1000 BEAR WILKINS, GIVE NAACP $1150

RALEIGH — More than one thousand freedom-hungry colored Tarheelers turned out Sunday afternoon (October 12th) to hear Roy Wilkins, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP), deliver the closing address of the 15th annual convention of the North Carolina NAACP Conference of Branches which is headed by Kelly M. Alexander, Sr. of Charlotte.

Following the address, Mrs. Ruby Hurley, southeastern regional director of NAACP, working out of Atlanta, Ga. made the appeal for funds for the Freedom Fund. The audience responded with a generous $1150 donation—almost all of which was in "folding money". Among organizations making payments of $100 each on NAACP Life Memberships were the Masonic lodge and the Baptist Missionary Society. Several individuals made Life Membership payments also. Life Memberships are $500 and are payable in installments as low as $50 per year as desired.

"Eye-Dropper Integration" Wilkins, both praised and derided Tarheelers' leadership—from the State House to the luxury-living papers—for failure to advance beyond the stage of eye-dropper integration four years after the U. S. Supreme Court ordered desegregation in public schools "with all deliberate speed".

Wilkins warned that the State's main bulwark—the Pearsall Plan and pupil assignment—will only stand up if a more progressive rate of integration is attained. He expressed the conviction that it would not stand judicial scrutiny if there is evidence that it is being used solely to circumvent the Supreme Court edict.

Wilkins said if colored Tarheelers would increase their voting power from the present 135,000 to 275,000, "you could get to see the Governor, and if you would increase that vote to half a million you might get to be governor."

On Saturday afternoon, Thurgood Marshall, chief legal counsel for NAACP, flew down from the Virginia NAACP conference at Hampton, Va., for a conference with Tar Heel attorneys on desegregation strategy. Conrad O. Pearson, Durham, is chairman of the N. C. NAACP legal staff. W. A. Marsh, also Durham, is vice chairman.

Marshall talked informally to the convention delegates at Martin Street Baptist Church where he told them that "Alto segregation is dead, there is much more to be done before it is buried; so we must not stop, but work harder to finish the job." Marshall and his assistant, Jack Greenberg, got a lot of attention from newsmen, as did the other members of the national NAACP staff at the convention.

Mrs. Ruby Hurley delivered the "keynote" address on Friday night with a general review of the desegregation program and urged that colored citizens not be afraid to file for transfers for their children to "white" schools; to do it with dignity and perseverance—without anger or violence.

The Rev. E. J. Odum, Jr., national Church Secretary for NAACP Church Committee, by the conduct of the Ministers' Conference on Thursday with 75 ministers in attendance. The ministers issued a statement urging increased activity on the part of the clergy in the promotion of greater participation on the part of NAACP members, finance and more registered voters over the state.

Herbert Hill, labor secretary, reported on the need for getting the high school and college youths into the on-the-job (apprenticeship) training program in industry and utilities over the South, adding that there is no longer a place in industry for the Negroes who can do nothing but common labor. He emphasized that "there is not a man for the unskilled white man, and absolutely NOTHING for the unskilled colored man." Hill cited examples of automation effecting the common laborer when one machine and one man could supplant 42 colored laborers; and six white men with a machine could displace 92 janitors.

NAACP is opening up the doors for apprentice training for colored youths and can find jobs for skilled trainees in many areas of employment. Interested youths would do well to contact their local NAACP representative or write directly to Herbert Hill, Labor Secretary, Fifth Floor, 20 West 40th Street, New York 18, N. Y.

Herbert Wright, Youth Secretary, assisted Dr. Marguerite Adams with the State Youth and College Chapt. program with a total of 100 youths in attendance. There were 45 official adult delegates—in addition to the ministers—at the convention.

REGISTRATION OCT. 18 AND 25 CLONES MITCHELL, NAACP Washington Bureau director, reviewed the voting record of Tar Heel senators and congressmen on measures of vital interest to colored citizens. Mitchell stressed the need more than casual efforts upon the part of citizens in getting registered on the remaining Saturdays—October 18th and 25th—of the registration period in Tarheelia so as to participate in the November 4th election. In some counties (Edgecombe in the lead), few registrations are being held where everyone has to re-register again. They were urged to make the special effort needed to qualify.

