

Duke Students And Faculty Group Seek Integration

THE CAROLINIAN

North Carolina's Leading Weekly

VOL. 18, NO. 16 SATURDAY, JANUARY 17, 1959 RALEIGH, N. C. PRICE 12c IN N. C.; ELSEWHERE 15c

Dr. Julian, Others To Speak Here

MOM STABS ONE KID, DROWNS TWO IN PAIL

"Children Better Off With God," Mother Tells Police

CORBIN, Va. — "The children will be better off with the Lord," said Mrs. Winifred Browder to the police after she allegedly killed her three offspring Tuesday. Mrs. Browder said she was satisfied that God would forgive her.

The woman, who is 33-years-old, stabbed five-year-old Jo Ann in the throat with a pair of scissors and drowned the other two tots in a pail of water.

They were Edgar, Jr., 3-years-old, and 20-month-old Sidney.

She said: "I thought they would be better off . . . they were so young that they have a long way to go.

"I regret leaving God, but I don't regret my children being in heaven now. I knew that

DR. PERCY L. JULIAN
to speak February 16

GERALD JOHNSON
to begin series

Institute Of Religion Is Planned

Three nationally-known journalists and authors, an outstanding scientist, a United States Senator, and the "Father of Modern Republicanism" will be featured in Raleigh's twenty-ninth annual Institute of Religion beginning January 19. Speakers will be heard on six successive Monday nights on the general theme of "Man's Expanding Orbits." Sponsored by the United Church, the Institute has long been a community institution and all sessions will be open to the public.

Leading off the series on January 19 will be Gerald W. Johnson, Raleigh-Carolina native whose career spans more than thirty years, and whose journalistic career has covered more than thirty years. Most recently he has been associated with the "Callitmore Sun" and "New Republic Magazine." He has also produced a popular television program in Baltimore and has pub-

Ruling On Greensboro Golf Case By Supreme Court Due

WASHINGTON—The Supreme Court agreed Monday to rule on a civil rights case brought by six Negroes who were sentenced to 30 days in jail for trespassing when they tried to play golf on a public course at Greensboro.

The Negroes were arrested at the Gillespie Park Golf Club Dec. 7, 1955, after they paid 75 cents fees and started out on the course despite orders to leave. The course, once-city operated, had been leased by Greensboro so it could be run as a public—but not municipal—course for whites only.

The court now will hear arguments on the Negroes' appeal and hand down a written opinion later.

In a second civil rights case, the court refused to hear a Savannah, Ga., Negro woman's challenge of racial segregation in federally-aided public housing. Mrs. Queen Choon's appeal was rejected in a brief order. Two lower courts ruled that technically she had no right to sue.

The North Carolina golf courses case reached the Supreme Court after the Negroes involved had been twice convicted in the Greensboro Municipal Court of breaking a state trespass law.

The North Carolina Supreme Court reversed their first conviction on a technically but affirmed the second on June 4, 1958. Between the two decisions, Federal Judge Johnson J. Hayes ruled that Negroes could not be excluded from the Gillespie Golf Course.

Slight Chance Seen Now For Legislation On Civil Rights

WASHINGTON—Liberal Senators Tuesday foresaw only a slim chance for civil rights legislation in the wake of the Senate's refusal to make a major change in its anti-bipartisan rule.

The four-day filibuster fight ended Monday night when the Senate approved, 72 to 22, a compromise by Democratic leader Lyndon B. Johnson (Tex.) providing for a mild rule modification.

But the liberal bloc, which sought tighter debate curbs, promised to renew the battle in the next congress. Sen. Clifford P. Case (R-N. J.), a leader of the bipartisan group, said: "This is only a battle and not the war."

The Johnson provision provides

Georgia U. Halts All Admissions

ATLANTA—Admissions to all schools in the Georgia State University System were stopped indefinitely Monday by the State Board of Regents.

The action was in compliance with a recommendation by Governor-elect Ernest Vandiver. Following the federal district court decision Saturday that qualified Negroes must be admitted to Georgia State College of Business Administration, Vandiver suggested that all applications be suspended until the

Circulates Petitions At Durham

DURHAM — Several Duke University students, with some faculty backing, are circulating petitions seeking removal of all racial restrictions in the university's admission policy.

