To some people Christmas seems to come suddenly-without warning-almost a surprise. These are the people who form the dense crowds on December 24-the frantic last-minute shoppers. Fortunately-each year-an increasingly large number of people really heed the annual warning-"DO YOUR CHRISTMAS SHOPPING EARLY." For one thing, they have learned that anything worth doing at all, is worth doing well. They have learned that gift giving is a fine art, worthy of time and care and intelligence. Therefore, they plan their shopping-choosing with fine tact and taste the gifts most suitable for each friend and realtive.
