

REVENUE MEASURE PASSES FIRST READING IN SENATE

bare possibility, the bill liquor control bill might be enacted to fill in the existing gap, but not likely.

The Senate is expected to reach the Appropriations bill Thursday, as passed by the House. Barring unexpected snags, it is possible that adjournment may be reached within a week, more likely 10 days, or it might even be two weeks, although this is not expected.

While the Senate was struggling with the Revenue bill, the House made some progress on its calendar, on which early in the week were about fifty bills awaiting action. However, the House engaged in killing and then reviving bills. Killed and revived the next day, maybe to be killed again, are the following:

Lengthen terms of registers of deeds to four years; allow debtors to buy up deposits of defunct banks and use them as offsets against debts; build entrances to State highways; on evidence in lottery cases. Killed without the reviving were: providing for purchase and operation as State institution the Eifland school for colored delinquent girls; permitting judges, on recommendation of jury, to impose life imprisonment instead of death on capital felons. Killed by committees were bills to make kidnapping a capital felony and limit the number of looms one person could operate in textile mills of the State.

House Bills Passed
Bills passed by the House, going to the Senate for action, largely are: provide acting Highway Commission chairman, making commission agents peace officers and providing for care of women prisoners; provide commission to study amounts due counties on highway contributions; amend the law on adoption of minors; allow N. C. Rehabilitation Commission to receive Federal aid; allow clerks of Superior court or their deputies to act as clerks of general county recorders courts; increase pay of legislators from $600 to $900 per session; increase pay of Utilities Commissioner to $4,500 a year; require dealers in second-hand goods to keep records; license and regulate teachers from public peanut threshers; allow manufacture of five per cent beer in the State.

The House set for special consideration Wednesday the Day bill to reapportion members of the General Assembly, on the 1930 census, as required by the Constitution. The bill was reported unfavorably on an east-west four to three vote, but was brought to the floor on a minority report. Set for hearing this week are two bills, one to abolish office of Commissioner of Banks and turn his duties over to the Utilities Commissioner, and one to restore to State employees the 25 per cent of their salary taken in April, May and June, 1933, to balance the budget. The amount is about $250,000.

Honor Halifax Resolves
The Senate took time Friday to adopt a resolution adjourning in honor of the Halifax Resolves, adopted by the Halifax Convention, April 12, 1776.

The Senate Penal Institutions committee approved the bill substituting the lethal gas chamber for the electric chair for inflicting the death penalty.

Another spurt of new bills last week brought the introductions by Saturday up to 1641 for the session, of which 709 had been ratified, including a few ready for ratification. During the week 24 public bills and resolutions and 83 local bills were ratified, or ready for ratification.

Frank L. Belgrave Jr., national commander of the American Legion, was invited to address the General Assembly at noon Friday, April 19, in one of the resolutions ratified, another extending felicitations to Dr. E. McK. Goodwin, head of the State School for the Deaf, Morganton, on fifty years of service to the State. Another paid expenses of a committee visiting the Morganton hospital.

PATRIOTISM

PATRIOTISM . . . That, my friends, is a word which has been in the English language since Mr. Webster compiled his dictionary.

Now that we know something about the history of the word, let us pry into the meaning of it. We think of Patriotism as pertaining to a nation's honor, the protection of the ideals of a nation's inhabitants. So why not apply the word to school spirit, to educational relationships? Every student should take a certain pride and interest in the institution that is giving him or her an education, the institution that stands for high ideals and good examples for its students; why not accept with order and enthusiasm the opportunities which are daily being set before us?

There is a good side to every question, a different angle which might throw an altogether different light on the situation. When men go off to war, to fight for their country, we call that patriotism. Today as millions of boys and girls, young men and young women go marching daily to schools and colleges seeking an education for the betterment of themselves and for mankind, is this not patriotism? This business of protecting ideas and future posterity is just as patriotic as going to war for material gain. This habit of going to school for our betterment is just as patriotic, as anything connected with national honor or ideals.

