

Phony African Prince Receives One Year And A Day

Fla. Prison New Home Of Fake Prince

TAMPA, Fla. — A young man who traveled over the country posing as an African prince was sentenced to a year and a day in federal prison Friday on a bad check charge.

Edward Lee Woods, 26, alias prince Nkabouri Awama Mboya of Ubangishiri of Portuguese East Africa, pleaded guilty in U. S. District Court to interstate transportation of a worthless $187 check.

The man, a former farm hand from the Macclenny Community, had traveled about the country, checking into hospitals with his story about being a prince and complaining of a kidney ailment. Each time he left without paying his bill.

He was arrested at Fort

Father Tells 3 Chained, Starved Kids, I Should

"Beat Your Brains Out!"

Kids Survive Long Ordeal In Cold Room

LILLINGTON — Welfare officials nursed three undernourished children Monday while officers sought to learn why their father chained them in a dirty, unheated room.

The children, ranging in age from 8 to 12 years, said their father chained them in the debris-littered room without food from last Monday to Friday. They told officers they escaped Friday night but their father found them and chained them again until officers released them late Saturday.

The father, Russell Allen, 25, said he chained the children only since Friday "because I couldn't do anything with them." He was held in jail here pending completion of an investigation.

Harnett County Sheriff Wade Stewart said scars and blisters on the children's arms indicated they had been chained longer than Allen said. He identified the children as Mary Lee Allen, 12, Geraldine Allen, 10, and Jerry Allen, 8.

Stewart quoted the oldest child as saying she managed to free herself Friday from the chain that ran through a hole in the wall to a log outside the house. She released the other children using a file.

They ran to a house some five miles away, she said, and had their first meal since Monday. But their father found them, she told Stewart, and returned them to the chains warning "I ought to take a stick and beat your brains out."

GREENE COUNTY TRAINING SCHOOL — The students of the Greene County Training School, above, did not attend classes Tuesday and the buses were also idled. It is believed that grievances over facilities caused the mass drop-out in Snow Hill. Other schools were also affected.

Schools Empty As Greene County Pupils Stage "Stay Home" Strike

SNOW HILL — Ninety percent of Greene County's 2,300 students did not attend schools Tuesday. All of the schools have been forced to shut down in the wake of a county-wide strike, resulting in a bus driver being beaten by his fellow drivers.

Members of the county's School Board were scheduled to meet in an emergency session Wednesday morning to hear any complaints and to determine whether the strike will become indefinite.

It had been alleged but not definitely determined that the strike could have correlated with an NAACP announcement recently that "concerted integration efforts in Eastern North Carolina would be launched."

Rumors in the county after the strike were that the Negro school trustees were the culprits of discontent by schools patrons over the approval of a new consolidated white school and the need for more classrooms, a gymnasium and a new cafeteria at the Greene County Training School in Snow Hill.

L. H. Smith, principal of the school, reported that he had not

Institute To Present Dr. Julian

The grandson of a slave who rose to become, in the opinion of Newsweek Magazine, "the nation's most prolific living chemurgist" will be the speaker at Monday night's Institute of Religion at the United Church at 8 o'clock.

Dr. Percy L. Julian, eminent scientist and churchman, will speak on "The Moral Responsibility of the Scientist." Born in Alabama, Dr. Julian worked his way through DePauw University where he graduated Phi Beta Kappa, then through Harvard where he earned his master's degree in one year while also studying in the laboratory of the late Sir Robert Robinson, waiting on tables, and teaching, and in 1931 was awarded his Ph.D. degree from the University of Vienna.

From 1936 to 1952 Dr. Julian was instrumental in developing a wide variety of chemical matter such as pure protein for coating paper, a foam for smothering oil and gas fires, lecithin for making foods creamier, and female hormone progesterone. From yams growing wild in Guatemala he extracted the ingredients of cortisone and his experiments with soybeans resulted in the synthetic production of proteins and "wonder" drugs. Today he heads the Julian Laboratories, Inc.

Dr. Julian is active in laymen's activities. He is currently president of the Congressional Council for Social Action. Included a

ALL BY HERSELF — Miss Betty Jean Reed, the lone Negro student to be integrated into Norfolk's Granby High School, arrived for classes last week. A total of 17 colored students were integrated into previously all-white schools throughout the city, thus shattering Virginia's historic segregation policy. No incidents were reported. Alexandria is 3rd Virginia City To Integrate Quietly

ALEXANDRIA, Va. — This historic Virginia town reluctantly but quietly admitted nine Negro children to three of its public schools Tuesday.

Five of the Negroes went to two elementary schools, the first in Virginia to be integrated. Two others entered a previously all-white high school.

Alexandria, just a few miles from George Washington's home at Mount Vernon, joined Arlington and Norfolk in the retreat from Virginia's "massive resistance" to school integration.

The action brought to 10 the number of schools that have admitted Negroes in the three communities.

Heavy police guards were placed around the three Alexandria schools and precautions were taken to avoid crowds gathering. But there was no demonstration of any kind.

City school officials found integration up until last Saturday

DEAN ROBINSON IN CHICAGO — Dr. F. R. Robinson, dean of St. Augustine's College, is attending the American Association of Colleges and Teachers Education at Chicago, on February 11th through 14th. The purpose of this meeting is to study the trends in the area of teacher education, and to make suggestions how colleges offering programs in teacher education might adjust their program to meet the needs of scientific education.

Jones Bros. Freed By A Local Jury

Deliberating about 15 minutes Tuesday, a coroner's jury freed two brothers on charges of murder in the Saturday night slaying of a man near Knightbridge.

