Wait For 'Negro' Ambulance Almost Costs Ala. Girl's Life

Interest Increases As Sansom Enters VINSON RESIGNS 18-YEAR POST

Gives No Reason For Action

George D. Vinson, for 18 years principal of the Riley Hill School in the Wakeford district, declined to comment on his sudden decision to resign his position this week.

First Negro To Seek Comm. Post

"We need capable people to manage our department to the best of their ability and need capable management for any business. . . with this in mind, I have agreed to submit myself to the judgment of the Citizens of Wake County as to whether they would want my services as a County Commissioner." In announcing his candidacy for County Commissioner, J. J. Sansom made the above statement here this week.

Sansom, vice president and manager of the Raleigh branch of Mechanics and Farmers Bank, Friday became the first Negro ever to file for the Wake County Board of Commissioners. Sansom filed as a Democrat in District Two.

He is one of 121 candidates seeking office in the May primaries. Sansom will be running against Thomas R. Allen, Wayne W. Brown, James L. Judd, and Rommie Upchurch, all Democrats. Two persons from District Two will be elected. A native of Atlanta, Ga., the candidate is a graduate of Morehouse College and holds a law degree from North Carolina College.

Before coming to Raleigh in 1958, he served as law professor at North Carolina College Law School and manager of a Wachovia Branch Bank in Winston-Salem.

He is married to the former Vivian Merrick of Durham. She is a member of the Shaw University faculty. They have four children, Joseph Merrick, 18, Beryl Vivian, 16, Sarah Genevieve, 11, and James Edward.

ADD-TO SANSOM STORY—Other candidates filing for the primaries include: Republican John W. Thedick and Democrat John R. Jordan for State Senate; Democrats Thomas D. Bunn, John S. Loggins, A. A. McMillan and W. Bentley Womble and Republicans P. Foy Brooks, Mrs. E. S. Johnson and Lawrence Harris for House of Representatives.

Fight Without Hate, Says Dr. Johnson

Dr. Mordecai W. Johnson, President Emeritus of Howard University, addressed more than 400 faculty and students at St. Augustine's Sixth Annual Honors Convocation Wednesday in Taylor Hall.

"I appeal to you, not alone as members of St. Augustine's Honors Societies, but as leaders of tomorrow, you and you alone can change the boundaries of human limitations all over the world," said Dr. Johnson. "Be ye prepared for these changed boundaries and only through specialized higher education with a philosophy to fight the evil habits of man without hating the man, can we call ourselves Christian Scholars."

ODDS-ENDS
BY ROBERT G. SHEPARD
"He is not here. He is risen." CHRIST IS NOT AMONG THE DEAD

LUKE 24:2-6. And they found the stone rolled away from the sepulchre. And they entered in, and found not the body of the Lord Jesus. And it came to pass as they were much perplexed thereabout, behold, two men stood by them in shining garments: and as they were afraid, and bowed down to their faces to the earth, they said unto them, why seek ye the living among the dead? He is not here, but is risen.

The small group of devout women who had followed Christ to the Cross, came early in the morning, after the Sabbath had passed, to anoint the body of their crucified Lord. They were both mystified

Eligible To Return Thursday

Twelve Ligon High School students, most of them seniors, were suspended from school for a five day period last week when it was learned that the students had signed the parents' names to notes requesting that they be excused from school.

H. E. Brown, principal at Ligon, said he suspended the students after he discovered the notes had been written and forged by students. He said they would be eligible to return to school on Thursday. Names of the students were withheld.

It had been reported by fairly reliable sources that some Ligon High students had periodically missed days from school to attend "wild" daytime parties. There was no substantial report to show that the suspended students were a part of this group.

ON LIBRARY BOARD—The Wake County Commissioners Monday named Mrs. Nora E. Lockhart, Principal of the Crosby-Garfield School, above to the Board of the Richard B. Harrison Public Library. ## N. C.'s Big Businesses Under Fire

Discrimination in employment in several North Carolina big businesses may be under fire, as this week, a presidential committee cracked down on two companies accused of racial discriminations by directing special investigations before the firms may receive any more government contracts.

North Carolina businesses under fire were not named, but the committee indicated that there were several which held government contracts. Tuesday's action was the first such action taken by the President's Committee on Equal Employment Opportunity to enforce the federal government's non-discriminatory clause in its contracts.

GENERAL INTEGRATION SOUGHT BY PARENTS, SAYS JUDGE
DURHAM — Durham parents who appealed their integration suit to the United States Fourth Circuit Court of Appeals are really seeking general desegregation of the Durham City Schools, Judge Edwin M. Stanley of the North Carolina Middle District Court said Monday.

After reviewing the history of two cases which he consolidated for trial and ruled on July 20, 1961, that more than half of the students had not exhausted State administrative remedies before seeking federal court relief, he declared:

"All that is being sought is a declaration by the court that the Durham City Schools are being operated on a racially discriminatory basis and injunctive relief. They simply want nothing more or less than a general order of desegregation, and in seeking such an order they completely ignore every court decision constraining the North Carolina Assignment and Enrollment of Pupils Act."

Since the minor plaintiffs (the Negro students) have clearly demonstrated that they are not interested in a protection of their individual rights under the Constitution of the United States, and do not desire that their individual rights be determined and enforced by the court, the court is left no alternative other than to dismiss the action.
