"TALK TO ME"—Miss Alene Sampson swings this number and others on most weekends at the Press Club, this city. "Bert" Lytell and "Boots" Bryant, co-owners of the establishment, have secured the services of the Rhythm Kings orchestra of Cumberland County to play at the club for several weekends straight.

IN PRACTICE AT REX HOSPITAL—Pictured left to right are Miss Jessie Bullock of Macesfield, and Miss Ethel Welborn of Thomasville, who are seniors in the Home Economics Department of Shaw University. These women majors in Institutional Management and are getting on-the-job practice and experience at Rex Hospital. They are writing menus for the special diet patients, using the hospital catalogue of menus as a guide. Although this is the first time Shaw students have worked at Rex, they have practiced at St. Agnes and in at least eight public schools in Raleigh.

Dr. F. D. Patterson In Bennett Address

GREENSBORO—Since our nation must be guided by the rule of law, American citizens cannot, therefore, decide which laws they will obey and which laws they will ignore, Dr. Frederick D. Patterson of New York City told the vespers audience at Bennett College Sunday morning.

Dr. Patterson, former president of Tuskegee Institute at Tuskegee, Alabama and presently president of the Phelps-Stokes Foundation and chairman of the Bennett board of trustees, was referring to the efforts of some Southern states to resist the decisions of the U. S. Supreme Court calling for an end to segregation in public schools.

"The furor in the press about what is happening in Arkansas and Virginia," he declared, "reflects the results of efforts to evade rather than to comply with the law. This is largely the work of unscrupulous and self-seeking politicians."

Referring to the recent bombings of churches and synagogues, Dr. Patterson said, "These incidents, terrible as they are, reflect the frustration and unhappiness of those ill-equipped to meet the strain and stress of living. They have too few resources with which to meet the real or imagined hardships they face, so they lash out to blind fury to hurt others. Angry and violent outburst reflect personal inadequacy and may be a companion of disease of the mind or the body."

The speaker referred to "quiet but significant" changes outside the courts which are serving to improve human relations. The opening of inter-denominational religious centers in New York and Atlanta, the recognition by a single standard of Negro institutions through membership in the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools and the close screening of students for ability and performance were cited as indicative of this change.

Scientific inquiry, Dr. Patterson said, is stripping from mankind the cloak of superstition and prejudice, so that more and more the average citizen must face up to the hard fact of personal worth and individual merit.

"The world in which we live," he stated, "must for the sake of mankind's survival, be a world that recognizes and uses competence without regard to race, creed, religion or sex."

He challenged the Bennett student body to learn to communicate achieving complete understanding with their fellowmen, and to cope with whatever situations in which they find themselves by being adequate for the occasion. Progress often comes, he concluded, from those who do not have the answers; they don't know what cannot be done.

Dr. James L. Martin To Keynote Shaw's Founder's Day Nov. 21st

Dr. William R. Strassner, president of Shaw University has announced that Founder's Day and Homecoming events have been set for Friday, Saturday and Sunday, November 21, 22, and 23, respectively.

Dr. James L. Martin, physician of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, and a graduate of the Shaw Leonard Medical School in 1906, will deliver the Founder's Day address, marking the ninety-third anniversary of Shaw University on Friday morning at 11:00 a. m. in University Church.

Auditorium: 1:00 p.m. Band Concert Spaulding Gymnasium. The Homecoming parade will start from Raleigh Memorial Auditorium at 3:00 p.m. and will end at Chavis Park. The Shaw Bears will play the Maryland State Hawks in a football contest at 4:00 p.m. in Chavis Park. Music on the march and at halftime will be furnished by the following high school bands: Jordan Sellars High School, Burlington; Johnston County Training School, Smithfield; Lincoln High School, Chapel Hill; Bladen County Central High School, Elizabethtown; Darden High School, Wilson; Booker T. Washington High School, Rocky Mount; Wilkeson Senior High School, Wilkeson; Spaulding High School, Spring Hope; and J. W. Ligon Junior-Senior High School, Raleigh.

Lovely Shirley Frances Parker, a senior of Newton Grove, and a business education major, will reign over the Homecoming festivities as "Miss Shaw University." Her attendants are Iris Hairston, a junior of Walnut Cove, and Myrtle Streater, a senior of Greenville.

The Shaw University Theological Alumni will sponsor the final Homecoming service in University Church at 11:00 a.m. on Sunday, November 23.

DR. JAMES L. MARTIN

The traditional grave ceremony will begin at 10:45 a.m. Other events scheduled for Friday are a luncheon in the University dining hall at 1:00 p.m., a fellowship dinner in the dining hall at 5:15 p.m. and a concert featuring the University Choral Society in Greenleaf Auditorium.

On Saturday, November 22, the entertainment for Shaw Alumni, students, faculty and friends, has been planned as follows: 9:00-9:30 a.m. Homecoming Breakfast, Spaulding Gymnasium; 9:00-9:50 a.m. Pan-Hellenic Coffee Hour, Student Center—West Campus; 10:00 a.m. the Annual Alumni Meeting—West Campus.

A & T To Offer Short Course In Horticulture

GREENSBORO—A short course in General Horticulture, aimed at assisting the home gardener, members of garden clubs and teachers is to be offered soon at A&T College.

The instruction program will include lectures and demonstrations on such subjects as plant propagation, growing plants and flowers in and out of doors, evaluation of plant quality and insect and plant disease control.

The class will meet each Tuesday evening for 2 hours, beginning at 7:00 p. m. on November 11, and will extend for a six weeks period. Instruction is to be handled by members of the faculty at the college and members of the staff of the A&T College Extension Service.

B. W. Harris, director of Short Courses, said that applications are now being received and will be accepted up to the opening night. Full information may be procured by calling or writing to his office on the college campus.

Pearl Bailey, Husband Plan A 'Big Band'

LOS ANGELES—(ANP)—What might launch the return of big bands and stage shows will have its beginning in January when Pearl Bailey and hubby Louis Bellson kick off a one and a half hour stage show with a 12-piece band.

The prospective tour will begin after Pearl completes her role in Sam Goldwyn's "Porgy and Bess." The stage show part will be known as "Pearlie Mae's Luau Room," an original Bailey concoction. Her husband will be in charge of the 15-member orchestra which will not only furnish musical accompaniment but also delve into the intricacies of the jazz idiom as a featured unit.

The show opens at the Chase Theatre, Jan. 14, in St. Louis, for a two-week run, followed by a similar engagement at the Apollo, New York.