Wilbert "Snip" Jones, 28, of 26 E-2 Pettigrew Street, Raleigh, and his brother, David Jones, Raleigh, Route 7, had been charged with murder by Sheriff's deputies in the club-pistol death of Frank Bumpass, 24, of Garner, the killing allegedly took place at Scale's Place on Poole Road about 11:30 p. m.

"Snip" Jones, in a sworn statement, said he shot in self defense after Bumpass had fired a shotgun or rifle at him in the yard of the night club.

His brother, also in a sworn statement read at the inquest, ad

Dr. Ward Invited To 1st Baptist

In a special meeting last Wednesday night, attended by some 300 members, the First Baptist Church, here extended an invitation to Dr. Charles W. Ward of Macon, Georgia, to take over the church's pastorate if he so desires. The vote in favor of the minister was unanimous. No reply as to whether he will accept the offer has been advanced.

Pastor of the First Baptist Church in the Georgia city, Dr. Ward delivered a very stirring sermon in this city last year.

Presiding at the meeting, which lasted almost two hours, was Dea-

Fire Claims Mother, Four Children

ASHEBORO — A fire spread through a two-story frame dwelling in a local community Tuesday, taking the lives of a mother and her four small children. The home is located some 500 feet outside the city limits of Asheboro.

Dead are Mrs. Inez Massenburg 40, and four of her children: Alice, 11; Joe, 10; Mae, 7; and Helen, 6. The kids and the mother were all sleeping in the home on the second floor at the time of the blaze. They were apparently overcome by smoke.

The father and a teen-age son, sleeping on the first floor, escaped without any injury.

Clarence Rush, fire chief, reported that the building was beyond saving when his crew arrived at the Woodlands Street residence at 3:05 a. m. After being informed members of the family were trapped in the structure, firemen placed a ladder at the upstairs bedroom

Mother Is Raped At Charlotte

CHARLOTTE — A heavy-set man attacked and raped a white woman at her home here Friday night, police reported.

The woman, whose name was withheld, was examined and treated for shock at a hospital here. Police continued a search for the assailant.

The 34-year-old woman said the man attacked her while

Brooks Hays Of Arkansas To Shaw Mon.

Brooks Hays, representative of the Fifth Congressional District of Arkansas, will speak at Shaw University on Monday, February 16, at 10:00 a. m. in Greenleaf Auditorium.

Congressman Hays is a native of Russellville, Arkansas. He was educated in Russellville public schools, received the bachelor of arts degree from the University of Arkansas and the bachelor of laws degree from George Washington University at Washington, D. C. He holds the honorary degrees of doctor of laws and doctor of humanities.

Requests Of Teachers To Lawmakers

James T. Taylor of Durham, Chairman of the Legislative Committee of the North Carolina Teachers Association, last week outlined key proposals which the NCTA is expected to bring to the attention of the 1959 North Carolina General Assembly.

Top item is the proposal that "cheats funds be distributed" equitably among all State institutions of higher learning. Excess funds accumulate from the estates of deceased persons who don't will their properties to relatives or others. Such funds revert to the state. At present the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill is sole beneficiary of the fund.

96 Jars Of Booze

SECAUCUS, N. J. — If Charles Knox LaSister, popular Raleigh, N. C. resident, hadn't had a flat tire last Sunday, he might have reached his destination. However, he stopped his car on the New Jersey Turnpike to change a flat tire. State Trooper John Burns was cruising by and wanted to lend his assistance. As LaSister opened the trunk of his car, the trooper spotted 96 half gallon mason jars filled with "white lightning" whiskey, reportedly. The man was charged with transporting liquor without a license.

Att'y Gen. Says Reds May Use Carolina Kissing Case

FUQUAY-VARINA — Atty. Gen. Malcolm B. Seawell warned Monday night the "hands of Communists and fellow travelers are seeking to reach the public pocket book through exploitation of racial matters" such as North Carolina's highly-publicized "kissing case."

He told a women's club meeting here that the state's chief interest in the case was the welfare of the two Negro boys sent to a correctional school after a complaint that they tried to kiss a white girl. He said others who have taken up the case supposedly in the interest of the boys, do not share that concern for their welfare.

Seawell said the activities of "questionable groups" and individuals were not limited to the case of the two Union County Negroes. "There is now before the Supreme Court of the United States a case which seeks to void North Carolina's literacy test for voting," he explained.

State News — IN — Brief

FACES BAD CHECK CHARGE
RALEIGH — Lynwood Daye, 22, of Youngville, was arrested here last week on charge of passing worthless checks at Freeman's Shoe Store on Fayetteville Street and Sears in Cameron Village.

Detectives said Daye had admitted passing bad checks also at Durham and Roanoke, Va. He had purchased a pint of whiskey after passing the "rubber" check at Freeman's. He was caught, however, before he could open the pint.

GETS HIS TWO FRONT TEETH
WHITEVILLE — Whiteville Palletean Bill Rhodes, chief character in a "Dear Santa" story last Christmas has received a two-tooth bridge, destroyed when three former Clarkson Negroes, more recently of New Jersey, jumped him when he sought to arrest them for speeding during the holidays. The were finally quelled and jailed after a battle. In

AT HOUSING HEARING — Former Brooklyn Dodger baseball star Jackie Robinson stands in front of a chart showing a breakdown of where white and colored people live, as he appears before the Federal Civil Rights Commission in New York last week. The Commission is holding a hearing on discrimination in housing in New York City. Robinson said that he was seeking action which would grant the Negro "some progress toward equal rights in housing."
