

Today and Tomorrow

By FRANK P. STOCKBRIDGE

REFRESHMENT

In my New England boyhood a sign frequently seen on country taverns was "Refreshment for Man and Beast." You could feed your horses and yourself at the same time. Horses have given place to the automobile and the filling station takes the place of the wagon shed, while the food obtainable along the highways varies, as a rule, from bad to worse.

Ask any motor tourist how many places he found to eat where the food was really palatable. He'll remember them all; it is no tax on the memory.

With everything else becoming standardized, the movement to standardize roadside food stations so that the motorist can be sure, before trying his luck, of what he is going to get, was bound to come. One of the big oil companies, operating its own gasoline filling stations, has made a deal with a large restaurant organization which operates a chain of eating places in many parts of the country. Light lunches of good quality and real coffee are to be served at the filling stations. I can think of nothing better calculated to encourage motor touring.

GOLD

With their money depreciated and their nation off the gold standard, the people of England are showing their patriotism by turning in their gold jewelry and ornaments to be melted up for money. One noble duke gave up his coronet, worth $50,000 in coin but many times that in sentimental association.

Of course, the people who are doing this get the bullion value of their gold in the form of bank notes, but it strengthens their nation's financial position because it puts the gold where it can be weighed and counted as a basis of currency, which is impossible when it is in private hands.

Gold is useless except as a basis of money. The debate on the Glass-Steagall bill, just enacted, disclosed the fact that only a part of America's gold reserve, the largest in the world, was available for monetary purposes, owing to a defect in the original Federal Reserve law. The new law remedies that defect, and we won't have to give up our coronets, yet avail to keep our currency issues up to sufficient volume for business needs.

SILVER

Talk about restoring silver to its place as a basis of money is being heard everywhere. The latest move in this direction is the introduction in Congress by Representative Somers of Brooklyn of a resolution for an international conference on silver.

I am not sure that I agree with my friend Rene Leon, regarded as the foremost authority on silver, that the demonetization of silver by the British government in India in 1926 is at the bottom of all of the world's present economic trouble, but I do believe that the legalization of silver, up to a reasonable percentage of gold, as a basis for currency, would help to stabilize finance and business.

At any rate, as I have often said, silver is something interesting to watch.

DUCKS

It looks as if the Twentieth Amendment to the Constitution of the United States would be one which would change the date of Presidential inaugurations and eliminate "lame ducks" from Congress. As things are now, we elect a new President and Congress in November, but their term of office does not begin until March 4 the next year. In the meantime, the old Congress holds a session in which defeated members, known as "lame ducks," still sit.

This is a hangover from the old stage coach, horseback days of slow travel. It used to take three or four months to get to Washington. Both houses of Congress have agreed to submit a constitutional amendment making January 3 the date for Congress to meet with only the newly-elected members sitting, and the new President to take office on January 23 instead of on March 4.

This probably cannot become effective before 1936, as it is not likely enough states will ratify it to put it into force for 1932.

AMERICA

While the "Star-Spangled Banner" is the official national anthem of the United States, many more people can sing "America," the familiar song beginning "My country, 'tis of thee." That was written just 100 years ago, in 1832, by the Rev. Samuel Francis Smith, who was then a theological student. He discovered an old German tune in a collection of hymns, and in half an hour had written the words which are still sung, to fit the tune. It was not until sometime afterwards that the same tune was adopted in England for the national anthem, "God Save the King."

SETS NEW RECORD

The Scott cheese and butter factory set a new record of milk purchase last week when 14,787 pounds of milk were purchased in one day. The milk supplied steadily increases and every day finds milk from new customers on some of the routes.

A pasteurizer was installed Saturday. Pasteurizing milk is necessary in warm weather in order that the quality of the cheese may not be affected. The factory has a refrigeration department, where cheese can be stored indefinitely without ill effects.

A churn of the most modern type is also being installed and the first butter was to have been made last Monday.

Tyrrell County farmers are curing hams this winter for the purpose of developing a trade in this product for the future.

Restless CHILDREN

CHILDREN will fret, often for no apparent reason. But there's always a reason. As harmless as the recipe on the wrapper, mild and bland as it tastes. But its gentle action soothes a youngster more surely than a more powerful medicine.

That's the beauty of this special children's remedy! It may be given the tiniest infant—as often as there is need. In cases of colic, diarrhea or similar disturbance, it is invaluable. A coated tongue calls for just a few drops to ward off constipation; so does any suggestion of bad breath. Whenever children don't eat well, don't rest well, or have any little upset—this pure vegetable preparation is usually all that's needed.

PHILLIPS' MILK OF MAGNESIA

WHEN FOOD SOURS

ABOUT two hours after eating, many people suffer from sour stomachs. They call it indigestion. It means that the stomach nerves have been overstimulated. There is excess acid. The way to correct it is with an alkali, which neutralizes many times its volume in acid.

The right way is Phillips Milk of Magnesia—just a tasteless dose in water. It is pleasant, efficient and harmless. It is the quick method. Results come almost instantly. It is the approved method. You will never use another when you know.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips Milk of Magnesia, the kind physicians prescribe to correct excess acids. 25c and 50c a bottle—any drugstore. "Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Company and its predecessor Charles H. Phillips since 1875.