President Kelly M. Alexander, Sr., and the entire staff of officers were unanimously re-elected to serve another term as leaders of the NAACP Conference. Alexander has served as the titular head—with much acclaim—since 1948. He is also a national NAACP board member, a life member of NAACP, and chairman of the Southeastern NAACP Registration and Vote Committee. His leadership has been "a throne-in-the-flesh" to Tar Heel segregationists for years, much to the delight of his followers—and even those who followed "far off."

The 1959 convention will be held in Asheville during October. JOHN W. BULLOCK BURIED AT ROCKY MOUNT, funeral and burial were conducted October 8th for John W. Bullock, prominent merchant-farmer of the Leggett community of Edgecombe County, who passed after a brief illness and short period of hospitalization.

The Rev. Terrence V. Foster, Sr., pastor of the Leggett Baptist Church, preached the funeral following in the Rocky Mount cemetery. Survivors include the widow, Mrs. Rebecca Bullock; one sister, Mrs. Lillian B. Lewis of Washington, D. C.; several nephews, nieces and three great-grandchildren.

By MISS MAE N. HOPSON

P.T.A. NEWS CARY — The Cary Elementary School held its regular P.T.A. meeting, Monday night, October 20, at 8:00 o'clock in the school auditorium. The P.T.A. program committee met October 11, to make plans for the year's work. The theme for the year is "Our Future Goes to School Today." Several outstanding speakers are included on the agenda. More active parent-teacher participation is planned. Several social events will be included. The committee will report each month's program in its entirety.

On Saturday, October 11, The Oceanic Council and the Shaw University Bears played host to Boy and Cub Scouts from various Council Areas for a successful recruiting program instituted during September.

The Boys were treated to hot dogs and drinks and later to a marvelous and exciting football game between the Shaw Bears and the Virginia State College Trojans. Boys from the Cary Troop and Pack 188 were: James Mariotti, Clyde Chavis, Elmo Abram, Harlen Clark, William McClain, James Cobb, Jessie Cobb, Larry Stewart and Vando Yates.

A splendid time was enjoyed by all. This year, the Girl Scouts are going right back to work. We have elected our new officers. They are: President, Carolyn Farrar; Vice President, Ada Raye Mills; Secretary, Brenda Hill; assistant secretary, Gwendolyn Matthews; treasurer, Barbara Harris. The name of the club is the Loyal Six Graders. Mrs. E. H. Holt is the teacher and advisor.

Several pupils in the sixth grade received answers from the letters they wrote to "Little Jack," the pup presented at our school week by the Division of Oral Hygiene. SEVENTH GRADE Appearing on a roll of honor from the 7th grade are the following names: Gail Evans, Lucille Evans, Ann Carter, Leon Harding, Clyde Chavis, Hazel Thomas, Judith Hall, Margaret Wright, Janice Battle, Joyce Griffin, Stella Hill, Margaret Gleason. This list has been prepared from Measured Achievements in both academics and attitudes.

GIRL'S COUNCIL The Girl's Council met October 8 and elected officers as follows: President, Ada Faye Mills; vice president, Gertrude Clark; secretary, Carolyn Farrar; assistant secretary, Janice Battle; treasurer, Faye Bell. Our counselors are Mrs. L. W. Logan, chairman, Mrs. A. T. Webb, Mrs. E. H. Holt, and Miss W. McCrea.

The officers of the girl's council are very happy and proud to be able to serve in the capacity as council leaders. SAVANNAH HIGH NEWS NFA BASKETBALL GAME GRIFTON — In a benefit game the Savannah New Farmers of America Chapter played a pre-season basketball game against the chapter of Woodington High School. It was a game that intrigued the students from start to finish. The Savannah NFA boys won from their arch rivals by the score of 28-18.

