

FOR THE WOLF AMONG US IN SHEEP'S CLOTHING

Father Boyle Ought To Pardon The Pope To Give Him A Halter Gratis So He Could Go Hang Himself.

It would be to state it mildly to say that Raleigh was stunned on Sunday morning when it was generally known that Father J. J. Boyle, the priest in charge of the Catholic church of the Sacred Heart of Jesus, had on Saturday night been committed to the city prison on charge of criminal assault on a young lady. This fact was known on Saturday night to many when he was arrested, but it was not until Sunday morning that it was known throughout the city. If it had been generally known on Saturday night some fear that Boyle would have been lynched. This, the CHRONICLE does not believe. The people, here, have faith that the law will be vindicated, and they did not want to bring a stain upon the name of the city. They could hardly be brought to realize that on one of the principal streets, in the sacred precincts of a church, so foul a deed had been committed, and, too, by one who ministered at God's holy altar and who was the pastor of the young lady. The indignation of the people was very great and they were very free in giving utterance to their denunciations.

The following is the best statement we can give of the crime. There have been so many conflicting statements that it is almost impossible to make a plain statement. On Saturday afternoon Father Boyle returned from New Berne. He arrived at the church, which is a residence as well. In the yard were two young ladies gathering flowers with which to decorate the church. After he had gone into the house, he sent for the organist, a young lady, only 17 years old, and told her that the music for Sunday's service was in his room and directed her to go after it. When she did, he followed and locked the door. She screamed, and he frightened her into silence by threatening to kill her. She made desperate attempts, without success, to prevent his accomplishing his purpose. After he had succeeded he offered to run away with her, and marry her, saying that he had plenty of money. She recoiled at such a proposition from the man who had taken advantage of his relations as a pastor to ruin her. He told her that if she said a word about this he would kill her. She left the church and walked home with her friend. Saying not a word about it until she was at her home. Her friend asked her if she had not been crying. The young lady denied it and hurried home. When her father became acquainted with the facts, he procured a warrant from the Mayor for Boyle, chief of police Hearnt went about 8 o'clock to arrest Boyle and found the unfeeling brute asleep, seemingly without regard for his act. Afterwards another warrant was served on Boyle for rape, and at mid-night he was in the city prison. His attorney, col. J. P. Fuller and J. J. Boyle were within ten or twelve hours. He went to the police and told a policeman that this was a clear case of black mail, and that some of his members did not like him.

The Mayor committed him to jail, to await his trial at the next term of Wake Superior court.—State Chron.
Town O. duane.

Passed by the town Commissioners of Boone, N. C., on the 17th day of May 1889.

I. That it shall be unlawful for any live stock such as horses, cattle, sheep, hogs, goats, jacks, jennetts &c., or geese, to run at large within the corporate limits of the town, and any stock found running at large as aforesaid shall be impounded by the town Marshal and held under his control until the owner shall pay Twenty-five cents per head and cost of keeping same, which shall not exceed 25c. per head on horses and cattle, and 10c. on hogs, sheep and other stock per day. And upon failure of owners to pay said sums, the town Marshal shall, after the expiration of six days, advertise such property as he may have seized and impounded by virtue of this ordinance at the Court House door in Boone for the period of Ten Days, and sell the same at public outcry to the highest bidder at the town pen to satisfy fine and cost. The excess, if there be any, to be returned to the owner.

This ordinance to be in full force and effect on and after the first day of June 1889.

II. That it shall be unlawful for any person to take, or attempt take, from the town Marshal any stock as above mentioned in ordinance No. 1. in his custody, or take from town pen any stock placed there by him. Any person so offending, upon conviction, be fined not less than $2 nor more than $10.

III. That it shall be unlawful for any person to use profane, vulgar or boisterous language on the streets and public squares of the town of Boone. Any one so offending shall, upon conviction, be fined not less than $1 nor more than $10.

IV. That it shall be unlawful for any person to put upon the streets or public squares any obstruction to public passage, or to put upon the streets or public squares any filth, or otherwise injure or impair said streets and squares of Boone. Any person so offending shall upon conviction, be fined not less than $2 nor more than $10.

V. That it shall be unlawful for any persons to engage in any affray within the corporate limits. Persons so offending shall upon conviction be fined not less than $2 nor more than $20.

