Halifax Tensions Quieter

ENFIELD — John R. Salter, Jr., official of the Southern Conference Education Fund, who was in Raleigh at his home Tuesday, stated that the first integration of Halifax County Schools, which opened Tuesday, are now somewhat eased.

This replaced a tense situation which prevailed one week ago when Mr. Salter called for State and Federal aid in protection of Negroes in this area.

More than nine children became the first of their race to attend previously all-white schools in this racist county this week.

Temperatures for the five day period, Thursday through Monday, will average near normal or somewhat above normal, with little day to day change.
