UPWO ENTERTAINS

LUMBERTON—The fifty commissioners and visitors to the Mid-Winter meeting of Cape Fear Presbyterian Church recently left with much praise for the members of the Bethany unit of the United Presbyterian Women's Organization (UPWO) because of the delightful dinner served at the day's end.

During the 35-year reign of the late Dr. John H. Haywood as pastor of Bethany and Panthersford (near here) there has been established a unique church organization in this community. It reflected love, fellowship and a will to serve, not only the church, but the community as well. Haywood passed last year, leaving behind a group of workers—women as well as men—who carry on in the best tradition of their deceased pastor and teacher.

Among the women who rallied around Mrs. Ethel T. Haywood (widow of the late pastor) were the following: Mesdames A. B. Lewis, L. Washington, Geneva Love, Evelyn Bethea, R. Reid, Amy Capers, Johnnie Suggs, Lenore Bryan Freeman, Mae Bethea, Celestine Bryan, Evelyn Carter and F. C. Sclipio. The men of the church were active under the leadership of Elders A. Young and J. C. Sclipio and attended the needs of the presbytery.

Mrs. Lenore Bryan Freeman, a practical nurse, visited here with her relatives as she transferred from Dec. 20 to her home, Rte. 3, Box 25-D, Cairo, Texas.

The Rev. C. H. Thomas of Fayetteville, succeeded Dr. H. L. Davis as moderator of the Bethany Church. Davis resigned due to pressure of other duties at J. C. Smith University, Charlotte. The church is looking to call a minister soon.

IN ROCKY MOUNT—A trio of IPWO (Elks) leaders were scheduled to attend the annual Mid-Winter Conference of the Grand Lodge of IPWO in Philadelphia this week which is to conclude with a spectacular educational banquet and rally when 500 or more Elks and their wives and friends are to hear Mrs. Daisy Bates speak at a 50-plate banquet in the Broadwood Hotel.

The affair is under the direction of Grand Exalted Ruler Dr. Robert H. Johnson, Mrs. Nettie Carter Jackson, Grand Daughter Ruler, Lieut. Geo. W. Lee, Commissioner of Education for IPWO, and Charles P. McClane, Director of Public Relations.

Going from Rocky Mount are Rev. K. P. Battle, Grand Lecturer; Wm. T. Crimen, recently appointed Grand Director of Music; and J. B. Harren, Assistant Grand Reporter.

PERSONALITY IN THE NEWS

Mrs. Olivia Dupree

Mrs. Olivia Dupree is affectionately referred to as "Mamma Dupree." "Mamma" is the right term for she is the "mother" of all young people. She has a great sense of responsibility for the promotion and the welfare of young people wherever she can find them.

She is endowed with a special love for children. She is a "Blessed Ignorance" in her day and generation, for children literally kiss her shadow for all they seem to love "Mamma Dupree."

It was in Washington, North Carolina that a group of mothers requested her to open a kindergarten. She informed them of her inability to do the best job because of her lack of educational requirements. However, the mothers felt that the great love she had for children made up a great deal for the lack of training for the job.

She worked with these mothers in this capacity for a number of years. Very soon after coming to Clinton, the Morrison Kindergarten secured her as a helper where she has been serving as "Mamma Dupree" ever since.

Mrs. Dupree's early life was impregnated with many hardships. She had no parents and no organized home. She lived with relatives who were awfully cruel to her. However, she was able to receive a religious background. But was responsible for her early Christian experience.

One of the facts that her childhood was filled with pain, she managed to receive a little schooling in a little "Red School House."

Her teacher was Mr. Frank Brown, a native of the village in and around Falkland, North Carolina. He was indeed a hard schoolmaster of the famous Crane type who was a symbol of education of New England.

During her young days she joined the St. John Baptist Church, Falkland where she served as usher and was a staunch supporter of the church program. She took pride in helping to serve in church dinners and suppers and was active in all church and community life. She provided for her children a wholesome home atmosphere and took them to Sunday School every Sunday and to church each time the doors opened.

"Mamma Dupree" is indeed a "loyal member of the First Baptist Church in Clinton." She attended all meetings that are required of her and she now serves as counselor and advisor to young people.

"Now, the one main business in life, is to develop our inner resources and to make use of them in the service of others. All the delights that come from travel, wealth, art, fame and success are to be transformed if life itself is to be a success, into that inner richness of character that makes one a delight to himself. It is not the things one does and the things one gets that makes one a great person; it is the residuary deposit left in one's soul. All the pleasures of getting and doing have their place, but the real object is that they shall pass over into the higher values of character."

GEORGETOWN PLACED ON LIST OF APPROVED SCHOOLS

JACKSONVILLE, N. C.—Georgetown High School has been placed on the approved list of high schools by the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, according to a joint announcement today by Onslow County Superintendent of Schools I. B. Hudson and Georgetown principal, W. J. Broadhurst.

For the past two years the school has been going through a period of evaluation. Last February a visiting committee of 14 prominent southern educators were guests of the school while making a three-day study of the plant, personnel and teaching program.

The committee indicated at that time that the school would be recommended for approval at the annual SACS meeting. Approval was granted at the Louisville, Kentucky meeting which was held in December, 1958.

"Georgetown High School has become the first high school in Onslow County to meet all requirements by the Southern Association," Hudson said.

"This is a distinct honor for the school, and an indication that Georgetown is one of the highest ranking schools in this entire region."

However, Hudson added, all Onslow high schools are fully accredited by the North Carolina State Department of public instruction, with Jacksonville and Richlands having the longest record of accreditation. Both were approved by the state in 1922.

White Oak and Dixon both were accredited in 1928, Swansboro followed in 1931, and Georgetown received its state accreditation in 1933.
