REV. SAMUEL D. PRICE, D. D.

International Sunday School Lesson for August 10

HANNAH, A GODLY MOTHER I Samuel 1, 9-18, 24-28, 2-19

While throngs may go into the churches only some are real worshippers. One of very devout soul was found in the tabernacle at Shiloh at the close of the period of the judges. While harsh events are taking place in war and state there is always a cottage by the side of the road from which a great leader will come forth. Thus a setting is made for the sight that greeted the eyes of aged Eli, the priest, who ministered in the portable tabernacle which had been carried during the journey from Mount Sinai to the Promised Land. There had been replacement of parts but it was still the place where God met with His children.

Hannah was bowed in prayer as could be noted by her moving lips, though no sound was heard by the observer. Eli came forward in rebuke and foolishly said she was intoxicated. Bold in her assertion of innocence this woman told in part what she had just been telling the Lord. She was one of the two wives in the home of Elkanah. Peninah had borne him sons and daughters while she was still childless, and like every Hebrew wife eager to have a son. Because she had not been a mother she was taunted by Peninah. Elkanah loved Hannah and was glad to give her a double portion of tasty food to indicate his favor, but this did not take away her heart hunger to become a mother. With directness she makes the matter the subject of prayer and is discovered while in devotion by Eli.

This priest can speak for God and at once declares that her ardent petition will be granted. Samuel is the answer to her prayer and the babe is cared for in the utmost of loving devotion. Added affection must be lavished in the earliest years for she had vowed to give him as a son of the tabernacle as soon as he was weaned, which may have been between the ages of three and five. To keep her promise Hannah returns to the tabernacle at Shiloh and reminds Eli of her specific prayer and its glorious answer. Though this is a lesson about Hannah it is natural to at least glance through the life of the son. Note first how the little fellow responded to the thrice repeated call of God during the night season as he said "Speak, Lord, for thy servant is listening." I Samuel 1, 10. Then observe how magnificent his great life work in chapter 13. He was forced to lay down the judgeship but he would never cease his prayers for Israel.

Great songs come out of mighty triumphs. Hannah gave expression to her joy and thanksgiving in the song that is recorded in chapter two. Note how she repeatedly gives all the glory to Jehovah. Turn also to the Magnificat, the Song of Mary, Luke 1, 26-28 and observe how the Mother of Jesus rejoices in often similar words.

While Hannah cannot have her eye in keeping with her vow, she can make love garments for him. Each year she visits Samuel at Shiloh and brings a little coat in her joy and for his comfort. One practical application of this lesson study is to observe Mother's Day, though we have passed the second Sunday in May. The scope of our prayer life is also suggested. We are to take everything to the Lord in prayer and ask for anything that is right for us to have. Often we are uncertain what would be best for us, and at such times we are taught to safeguard our petitions with the prayer that Jesus used in the Garden of Gethsemane when he said so devoutly, "Not my will, but thine be done." Samuel had every reason to always be proud of his mother. He evidenced his fidelity by the way in which he did his part to live out the prayers of Hannah. The Golden Text is an exhortation to every child: "My son, hear the instruction of thy father, and forsake not the law of thy mother," Proverbs 1, 8.

CHEVROLET MOTOR COMPANY BREAKS PRODUCTION RECORD

Flint, Mich.—Another automotive record topped here on Thursday when the Chevrolet Motor Company turned out its two millionth six-cylinder car less than twenty months after the introduction of this type.

Just as Chevrolet led the world in four cylinder car production during the last two years that the company built that type, so now it assumes leadership in the six-cylinder field by having built near five times as many sixes in twenty months as any other manufacturer in the history of the industry.

The two millionth six—a coach—rolled off the line here with Chevrolet and General Motors executives in attendance to witness the final assembly of the car, for which no further ceremonies were planned.

The brief time required by Chevrolet to build two million sixes provides an index of the rapid strides made by this organization to the front rank of volume car builders. The company was organized late in 1911, and there were required nearly seven years to turn out five million of the old four-cylinder cars, which two million sixes have been placed on the streets and highways of the world since January 1, 1929, or in a total time of only nineteen months and one week.

Commenting on the manufacture of the two millionth six, W. S. Knudsen, president and general manager, stated that the fact of establishing a new record was significant mainly in that it indicated a definite public preference for the performance and luxury which a six affords in the low priced field.

"We abandoned our position as the world's largest builder of four cylinder cars," Mr. Knudsen explained, "because the volume we had built up coupled with the tremendous purchasing power of General Motors, enabled us to put two extra cylinders in our cars and yet retain the price range and operating economy of the old four-cylinder car.

"Today the coach, one of the most popular models in the line, is priced twenty dollars lower than the four-cylinder coach was ever sold. The experiences of two millions of owners are that gas and other operating and upkeep expenses are as low as any standard four-cylinder car. The quick public acceptance of this fact, and the gratifying response to the new type, made possible our new production record."

Total output of the Chevrolet Motor Company to date is approximately 7,200,000 cars.

By canning a few cans of vegetables and fruits each morning, the products may be carried fresh from the vine to the can and will prevent the housewife from standing over a hot stove all day, suggests Mrs. Jane S. McKimmon.

Out of every $50 lost from fires in the United States each year, $17 is money from the farm.
