Outstanding Happenings of Week Gathered from Everywhere Condensed for the Busy Reader

On November 5th, Johnson county, Tenn., will vote on the proposition to issue $1,000,000 road bonds for the purpose of building additional highways in the county. Part of the proceeds from the issue, if carried, will be used to build a highway from Mountain City to Elizabethton.

Northey, Va., Oct. 13.—The motor boat named "Tommy" carrying a quantity of whiskey and alcohol and her crew of four were captured by coast guard patrol boat CG-189 near Washington, Va., in Chesapeake Bay late yesterday. The vessel was not taken until it had been searched on the shore and set on fire by her crew. The crew leaped overboard, after applying the tools to the ram-laden craft, but were captured when the patrol boat opened fire on them. The boat was not seriously damaged by the fire.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Oct. 13.—Commemorating the anniversary of the day on which Andrew Carnegie dedicated his surplus wealth to the education of the people, President Coolidge dedicated in a speech here today that a municipality of "interest" has arisen between employer and employee resulting in "industrial peace" which in short time ago would have been thought impossible. His address was formally opened at the international exhibition of paintings held in Pittsburgh this year through the support of Andrew W. and Richard B. Mellon and alluding to their service. Mr. Coolidge said there is a high power which draws a heavy response from the masses which makes the Carnegie institutions possible.

Plans for rubber plantation on a large scale in the state of Para, Brazil, were announced last week in Detroit by Edsel Ford, president of the Ford Motor Company. The Ford company, according to the announcement, has received a rubber concession of from 1,000,000 to 3,000,000 acres in the Amazon valley, lying on the Tapajos river with the famous River of Doubt to the west. One of the conditions of the grant is that a certain amount of acreage be planted to rubber each year. The development company will be the Ford Industrial Expansion Company and it will be conducted by Henry Ford and Edsel Ford and other persons prominent in the Ford Company. Its capitalization will be $1,000,000. Settlements are to be established on the development and steamships of the Ford fleet will make regular trips to the district. Airplane communication between the plantations and Detroit is in contemplation.

Horta, Island of Faial, Azores, Oct. 13.—Several thousand persons, practically the entire population of this quaint island town, welcomed Ruth Eider and George Hatfield, the rescued ones from the ill-fated plane. The American Girl, who a small intruder brought them ashore here today from the Borewick, the Dutch oil tanker which had snatched them from death in mid-ocean. Never in the memory of the inhabitants has there been such excitement in these islands. The girl, smiling in plus-fours and a leather jacket, and with a cap borrowed from the tanker's captain perched on her curls, showed only by a broad smile her exuberant happiness over her rescue. She had been under the strain of the fight for life during five hours of storm and the knowledge that the engine had gone wrong in the final hours of her flight to negotiate the distance from New York to Paris.

Laverne, Ala., Oct. 13.—(Maxing a week of inquiry into masked violence and a trabe into the innermost workings of the Ku Klux Klan, a special grand jury late today returned 141 indictments against men charged with complicity in 20 or more lynchings in Crenshaw county and made sweeping and sensational charges that men high in the councils of the "Invisible Empire" were "unworthy of trust." All indictments except one were against members of the Ku Klux Klan and the jury reported that with a single exception all the masked lynchings were committed by members of the Klan, wearing hoods and robes of the order. Taking conditions in Crenshaw county to those which existed during the time of the Spanish insurrection, the grand jury pointed an accusing finger at James Esdel, grand dragon of the Klan in Alabama, Fred Davis, former grand titan of the southern province of the order, Ray F. A. Nails, former head of the Georgia Klavern of the Klan, and Ben B. Thompson, said to be one of the Laverne units of the organization.

MUCH LAND IN CAROLINA IS STILL COVERED WITH FORESTS

Countless of the area of North Carolina is still covered in forest land, says S. Holmes, state forester, in pointing a curious fact. Most of the land has had the greater part of merchantable timber cut from it and through destructive lumbering, turpentine and forest fires, but at the same time it is classed as forest land.

A "happy change" is taking place during the last few years, however, Mr. Holmes says. Land owners are cutting more carefully, cattle and hogs have been controlled in nearly all counties, and protection from fire is being extended as rapidly as county, state and federal funds are made available.

"The chief thing now lacking," he says, "is the interest and co-operation of the people of the town as well as of the country, in growing and protecting our trees and forests."

Naval stores, including tar, pitch, rosin and turpentine, are obtained almost exclusively from the long leaf pine, one of North Carolina's best known trees. The wood is heavy, hard, strong and tough. Its closest relative, the slash pine, is also a great producer of raw gum, secured by "bleeding."