VI. That it shall be unlawful for any person to discharge any fire arm, to wit: guns, rifles or pistols on the streets or public squares of the town of Boone. Persons so offending, shall upon conviction, be fined not less than 25c nor more than $2.

VII. That all able-bodied men between the ages of 18 and 45 years shall be required to work upon the public streets of the town of Boone, upon notice from the road-ward, col. J. P. Fuller and J. J. Boyle were within ten or twelve hours. He went to the police and told a policeman that this was a clear case of black mail, and that some of his members did not like him.

VIII. That all peddlers or cheap-john salesmen shall before selling or offering to sell any goods, wares or merchandise of any description whatsoever, obtain from the Mayor of Boone a license to exercise their trade in said incorporation, and for such license they shall be required to pay the sum of $3 for each day or part thereof that they may engage in their business. Persons violating this ordinance shall upon conviction, be fined not less than $5 nor more than $20.

IX. That if the town Marshal shall willfully neglect to discharge his duties he shall upon conviction, be fined $10 and removed from office.

MARRIED.—On the evening of the 15th of May at the residence of the bride's father, W. W. Franum and Miss Rosa M. Glenn.

After the ceremony, which was conducted by J. J. L. Sherwood, we repaired to the dining room where our eyes beheld the beautiful table, so nicely and tastefully arranged, that if old Mother Eve had been there with all her pristine purity she would have been tempted to eat, and what of mortals fall in? such as we. All ate too much to be sure. Well wishes for the new husband and wife. May peace wreath her chain about their persons.

There was only one objection urged against Professor Franum, as Principal of Cove Creek Academy, by the stock holders, and that was that he was not a married man. So the Professor determined that it should no longer exist, and hence he took unto himself a wife of Watauga's fairest daughters. Who will be next? L.

Editor DEMOCRAT.

Mr. Charles Moody, of Watauga township, your county, was called home yesterday, to attend to his family, for word came to him that his wife had unfortunately broken a limb, and his son had chopped off some of his toes, so the work on Mr. Richie's house is suspended for the present.

The hotel building is progressing. Mr. G. W. Council has the frame of the main building up. It is to be 32x60 feet, two stories high with an L.

Mr. Kelsey, manager of the company, left here Wednesday morning last, to visit his family at Highland in Macon county, this State. Highland is a smart town of Mr. Kelsey's creation, for fourteen years ago it was "out in the woods," now it is a "right smart chance of a town."

Mr. McRea, president of the company, is here, and work is being pushed on the new streets. They are being constructed on the right and left.

Mr. Ricksecker, the Secretary, is almost always here. Mr. H. M. Kent, the surveyor, has come back from his home in Lenoir, and he and Harry Kelsey are still sur-visiting Lenoir, May 21st.

Another arrival from your county. Yesterday the "invaluable" Bob Rivers came in from your town to work with Mr. Council on the hotel. If there was any doubt before that the hotel would not be speedily finished all doubts have now vanished. It is now a matter of days.

Mr. Charles Moody, of Watauga township, also returned yesterday. His wife had sprained a limb, and the boy cut three toes, but they will get well.

We hear nothing of a daily mill from Cranberry here, but trust that it will soon be established. J. S. W.

BLOWING ROCK STILL BOOMING.

We spent a night last week at Blowing Rock, with our old friend L. W. Estes, who is one of the best and cleverest men in N. C. and owns one of the most desirable places in this country. He has recently built one of the finest barns in this county. It is a model of convenience. We met, while there, Mr. Gray of the firm of Gray & King who have had a very large and fine hotel built, near Mrs. Brady's house, during the last six months. They will be prepared to keep 100 guests. Mr. Gray is a clever gentleman, indeed, and we bespeak for them a full house this summer. The Messrs. Council Bros. had the contract to build Mr. Gray's hotel, and he is well pleased with the work they did. They did this work, he says, fully up to their contract, and that two, they had every opportunity to slight it, as he was a way much of the time. These boys are fine workmen, and that's not all, they are honest clever gentlemen.

They are now building Mr. Morris a fine dwelling house. The growth of Blowing Rock, for the last few years, has been wonderful. Men used to say: "I passed Blowing Rock at such and such a time, now they say, 'I went through Blowing Rock at such and such a time.' Blowing Rock used to be almost nothing—a little gap in the mountain where the wind was constantly blowing, that is all.—Now Blowing Rock is more than a mile long, and is the most popular summer resorts in the State.
