(CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1) The members of the panel consisted of Frank Sanders, Carl Hinton, Antonette Spaulding, and Shelby Rodgers. The second part was a skit, involving a family with problems, who sought to solve these problems by carrying out certain New Year's resolutions. Three months later the results of following through with the resolutions are shown by the fewer number of problems and the happiness that is now a part of the complete family. Characters in the skit were Patricia Malone, Raymond Henderson, Ira Frazier, Elvira Quick, and Alicia Bass. HELD IN SHOOTING LA GRANGE — Woodrow May, local resident, is being held in jail here without privilege of bond on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon with intent to kill. May, who was picked up three hours after the shooting, shot Jim Sutton, 20, in the stomach while he was in the home of Miss Lizzie May Pensall Thursday night. May is alleged to have shot through the window. Sutton's condition is described as critical by officials at Lenoir Memorial Hospital, Kingston.

ROBBERY IS REPORTED RALEIGH — A 39-year-old Negro man reported to police Sunday that he was held up at gunpoint by two boys, who robbed him of $60. Craig Broadway of 12 Parham Alley told Raleigh Patrolmen C. C. Heath and J. P. Broadwell that two white boys held him up while he was going north on Salisbury, near the intersection with North Street. Broadway said the youth took $60 from him.

LUMBEES SET KLAN "WAR" CELEBRATION (CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1) play, the KKK banner of Gold, by running in under a cover of sniping rifle and pistol fire and tipping it from a Klan automobile. That brief hour of gunfire and shouting was heard around the world and focused attention on the little-known Indian group that makes up a sizeable portion of Robeson County's population. If all the attention focused on the Indians made them celebrities, they are probably the world's most reluctant ones. There is a story told of the Lumbeeland in the days following the war between the states when even the location of their center — "Scuffletown" — was kept secret. Strangers inquiring how they might reach the town were always told to keep traveling in the direction they were following. Eventually some found their way to Maxton, Rowland, Lumberton or Fairmont — depending on which way they were heading. None ever reached "Scuffletown." Denied schools from the time they were disfranchised by the North Carolina Constitution of 1875, until 1887, when Pembroke State College was at its beginnings, the present-day progress of the Lumbees is considered a modern miracle in this area. By an ironic circumstance, and a technicality of the law, federal aid is not extended to the Lumbees as it is to other tribes. The reason is the Lumbees were never at war with the United States and therefore, no treaty was ever signed. The industry, energy and determination of these usually quiet Indians have, however, earned them the respect of their white neighbors who live, work and play alongside them.

HOME LIFE DETERMINES FREEDOM (CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1) of adequate parental attention and guidance," he said. Madison reported that the superintendent of the school had recently reported that "progress for both boys has been good, considering the length of time at the school and their adjustment to the school program has been normal. Both boys are attending classes regularly at the school." Madison reported that school officials would be glad to return the children to the custody of their families as soon as they are convinced the parents will not neglect them and will give "reasonable protection, guidance and home care." That will be done, he said, without any legal action by anyone, prompted for whatever purpose or motive. His statement was in obvious reference to the NAACP statement that it was planning legal action to release the boys. Madison said the Thompson boy's mother "claims her husband deserted her and one child in 1941 and since then she has admitted, lived with a succession of men. Birth records show that 10 children have been born to Mrs. Evelyn Nicholson Thompson. She has a poor reputation in the Community."

WOMAN, TWO KIDS DIE IN FLAMES

TRIO BOUND OVER FOR ROBBERY

(CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1) Quiller produced a gun and robbed White's 19-year-old son of the money and his watch. White called the sheriff's office which alerted the highway patrol and other law enforcement agencies in this area. Chapel Hill Police, Orange County deputies and highway Patrolman I. P. Gordon of Durham set up a roadblock on U. S. 15-501 at the Chatham-Orange County line. The car with the three Negro men and two hitchhiking sailors they picked up after the robbery reached the roadblock a few minutes later. The Negroes surrendered and Emerson said they admitted the robbery. The pistol and the money were found in the car. The three Negroes were bound over Saturday.

DR. ALFORD NOT PRESENT FOR CAUCUS

(CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1) cognition and even his house seat pending an investigation of charges that his election was fraudulent. But some of his friends hinted that Alford may not be on hand at the opening of Congress Wednesday when house members take their oath of office in a body. His decision to avoid the democratic caucus, and possibly the opening of Congress, obviously was designed to avoid a direct challenge to his right to be seated as a democrat. The House Elections Committee has recommended that Alford be denied his seat pending a full-scale investigation of a complaint that he was elected by illegal means.

The complaint was made by John Wells, publisher of a Little Rock, Ark. weekly newspaper. Hays did not contest Alford's election. House leaders, however, were said to be opposed to the procedure recommended by the committee. Under normal procedure, a challenged house member is allowed to take his seat while the investigation of his election is in progress. A house member can be removed from office later if the inquiry discloses his election was fraudulent. Such action rarely is taken. Hays was the democratic nominee in the election and had no opposition until Alford launched his write-in campaign with the backing of Clay Crystal Fabus shortly before election day. He defeated Hays by a narrow margin.

