ODD-ENDS

(CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1) the other thousands of Negro citizens of this city, welcome this recognition of our civic responsibility. It is our earnest hope that this slowly emerging trend of recognition will steadily increase.

While we welcome the appointment of Mr. Haywood to the Housing Authority, we wonder if this appointment is the very best that could have been made under the circumstances.

Mr. Haywood is one of this city's cutstanding business men and citizen, regardless of race. We believe that he has made many useful contributions toward the betterment of this community. On the other hand, alhough we would be the last person to even intimate that Mr. Haywood is satisfied with the status quo of Negroes in Raleigh. we cannot feel that he is in step with the stepped up pace to change this status now being followed by Raleigh's new Negro leadership. Mr Haywood distinguished himself several years ago when, under Raleigh's commission form of gov-

their rights under the then accepted, "separate but equal" formula. Frustrated and held down, by the machinaions and inequities posed by those charged with administering the impossible "separate but equal" fallacy, Negroes embolded by the unanimous 1954 U. S. Supreme Court decision which said that school segregation

ernment,. he was in the fore front of the fight to secure for Negroes was unconstitutional. From that famous decision grew a new type of Negro leaders. Raleigh Negroes, long disatisfied with the leadership afforded them by he conservative - middle of the roaders, found it somewhat difficult to find the type of leaders who could fit into the new mold. They however, knew what they wanted and were determined to get what they felt was rightfully theirs. It was a period of uncertainty and distrust, uncertain as to the proper methods to pursue and distrust of those who essayed to assume the role of leaders. Several of the old school, of which the new housing authority member was one, attempted to rally the disatisfied Raleigh Negro citizens around them. But, these Negroes, scenting victory, would not follow this old leadership any longer Then came the student sit-ins, which will perhaps go down in history as the most dramatic spark of this century. Negroes in Raleigh and elsewhere saw in this movement a vehicle they could successfully ride to ultimate victory.

ADD TO ODDS—ENDS

The Rev. John W. Fleming, quickly sensing the vast opportunities this movement presented, rallied a group of alert Raleigh Negro citizens around him and the dead, Rafleigh Citizens, Association was promptly reactivated.

Where were the old school Negro leaders and what were they doing during this historic period? That is what the pedegogue's call, "a leading question". They certainly did not join this movement, very few

From that time until this time, the Raleigh Citizens Association has been busily engaged in promoting the fight for equality under the law for all mankind. It followed through to successful conclusion, he fight for integration of the lunch counters, it successfully pro-moted John W. Winters' campaign for a seat on Raleigh's City Council. It has been successful in its efforts to get higher employment for Negroe in many of this city's stores and, it is now engaged in a last ditch battle to get suitable and equal employment for Negroes in all of this city's governmental agencies.

Out of this organization has come a new brand of vigilant, vibrant and alert leaders. They are so different from the old type as chalk is from cheese. They will not allow themselves to be compromised, by vielding to expendiency, nor will they ever be guilty of using the back door approach to racial problems. Mr. Haywood may or may not belong to the Citizens Association. We do not think he does. He has never participated in its deliberations, he does not attend its meetings. He has never joined them in their protests against discrimination and racial injustices in this city. He has however, spoken out against this group's anti-discrimination actions.

We presume that the Mayor, whose right to appoint any person he choose to the housing authority is readily admitted, did consult a Negro or two regarding the appointment of Mr. Haywood, However we know he did not consult his fellow Councilman John Winters of 95 percent of the Negro electointe, he did not consult the Raleigh Citizens Association, an organiza-7.000 Raleigh Negroes, he did not consult any of the new leadership which Raleigh Negroes have now entrusted to be their spokemen. Because of these ommission, we think that the Mayor greatly erred. Surely these persons, because of the responsibility imposed upon them by their flowman should have had something to say about who should fill this important position.

We can truthfully say that, we wood. We wish for him a successful, rewarding and fruitful tenure ing Authority. As we said, we welcome the appointment of Negroes to all positions of trust, and responsibility. And having gotten the record straight, we can honestly say, congratulations, Mr. Haywood.
