Gatling Stars As NCC Whips Allen, 28-6

Eagles Triumph As Senior Quarterback Sparks Play

DURHAM — In Gatling, North Carolina College senior quarterback, led the Eagles to a 28-6 victory over Allen University here on rain drenched O'Kelly Field Saturday afternoon.

It was really a big day for the bearded Newport News, Va., triple threat, who tossed scoring TD's of 11 and 22 yards to backs Fossie Barfield and Pete Hayes, and tallied two extra points on a leave to end Paul Winslow.

Gatling also was on the receiving end of a extra point tally from Captain Lloyd Eason.

After putting the spark to the Eagles midway the first quarter when the local backer up 12 yards, Gatling gained 45 yards in a 52 yard drive climaxed when Barfield roared over from the four in the second quarter.

The Eagles' heroic line played superlative ball all afternoon, with Jim Brewington, Jim Forbes, Luther Gerald, Bobby Johnson, Paul Winslow, George Wallace, Charlie Hinton, and Bob McAdam turning in sterling performances.

Al Peace recovered Yellow Jacket Nat Ray's fumble on the Allen 26 to set up NCC's final tally for the day. Gatling ran 26 yards and Eason jogged 11 more. Four plays later Gatling crashed over from the two on a keep play.

Eugene Johnson, the day's top ground gainer, gained 13 yards. He called the visitors' lone tally in the last two minutes. He bulled over from the three to cap a 47 yard sustained drive.

Jim Hogan's try for the extra point via a pass to Nat Boston was halted down by NCC's Hazel Freeman, fresh fullback from Charlotte.

In the extra point department for NCC, the Eagles having for two pointers via passes didn't meet in the first period. However, in the third period, Gatling tallied on a keep PAT try. And in the fourth quarter, Gatling connected with Paul Winslow for the conversion.

Gatling, the big star in the NCC show, completed five of eight passes for 91 yards. His first five heaves unerringly found their receivers.

On the ground, the NCC field general rushed for 46 yards in four carries for an average of 11.5 per try.

Thomas (Speedy) Johnson picked up 29 yards in six carries and Barfield gained 20 yards in five carries.

NCC piled up 15 first downs to Allen's 9. The Yellowjackets, however, outshined the Eagles 139 to 131 yards. NCC's aerial yardage of 101 to none for the visitors was the difference in the ball game.

Eagles throwers completed five of 11 passes with two heaves intercepted. Jacket tossers were unable to complete any of their six sky lines.

In the punting department, NCC booted four times for 42.0 average and Allen kicked five times for 34.4.

Showers poured down on the field intermittently during the game.

The Eagles recovered four of their five fumbles while the Jackets recovered only one of their seven bobbles.

The Eagles were penalized a total of 60 yards against 30 for the visitors.

NCC opens CIAA play on October 4 in Baltimore. At Atlanta on September 20, the NCC eleven dropped its opener to Morris Brown, 24-6.

The Eagles' first conference home game will be at O'Kelly Field on October 11 when St. Augustine's College will furnish the opposition.

Morgan's Eddie Hurt "Crying The Blues" As He Eyes Weak Spots Before NCC Tilt

BALTIMORE, Md.—It's that time again and out of Morgan State little Eddie Hurt is crying the blues.

Great mentor of 13 CIAA football champions and of one other team line fitted for the conference diadem, diminutive Mr. Hurt usually cries the blues as his season gets underway.

This year, though, Eddie has a right to cry.

Beginning his thirtieth year in coaching rugged Bear elevens with the best record in the conference on the line, Hurt finds himself with the smallest squad the Bears have had, with the exception of the World War II years. A few new recruits have trickled in since practice began to bring total Bear strength up to 45 men at the moment. But this figure, representing the havoc pelted on the Bears by graduation, withdrawals and higher academic requirements, is far down from the nearly 60 men the Bears have had.

That's not the half of it. It is the truth that the Morgan team, despite its 29-man veteran contingent, is definitely short of guards, ends, and quarterbacks.