Three "interested students" are circulating a petition among the university's undergraduates. A well-organized group, which includes some faculty members, is OFF ON SECOND ASSIGNMENT — Dr. Alton G. Moran, president of Hampton Institute, Virginia, departed from New York's Idlewild Airport last week for a two month lecture and discussion tour of the Asian Republic. Chosen by the U. S. State Department to interpret this country to India, Dr. Moran will speak to groups of scholars and educators, government and business leaders and other groups. This is Dr. Moran's second assignment from the State Department. His first appointment was to head the U. S. delegation to the World Studies Conference in Jamaica, 1957, which marked the first time a Negro had been chosen to head a delegation from this country to an international conference.

Records Of Voters Are Given Up

MONTGOMERY, Ala. — Agents for the U. S. Civil Rights Commission Tuesday won the right to examine disputed voter registration records which a defiant Alabama judge had withheld.

Judge George Wallace of Circuit Court, admittedly inviting a jail term for contempt, turned the voter files over to hurriedly called

Flames Kill Youngster At Raleigh

A six-year-old girl succumbed Saturday night to burns she received when her dress caught fire from an open heater.

Perle Mae Watkins died of second and third degree burns, which doctors said scorched her body from neck to knees. Her death came at St. Agnes Hospital some six hours after the fire.

Police said she had been standing near the heater but ran out into a street when the clothing flamed. Her mother, Mrs. Louise Watkins, who was using a neighbor's telephone, saw the child running with her clothing afire.

She rushed to the girl and smothered the flames with a blanket but was too late to prevent the fatal burns.

"Carolina Kissing Case" To Be Appealed, Leader Says

WALDESBORO — Robert K. Williams, president of the United Council for the Advancement of Colored People, told newsmen this week that the decision regarding a kissing case in this town would be appealed.

A petition requesting the return from Morrison Training School of the two young boys, who were sent there for kissing a white girl, was dismissed here Monday afternoon.

Williams said he had been standing near the heater but ran out into a street when the clothing flamed. Her mother, Mrs. Louise Watkins, who was using a neighbor's telephone, saw the child running with her clothing afire.

She rushed to the girl and smothered the flames with a blanket but was too late to prevent the fatal burns.

Fire Destroys 2 Homes In Winston-Salem Area

WINSTON-SALEM — Two homes burned to the ground here late Friday and a young mother and child had a narrow escape in one of the blazes.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Hill was destroyed in a blaze which started shortly before 6 P. M. Mrs. Hill said she was reading and awoke to find the house engulfed in flames. She only had time to grab her five-year-old child and flee from the wind-whipped fire. Hill, an employee of the Major Bottling Co. here, was away at work at the time.

Mr. and Mrs. Dave Burden, an elderly couple, were away from their five-room home located just inside the city limits when it caught the fire Friday afternoon.

"INTEGRATION IN 10 YEARS?"

MEMPHIS, Tenn.—Dr. E. Stanley Jones, world-famous Methodist evangelist and missionary, predicts that school integration will be accomplished in the South in the next 10 years.

When it happens, Jones told a church audience Sunday night, "Our Democracy will be sounder and our consciences clearer." He said fears of intermarriage are groundless.

"Segregation in the South now is only a figment of imagination. Negroes work in our homes, handle our food and care for our young. What difference does it make if Negroes sit alongside our children in schools?"

Haliwa Indians' School Part Of Warren System

The two-year-old fight waged by the Haliwa Indians of Warren and Halifax Counties came to an end last week when it was revealed that they have won their own school.

Clashes of the long battle, began two years ago when the Haliwas concluded their own private institution near Hollister, was rechartered when the school was designated a part of the Warren County Public School System.

