here," came a voice from within the building. When discovered, Ezzell told the health officer that he had fallen asleep during his long wait for the man who hadn't shown up.

CORRECTION FROM LAST WEEK

RALEIGH - A portion of a story entitled, "Raleigh District Sunday School Convention at Cary" was omitted last week. The story should have read: The instructors were D. L. S. Penn, senior department: Dr. G. W. Troublefield, junior department; Mrs. Lillie M. Hodge, primary department and Mrs. A. M. Jones, director of recreation activities. These persons were in charge of the convention activities and their names should have appeared as such in last wek's paper.

Church Bonus Money Rules

Eachus period

In order that smaller churches may have an equal opportunity to share in the Bonus Money the following regulation is expedient. No church of ever 260 members will be awarded list Bonus Money consecutively i.e. should a church of 200 or more members receive ist Bonus Money after the first period, it would have to wait until the third Bonus period to be presented list award again, except where a church has 200 or iess members, then it could win top Bonus awards consecutively However, this does not mean that second and third awards cannot be sought consecutively. Consequently avery church grow has the opportunity to secure an award every period.

CORONER RULES ON FATALITY

(CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1) He did say, however, that he has asked Detective Captain Robert E. Goodwin to check on the reason Perry was in that section late at night on July 28.

An autopsy was performed on Perry's body, but there was no indication of foul play found. including the brain area.

"Red" Simmons roommate of the dead man was questioned by the coroner and Deputy Sheriff Connie Hoimes. Simmons was reportedly the last person to see Perry

The coroner said that there was a three-inch gash on Perry's head and all the hair was off around that area. Because the body had been in the lake for three days, the coroner added, that terrapin and crayfish could have caused the gash.

An employe of the Raleigh Sandwich Shop, Perry had been missing since Monda? night, when last seen by Simmons at the Raleigh Memorial Auditorium. A dime and a key were the only articles found on the body. He was found Friday by the Raleigh Rescue Squad. Bennett reported that a resident of the area told him that she had heard "lots of shooting going on" at the lake about 10:p. m. Monday

Farmers Find Answer To Low Acreage

WASHINGTON, D. C. (ANP)-Many Negro farm families of the of Mr. and Mrs James J. Jones, maxed with an old fashioned melon South, like others of the reign, are turning increasingly to alternate cash crips as the answer to their Number One problem-reduced cotton acerage. However, some with too few acres are unable to make the shift.

This is how things looked to me during my recent farm visits in South Carolina, Alabama, Mis-1. A member rises and addresses issippi, and Louisiana. State and County Extension Service agents took me to see a total of 16 families in these four States, and we 4. Another member seconds the loss of cotton income Most of the farmers I visited are raising hogs for market. Some sell as many as 200 head a year, but they have their own fingers crossed fearing overproduction and a decline in price. A few have beef cattle, some are in dairying, others are marketing vegetables, three have off-farm jobs. and some in South Carolina are trying their hand at raising Turkish tobacco.

Five of the farmers have forgot about cotton, at least for this year, and have put their land in the Soil Bank to help reduce the surplus.
