

Special Church Services At Shaw For Football Players

A special service was held at Shaw University in University Church on Monday, Wednesday and Friday of last week, designed to help the athletes, who are on the campus for the first time, to thoroughly realize that they are on a church school campus. J. E. Lytle, director of Athletics spoke on Monday, outlining the University and C. I. A. standards to be met by all aspirants.

On Wednesday, Dr. Foster P. Payne, dean of the college reviewed the history of Shaw University which dates back to 1865. The school, he stated has operated for ninety three years with these objectives: "For Christ and Humanity; That Religion and Learning May Go Hand in Hand and Character Grow with Knowledge." "With these objectives as its reason for being," he declared, "Shaw University maintains its high place in American higher education."

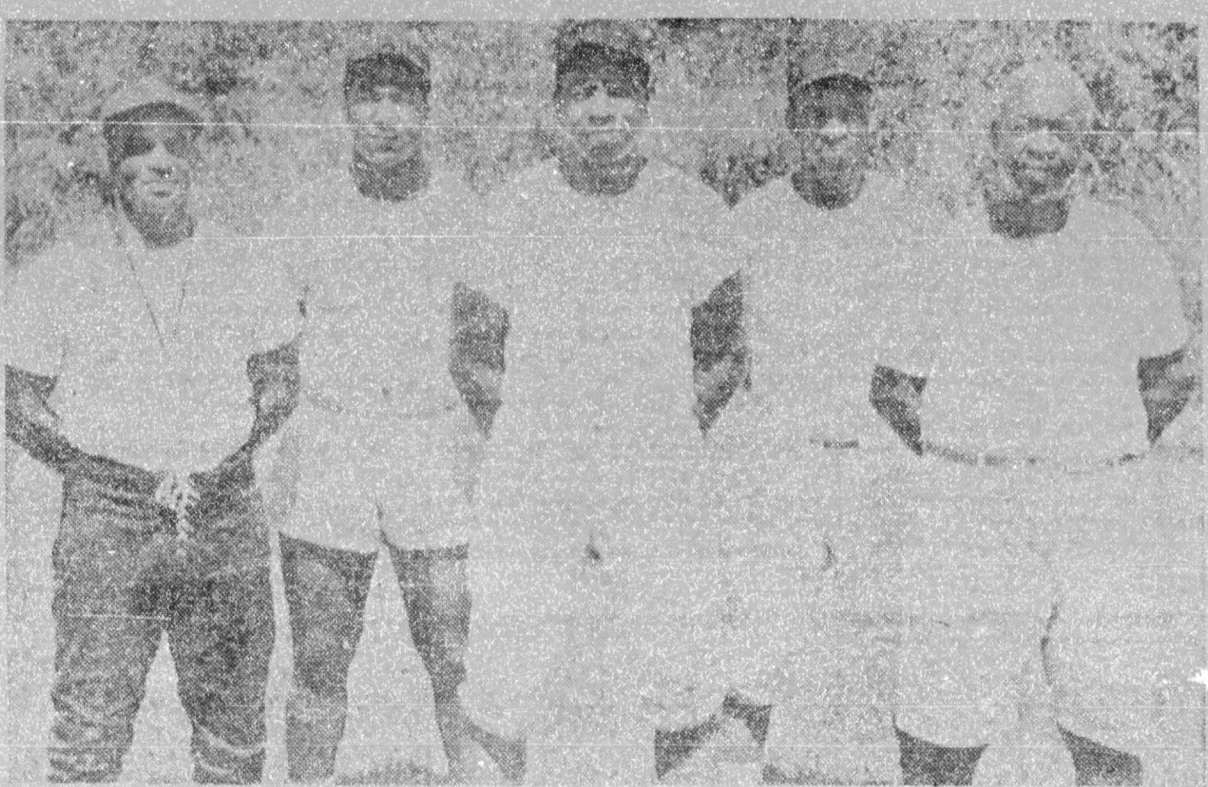

"Shaw University," he continued, "is a small college—the teachers know the students, the students know the teachers—indeed we are a family. What one does affects the others. So we are bound together by the family spirit—the Shaw Spirit."

He pointed out that the University considers the various extra class activities an integral part of its over-all educational program.

Intercollegiate athletics are an important phase of these extra class activities. The various sports represent quite an outlay in money, manpower, coaches and players. Those who participate must work hard, make sacrifices, if we are to achieve our objectives in these activities.

Some pointers which he brought out for the students to take cognizance of as athletes are 1. You are here to continue your education—to prepare yourself for some worth while life work—everything else, no matter how important it may seem, is secondary. 2. See your extra-class activities, what ever they may be in the proper relation to your ultimate goal. 3. Be diligent in your sports, be the same in your other activities—academic, social and personal living. 4. Remember that you are members of the Shaw family—that in all of your activities, you represent this family—indeed you help to make it what it is. "Be sure that you subscribe to and exhibit those things and qualities for which Shaw University exists," he concluded.

On Friday, Charles W. Block, dean of men, held a round table instructional period at the gymnasium.

Yes, We All Talk

By Marcus H. Boulware
Amendment by Deletion
Often it becomes necessary to employ the method of amending a main motion by deletion.
Suppose a club is discussing the main motion:
"I move that we send four male delegates to the annual institute in August."
During the discussion on the motion, it may become clear that the group would prefer not to discriminate in terms of sex. Thus at that moment another member might propose the following amendment (by deletion):
"Mr. Chairman, I move that we amend the motion by de-leting (striking out) the word 'male.'"
Then the chairman will say: "It has been moved and seconded that we amend the motion by deleting the word 'male,' etc."
If the amendment carries, the secretary strikes out the word "male."
Next the chairman puts the main motion as amended, and it would thus read:
"I move that we send four delegates to the annual institute in August."
More than likely the new wording will be agreeable and the members will be ready to vote on the motion as amended.

"I'll tell you who won the game in 1949—the Bureau of Internal Revenue won, that's who!"