The state allocated teachers

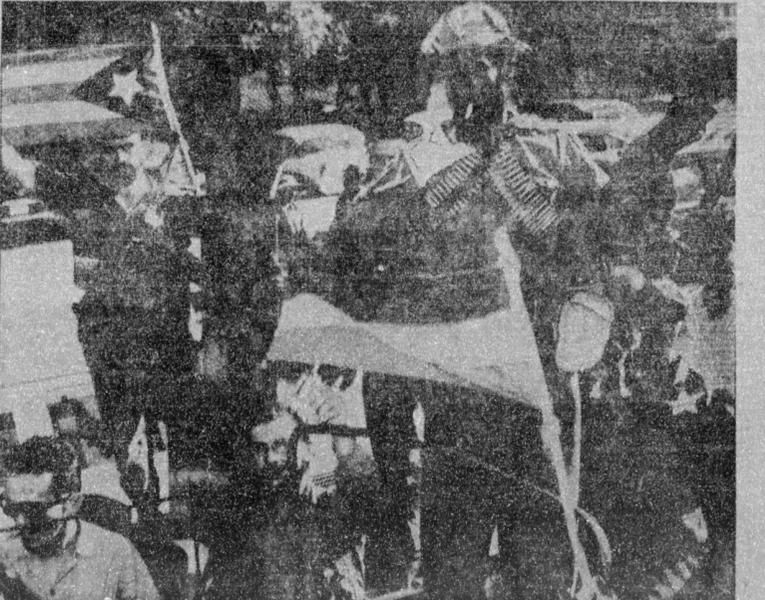

JUMPED FROM BURNING PLANE — Four of the eight Navy aviators who parachuted to safety from a burning patrol plane, point to the spot on the map where the plane crashed near San Diego, Calif., recently. The survivors said the two pilots of the aircraft gave up their lives so the other men could leap to safety from the torpedo-laden craft. Left to right are: Allen F. Van of Harrodsburg, Ky.; Lewis H. Wheeler, of Marquette, Mich.; Lawrence Gabbert of Belmont, Mich.; and Richard Reiserman, of San Diego, Calif. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

State News Brief

BUSINESS, PROFESSIONAL LEAGUE MEET
RALEIGH — The Raleigh and Wake County Business and Professional League met at the Bloodworth Street YMCA Tuesday night of this week. Carter Charles Smith, Jr., president, presided. Reports of

CAROLINIAN ADVERTISERS BUY FROM THEM

- PAGE 2: Modern Finance Co, Horton's Cash Store
- PAGE 3: First Citizens Bank & Trust Co, Raleigh Savings & Loan Association
- PAGE 4: Hudson-Bell Company, The Capital Cereals-Cola Bottling Co, Mr. John W. Winters, Wimbler's Electric Company
- PAGE 5: R. E. Quinn Furniture Co, Raleigh Funeral Home, Keane's Grocery, Surety Enterprises Company, Odum Cut Rate Store, Carolina Power & Light Company
- PAGE 6: Raleigh Seafood Company, Capital Loan Company, Inc., Belle Vaughan Co., Hamilton Grocery
- PAGE 7: Colonial Stores, The Hood System Industrial Bank, Standard Cider Block Co., Taylor Radio & TV Service, Mr. C. Karl Litchman, Raleigh Commission House, Inc.
- PAGE 8: A & P Super Markets
- Pine State Creamery, Phoenix Stores, Ambassador Theatre, Famous Bakeries, New Lincoln Cafe, Duke Street Coin Laundry, Washington Terrace Apartments
- PAGE 10: Bloodworth St. Tourist Home, Greer-Wool Company, Caviness Insurance Agency, Pepsi-Cola Bottling Co. of Raleigh, Carolina Builders' Co., Watson's Seafood & Poultry Co., Inc., Unstead Transfer Co. & Food Store, Dillon Motor Finance Company, Buick's Eco Service, Ridgeway's Opticians, Warner Memorials, Pelrice Hotel
- PAGE 11: Gem Watch Shop, S. H. Kress & Co., Raleigh TV Service
- PAGE 12: Mechanics & Farmers Bank, Martin Street Self-Service Laundry, Acme Realty Company, White Oil Company, N. C. Products, Wake Finance Company, Sullivan's Grocery, S. M. Young Hardware

WAITING FOR CASTRO — Followers of rebel leader Dr. Fidel Castro hold a Cuban flag over their feet outside the Nacional Hotel, Havana, recently. Dr. Castro's men have taken over the city, and Havana is awaiting the arrival of the rebel chieftain. (UPI PHOTO).