Prior to the basketball game, Lola Tillman, a charming senior was crowned "Miss NFA." She won over 8 girls who were competing for the title. FIRE PREVENTION WEEK OBSERVED Fire Prevention Week was observed at Savannah during the week of October 6-10. Climaxing the observance a fire drill was performed, with Etta Koonce acting as the director. She was assisted on the corridors and grounds by Linwood Sutton, Mary Alice Copes and Rosa Wells.

STUDENT COUNCIL OUTLOOK The Student Council of Savannah conducted its initial assembly program recently. The Council explained the work and duties of the Student Council. New officers were installed by Principal R. L. Flanagan. The officers of the council are: Charlotte Dawson and Emphur E. Rouse, presidents; Willie Skinner, vice-president; Edna Koonce, secretary; George Farrow, assistant secretary; Josephine Wells, treasurer; Nellie Kinsey, reporter; Lola M. Tillman, parliamentary.

The Student Council is a growing organization of the school. It was recently affiliated with the state and national association. This year the Council has chosen for its project "A Study of Good Citizenship Throughout The School." Each month a student will be selected as "Citizen" of the month. In order to be eligible the student must exemplify the following qualifications: A good citizen who speaks the truth, be polite to everyone, be kind and helpful, must not be a disturber of peace, must not waste his time, must be careful of the use of school property and must obey all health and school laws.

The Student Council plans to attend the State Student Council Convention which will be held in Goldsboro on December 11-12. Delegates this year are Charlotte Dawson, president, and vice-president, Mary Alice Copes. James Davis, A. Strode and Bertha W. Dixon are advisors for the group. GIRLS COMPETING Six girls are competing for "Miss Fashionista," "Junior Fashionista," and "Future Fashionista" at Savannah. They will be competing for the titles against girls from Adick High, Woodington High, Pink High and Greene County Training School of Snow Hill. Girls at Savannah who are competing are: Etta Joyce Koonce, west of Lincoln St. and south of Logan Drive and Mrs. Harriet Stafford, China, Ring, and Love Streets.

The two areas of Woodgate, Terrace and Young and Pottum Streets do not have workers yet. SICK AND SHUT-INS Mrs. Fannie McBride, Mrs. Carolyn Woods, Mrs. Estella Fulley and Mrs. Kissia Johnson.

Rush Memorial A. M. E. ZION Church News

By MRS. ANNIE H. THORPE

The 2nd Sunday had rolled around again and the junior choir again had charge of the music. We have just closed one of the finest revival services one could hope to have and enjoy. We can truthfully say that Rev. Hazel Brownrigg is a great evangelist and is doing a great work for Christ.

We pray that God will ever bless and keep her in His care. As a result of this fine revival several promising young people joined the church. The services were largely attended. The choir led the processional singing, "God of Our Fathers." The first hymn, "Am I a Soldier of the Cross," was sung, lined by our pastor, Rev. W. D. Carson.

The responsive reading was for the 41st Sunday, "The Helper of The Afflicted." Scripture lesson was read by our pastor from the 5th chapter of Galatians, comprising the entire chapter. The inspirational prayer was also offered by him. Our 2nd hymn, "Go Labor On! Spend and Be Spent" was sung as the congregation sat prayerfully.

The minister then chose his text from Gal. 6:7. "Be not deceived; God is not mocked; for whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap." There were two kinds of seed, the "Good and Bad." The minister solemnly was at his best because the message was so timely and was a much needed one in these evil and trying days. We could readily say with those of old, "did not your hearts burn, while the man of God poured out the word of the scriptures?"

ST. MARY NEWS By MRS. PEARL L. ADAMS Sunday was the end of our last quarterly meeting for the year of 1958 at the St. Mary Church. Our pastor, Rev. A. D. Herring, preached a wonderful sermon which was enjoyed by all. Collection was $39.00. We were all happy to see Sister Ella Mae Taylor at church. She has been ill for some time.