So why not face the task of getting an education which is after all for our benefit, with enthusiasm and patriotism, and not with pessimism and sarcastic criticism?

Without ideals, the people of this world would be a howling, disorganized mass of humanity. Every man, woman and child must recognize leaders in the cultured world, not as superiors but as human beings to whom they may go for advice and consolation.

In summary, we all should face our problems as we come upon them and not permit our personal likes or dislikes imperil our chances of advancement.—Tom B. Moore.

CHAPEL PROGRAM

The entire student body of the high school was highly entertained in the chapel assembly by the student teachers of the A. S. T. C. on last Saturday morning.

As usual the house was called to order by the president of the student body, who immediately turned the program over to the student teachers.

The first number on their program was a very beneficial talk by Mr. Horton. Then Mr. Dotson introduced the featured speaker of the hour, Dr. B. B. Dougherty. Dr. Dougherty's talk came as rather a pleasant surprise to the students who showed their appreciation of Dr. Dougherty's discourse on the subject of "What You Are to Be" by vigorous applause.

Following this talk Miss Polly Hobson gave a very humorous account of a negro sermon.

The student teachers haven't been around the high school this long without finding out that their scholars like music and so a couple of harmonious vocal numbers were rendered by Messrs. Perry, Spavins and Steer.

All that is needed on a program of this kind is a good master of ceremonies and as none other than our one and only Bob Swan filled this capacity, the program was complete and all enjoyed a fine time.

BIRTHDAY DINNER

Mrs. Ralph Greene served a dinner Friday honoring the birthday of her husband and that of S. C. Eggers. The bountiful repast was climaxed by the cutting of a huge birthday cake bearing the names of the honor guests. Besides Messrs. Greene and Eggers, those invited were: Prof. A. J. Greene, Mrs. S. C. Eggers, Rex Bumgarner, Alton Gentry, Miss Grace Pennell and Alton Young of Lincoln, a visitor for a few days at the Eggers home.

BLOWING ROCK SCHOOL TO PRESENT SPRING FESTIVAL

(Written by the Students)

The elementary grades of Blowing Rock School will present a spring-time festival on Friday evening, April 19, at 8 o'clock. An admission of 10c and 20c will be charged.

Place—Court at the edge of the forest; Time—May evening.

Synopsis. Town children are seen playing in the forest green. A group of villagers appear and look on with interest as the children continue their spring games. The town crier appears, announcing a spring-time festival that is to be held in the forest. The herald then advances, announcing the approach of the May Queen and her attendants. Meanwhile, Robin Hood and his Merry Men appear on the scene. They seem disturbed to find the forest occupied by royal celebrities. After the foresters dance, they disappear, with Robin Hood and his men, surrounding the court to the Queen, who later receives her crown. Dancing and the winding of the May pole continues in her honor, until the town crier announces the close of the Spring festivities.

Characters: Town Crier, Max Story; Herald, Ross Pitts; May Queen, Kathleen Foster; Maids of Honor, Margaret Miller and Blanche Pennell; Crown Bearers, Alice Boyden and Josephine Robbins; Train Bearer, Ernestine Banner; Attendants: Fifth and Sixth Grade Girls; Flower Girls, First and Third Grade girls; Robin Hood, Derald Daniels; Friar Tuck, Ernest Hayes; Little John, Charles Ford; Yeomen, Stanley Coffey, Bernard Pennell and James Williams.

SWEET CORN FOR FAMILY USE

How much sweet corn should be planted for a family of five?

Answer: Approximately 600 feet of row will produce enough corn for the average family of five. The corn, however, should be planted in blocks, containing several rows rather than in two or three long rows. Where long rows are planted, pollination is apt to be poor and the ears will not fill out well. The leading varieties of sweet or sugar corn are Golden Sunshine, Country Gentleman, and Stowell's Evergreen.