When he unfurls his 1936 staff against the North Carolina College Eagles October 4 in the 1:30 p. m. kick-off the Bear season at Hughes Stadium, Hurt will have to pray a little that Jack Dennis and Loyd Evans will be able to quarterback all the way.

Triple-threat Dennis, 25-year-old junior from Bates High in Annapolis, will be in as first-string field general. Evans, 20-year-old senior from Pleasantville, N. J., is shoring up as a good substitute. But there are no reserve quarterbacks

Gridiron Cards Banking Heavily On Matson, Lane

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the last in the series of stories on National Football League teams and their top players.

CHICAGO (ANP) — If you pick any National Football team for a last-place finish, it will have to be the Chicago Cardinals in the Eastern Division and the Green Bay Packers in the Western Division.

But with an explosive player like Ollie Matson, some consider him the best in the business, anything can happen in a football game. But that's the trouble with the Cardinals. They haven't had much to go along with Matson, offensively speaking.

MATSON: TEAMS' TOP STAR

But they do have a darned good performer in the swift former University of San Francisco star. Despite the fact that defenses were set for him, Ollie gained 377 yards last year in 134 tries for a 4.3 average. Matson tallied six touchdowns.

If the Cardinals had a stronger passing game, Matson would be dynamite. Even with that handicap, Matson still is able to break away for the long gainers. His longest run last year was a 56-yard touchdown dash.

Matson is used by the Cards to return punts and kickoffs. But as you might surmise, the opposition makes it a practice to kick away from Ollie. He gained 137 yards in returning eight kickoffs in 1935 and 84 yards in bringing back 10 punts.

"NIGHT TRAIN" LANE, LEWIS TO SHOW WELL

The Cardinals have one of the most versatile performers in Woodley Lane, the former Oregon star. Lane can be used as offensive end, defensive halfback, punt and kickoff returner and kickoff man.

In kickoff returns last year, he picked up 682 yards in 23 times for an average of 29.2 yards. In punt returns, 175 yards in 24 times for a 7.3 average.

Lewis also intercepted two passes. He also scored five touchdowns.

The Cardinals have two tan defense aces in Dick Lane and Jimmy Hill. Lane, like Lewis, was acquired in a trade from the Los Angeles Rams. He is adept at pass interceptions and once set an NFL record for one season last year, he snared two in the Cardinal secondary.

Hill also is an accomplished pass defender and a deadly tackler. This is his fourth season with the Cardinals.

The Packers have two strong defensive ends in Nate Bolden, the former Indiana star, and Len Ford, once the most feared pass rusher in the league. Ford went to Green Bay, for a draft choice, from the Cleveland Indians.

One of the surprise moves by the Packers was the plac-

Major League Notes

CHICAGO — (ANP) — Quietly, as the 1936 major league baseball closes, Don Newcombe was making a comeback.

The big righthander, acclaimed the majors top pitcher in 1936 when he won 27 games, hasn't been the same since he was all but taken apart by the New York Yankees in the world series that year.

He is not among the pitching leaders this season, but since he has been with the Cincinnati Redlegs, Newk has given indication that he can become a big winner again.

REGAINS WINNING WAYS

He had lost seven straight when he was traded by the Los Angeles Dodgers in June. He had won only a single game. With his 7-to-1 victory over the Milwaukee Braves, temporarily halting the world champions' pennant drive, Newk's record was 7-and-13, or a 7-and-6 mark since the trade.

Newcombe has developed a sinker pitch and in the last month he won five and lost two.

In that sizzling battle for the National League's batting crown, Willie Mays forged into the lead last weekend. He raised his average from .338 to .342 and grabbed the lead from Richie Ashburn of the Cardinals.

The situation is even worse in the guard and end positions. "We were short of manpower in those spots at the beginning of our practice sessions."

Tennesseans Keep Clean Record Of 22 Victories

GREENSBORO — The A&T College Aggies fell before the Tennessee A&I State University Tigers of Nashville, Tenn., 23-6, in an opening football game for both teams here at Memorial Stadium Saturday night.

