Early Development and Progress of Boone To anyone at all interested in the history of our country, the name of this little town suggests pioneer days and the great westward movement. For it was named in honor of the man who blazed the trull, which made the settlement of the west possible. Daniel Boone came here about 1760 and spent much of his time for nine labor years.

d spent much of the high years.
When Watauga County was formed to 1849 the legislature called the santy site Boone, because of the feation of Boone's cubin within a lew hundred feet of its court, this bin being erected by Daniel Boone and used as a hunting camp. Today monument erected in 1912 by Col. I. Revan, deceased, marks the a monument erected in 1912 by Col.
W. L. Bryan, deceased, marks the chart spot where this cabin stood. This camp was open to all who cared to use it, and the hurrers and herders who found themselves in this jamely locality near nightfall were glad to take advantage of the shelter. In this cabin Benjamin Howard and his herders user to keep their calt and cooking ofensits when they ested this section to look after the cattle which ranged in the upper valley of New River.

In this lonely, isolated section of the Northwest at this time, where the hoot of the owl, the howl of the wolf, the growl fo the man-hungry bear were menaces to mankind, few, save those familiar to the daring pioner we are discussing, were able to compete with their fore Howards.

bear were menaces to mankind, few, save those familiar to the daring pioneer we are discussing, were able to compete with their foes. However, an clapse of time brought a few settlers to what many term the garden soot of all Carolina, the scenery of which fills the stranger with awe and admiration as he gazes upon the loft peaks of Howard's Knob and Rich countain, for this little town nestles in a small valley between high countains of the Appalachian range which, up to the coming of Boone, and seemed an impossible barrier to the carly settlers.

In 1870 thes town extended from the Critcher Hutel to the kraut factory. When the town was formed the county court, with Judge Dudley Farging as its chairman, laid off the streets and lots. The main street running east and west being called King Street; the first street to the north of it and parallel with it was named Queen Street; the street running between W. D. Farthing's feed store and Watauga Motor Company was designated as Water Street; and the attrect hetwenn the mesent residence of R. C. Rivers and W. R. Lovill's designated as water Street, and the street between the present residence of R. C. Rivers and W. R. Lovill's law office, and passing down in front of the old jail, was called Burnsville Street.

Today Boone has five hotels: The Critcher, which was built in 1855, tha Commercial in 1923, the Blackburn in 1895, and the Greene Inn, built in 1921. Last, but by no means least, the Daniel Boone, which was hegun in 1924 and finished in 1925. It is one of the outstanding hotels in this section of the country, modern and new in every respect, operated on the American plan, has 50 rooms, 40 with baths and others without. It is open the year 'round to commercial and tourist trade. From the veranda the tourists enjoy the scenery of mountains which have an altitude of more than four thousand feet. (CONTINUED NEXT WEEK)

Adults Contract Children's Diseases

Adults can, and do, contract many children's diseases. And, usually, they suffer from them much more than children do. For instance, many adults contract worms, an ailment usually associated with children. Sometimes they suffer intensely and take expensive medical treatments, without realizing that worms are the cause of their troubles. Yet, the symptoms are the same as in children, loss of appetite and weight, grinding the teeth and restless sleep, itching of the nose and anus, and abdominal pains. And, the same medicine that surely and harmlessly expense round and pin worms from children will do the senie for adults — White's Cream Verminge, which you can get at HODGES DRUG COMPANY HODGES DRUG COMPANY