DAVIS' RITES UNDECIDED AT PRESS TIME

(CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1) of absence from the Ambassador when the legislature met. Mayor William G. Entoe of Raleigh said: "Raleigh has lost a highly respected citizen in the passing of Hugh Davis. He was a good friend of mine." Mr. Davis, approximately 70 years of age, also chaffered 3541 Gen. J. Van B. Metts for several years. He was a native of Lenoir and his immediate survivor is his wife, who resides at the home.

FAYETTEVILLE WIFE RAPED IN APARTMENT

(CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1) mit to his carnal desires. This aroused the people in the large apartment house and the alarm went out. Mrs. York alleged that the man rapped at the door and when she answered his knock he told her that he had come to bring some papers for her husband. Thinking that it was important to her husband to have the papers, she is alleged to have allowed him to enter. Once on the inside, it is further alleged that he brandished the knife on the attractive young mother and threatened her life if she did not submit to his desires. The search began after she notified other persons in the building and the police were called in. The search became more intense throughout Monday and Walter Brimston, 26, was nabbed by city police Monday night. Mrs. York was able to give the police a vivid description of her attacker. He turned out to be a man who was paroled from a New York prison some years ago where he served a term for armed robbery. Investigation showed that the accused man worked in the vicinity of the husband's office and is believed to have known the working habits of the newspaperman. Mr. York could not be reached for comment. Mrs. York is alleged to have stated that his duties made it necessary for him to spend considerable time away from his family, both night and day.

Three-Man Court Hears The Holt Case Arguments

Mr. Ellis found it difficult at times to explain why the Board did some things, which were designed to bar the boy on account of race. There was also the refer-

Willow Springs Man Bound Over In Death Of Johnny Norman Here

Judge Albert Doub of Raleigh's City Court bound Lumis Buddy Merritt, 48, of Willow Springs, over to Wake Superior Court Monday on a charge of murdering Johnny Norman with a .12 gauge shotgun Saturday morning. Merritt received a preliminary hearing and was bound over after probable cause was found. The slaying allegedly took place in the 300 block of W. South Street. The judge refused to allow bond for the defendant. Described as talkative, Merritt reportedly confessed to the slaying following his arrest Saturday. Norman lived at 204 1/2 W. South Street.

Merritt is alleged to have told detectives how he tracked down Norman and shot him, hitting him in the upper part of the right thigh. Norman was pronounced dead upon arrival at St. Agnes Hospital. The detectives said Merritt and Norman had an argument in Raleigh Friday night over a woman, and Norman is said to have slapped Merritt. Merritt said he took a bus to Willow Springs at 3:30 a.m. Saturday, got his shotgun and wrapped it in a newspaper, and headed back to Raleigh by bus. His wife is said to have accompanied him on the return trip. After leaving his wife at a friend's home here, Merritt said he started looking for Norman. He first went to the dead man's home. Unable to locate him there, Merritt said he next went to Edna's Cafe in the 300 block of W. South Street, but again could not locate Norman. When he returned to the 300 block of the street, Merritt found Norman, and said to him: 'Ain't no need to run now because I'm going to shoot you. Norman was reportedly shot as he ran up the street. Merritt was arrested at 2:30 p.m. on W. Cabarrus Street, three hours after the slaying. He was in the company of his wife when caught.

TRENT TO RALEIGH MONDAY — W. J. Trent, Jr., executive secretary of the United Negro College Fund, will speak at Shaw University in Greensboro, Monday morning at 10 o'clock. Mr. Trent, a native of Salisbury, is the son of the former president of Livingstone College, Dr. W. J. Trent, Sr.

Church Bonus Money Rules

All purchase slips or receipts presented to your church must come from stores advertising in THE CAROLINIAN. Each week carries a date in the Bonus Money period. Purchases eligible must come from the store during the week the "ad" appears. No purchase slips representing a business should be submitted. All receipts must come from individual purchases. All churches in Raleigh and Wake County are eligible. All purchase slips must bear the name of the store from which the purchase was made. All purchase slips should be submitted in the name of the church and should be in the office of THE CAROLINIAN the Monday following close of Bonus period. In order that smaller churches may have an equal opportunity to share in the Bonus Money the following regulation is expedient. No church of over 500 members will be awarded 1st Bonus Money consecutively, i.e. should a church of 200 or more members receive 1st Bonus Money after the first period, it would have to wait until the third Bonus period to be presented 1st award again, except where a church has 200 or less members, then it could win top Bonus awards consecutively. However, this does not mean that second and third awards cannot be sought consecutively. Consequently every church group has the opportunity to secure an award every period. No purchase of over $300 per any one merchant during a week can be counted. There is a ceiling of $35 per person a week for grocery purchases. In the event of the same amount of purchases by more than one entry, the award will be divided. Weekly purchase totals should be shown on each packet and total placed on the outside of the envelope carrying the period's entry along with name and address. Bonus money earners will be announced in the issue following the closing of each period. All entries remain the property of THE CAROLINIAN. All entries are final when the names of the Bonus Money earners are announced in THE CAROLINIAN, and no responsibility is accepted by this newspaper beyond that point. No receipts from books will be considered, except payment on mortgages.