More than 6,500 fans saw the Tennesseans capitalize on breaks early in the game to go ahead and win and keep clean the record of no defeats in the last 22 starts.

Expensive Aggies miscues gave the visitors an almost hopeless edge before they could muster a real threat. A&T outgained the victors on the ground and in the air, but that was not enough for an alert bunch from Nashville.

The Tigers scored first early in the initial quarter as Wilbur Suesberry, the quarterback, sneaked over from the two yard line. The Tennesseans got possession of the ball on the Aggie five yard line as Ed Godbolt, failed to get off a fourth down kick. Suesberry kicked the extra point.

Suesberry scored the second touchdown midway the second period again on a sneak play from the two. The play was set up by a 26 yard pass from Suesberry to Charles Walker, Tiger end. Suesberry's try from placement was blocked.

The Nashville outfit went ahead 20-0 and conclude the scoring for the half as Thomas McClain, speedy halfback broke off tackle for a 23-touchdown sprint. On the previous play Norris Little, half back, had intercepted a pass thrown by Aggie quarterback Paul Swann. Suesberry kicked the extra point.

Tennessee State lost no time in starting the scoring in the third period as Gloria Gardner, substituted quarterback, kicked a field goal from the 12-yard line to put them out-front 23-0. The play was set up as McClain, blasted off a 41 yard run to the crucial spot.

The Aggies scored their lone tally midway the third period as Edward Nesbitt, the fullback yard line. The score came on the smashed through from the two tail end of a 77-yard drive. Aggie backs sliced off big hunks of yardage, including a 20-yard run by Charles Debus, a 23-yard blast by Edward Nesbitt and a 10-yard gain on a keep play by Howard Smith, the quarterback.

Nesbitt failed in the extra try from a line plunge.

McClain was the outstanding around gainer for the Tennesseans who netted 115 yards of his team's total of 124. The passing and excellent ball handling of Suesberry was also outstanding.

For the Aggies Debus and Nesbitt were best on the ground with 55 and 63-yards gained respectively. By the duo James Toon end and Harvey Stewart, guard were the defensive standouts for the defensive standouts for the Aggies.

Intra-City Rivalry: Shaw Plays Host To Grid Team From St. Aug. Sat.

The Shaw University Bears began preparation for their first home game this week against the Falcons of Saint Augustine's College. The Bears, sporting a victory of 6-0 over Virginia Union last week at Richmond, will meet their intra-city rivals at Chavis Park, Saturday, October 4. Kickoff time is scheduled for 3:00 p. m.

Coach Chilton Anderson will probably go along with the same starting eleven, although he was not impressed with last week's victory. He feels that there are a lot of mistakes to be corrected and a lot of hard work is needed in preparing for this contest.

Left halfback Eugene Hammonds who scored last week's winning touchdown, fullback Nathan Lewis, right halfback Phil Jackson and quarterback Frank Baker, complete the backfield. The line will consist of ends Glen Knight and Charles McKinsey, tackles Emanuel McNair and Herman Hinton, guards Albert McClain and Chris Clark, and center Edward Turner.

The Bears won the victory over St. Augustine's last season to the tune of 19-0.

Broncos Set For Game Vs. Howard Univ.

FAYETTEVILLE — Fayetteville State College's Broncos are getting ready for their first home game with Howard University Saturday, October 4. The game will be played at the Senior High Bowl due to renovation of the gymnasium and extensive work on the stadium.

Coach Bryant's Broncos have gained considerable experience during the past weeks and as this will be their first game on home grounds it is expected that the team will give Howard a tough battle. Fayetteville is considered the underdog for this game.

The Broncos' offensive will be centered around the veteran quarterback Co-captain James Brayboy who is an excellent passer. Other veterans in the line up will be Co-captain Charles Johnson at tackle and Fred Rogers at guard.

At halfback, Jude Wright and Jack Thompson and Sam Morton ends. Newcomers in the line up will be Richard Williams, center, and James Herbert, fullback.
