HEALTH DEPARTMENT SAYS DIPHTHERIA IS NOT SERIOUS

(Continued from Page 1) or other places. Quarantine placards should be respected by every one and it should be realized that they are placed only for the good of the community and that the quarantine can only be effective and serve its purpose if each individual thinks of it as a community problem and not as a personal matter. One might be willing to take a personal risk, but we have no right to endanger others. It is for this reason that the law was placed on our statutes.

There is much more danger in keeping children out of school, and allowing them to go to town and mix with other people with whom they have not been in the custom of associating than there is in allowing them to continue in their usual habits. Should there be any indication that an uncontrollable situation existed in a school it would be promptly closed, but until this is done the parents should think of the school as the proper place for the child. The Health Department probably has more facts concerning the situation than any one else and is able to sift out the false from the true reports and thus place a true value on the situation. At this time there is no reason for alarm and steps are being taken to guard against such a condition developing.

Cash Received

As in previous instances, the WPA received over the week-end a lump sum allotment from Comptroller General McCarl. Accompanying the allotment was a multiple list of projects, from which the State WPA may select those undertaking to be carried to completion.

The number of projects in the multiple list was not known at the State WPA office yesterday, but Mr. McGowan said that projects of every type were included.

District Selection

As in previous instances, the eight WPA district directors will be authorized by the State office to select from the multiple list projects for their districts which will give the most employment, while performing a useful service. The amount of sponsors' contributions and the type of labor needed for each project determine to some extent their employment possibilities.

It is the intention of the state administration to distribute the $9,000,000 so far received in such a way that it will give employment to all registered employables in the state as long as the money lasts. The program will be extended as more money is received, said Mr. McGowan.

Up until yesterday, employment had been given by the State WPA to only 6,500 persons.

Farm Notes

Potatoes Should Sell Higher

Changes in the September potato market were mainly from the effect of weather conditions on the rate of digging and marketing. Prospect of a crop lighter than that of last year helped hold part of the month's gains. Frost damage reports began to arrive in mid-September from the Northeast and the Great Lakes region.

Even if demand should not prove greater this season, it seems that the lighter production should sell higher rather than lower, as compared with the previous year. Yet the late September price of 50 to 70 cents per 100 pounds for sacked potatoes in eastern and midwestern producing sections was considerably lower than the price of 60 to 90 cents at that time last year. City prices at 85 cents to $1.10 were 5 to 20 cents lower this year. Because of the sharp changes in production estimates during the late months of the last 2 years, the market was considered likely to stay unsettled until most of the crop is matured and out of the ground.

Features at present are the large crop in the far West, the irregular market quality of eastern and midwestern potatoes and the much lighter production in Maine and in some other eastern potato sections. Crop location suggested higher prices of good potatoes in the East than in the Middle West, but recent quotations have been fairly close together.

Cattle Prices up Also

Prices of all classes and grades of cattle have been at the highest levels for any corresponding period since 1930. Cattle slaughter in July and August combined, however, was only slightly smaller than the very large commercial slaughter in those months last year and was much larger than the July-August slaughter of all other years since 1926.

The significant feature of the slaughter supply in these 2 months this year was the unusually large proportion of cows and heifers in the total. Slaughter of females in the 2 months was the largest for any July-August period during the 17 years for which records have been kept, whereas slaughter of steers was the smallest since 1932 and the second smallest since 1921. Slaughter of cows and heifers also was unusually large during the first half of the year and was very large in 1934. During the 6 years, 1928-33, however, the number of cows and heifers slaughtered was relatively small and there was a general accumulation of such cattle throughout the country.

The relatively favorable prices for low-grade cattle and the special Federal-State campaign to eliminate Bangs disease and tuberculosis from cattle herds are factors which have contributed to the liberal marketing of cows and heifers this year. With supplies of hogs unusually small and cattle prices relatively favorable, stockmen have been taking advantage of the situation by selling off many of the older cows on hand. Prices of low-grade cows this summer have been about double those of last summer and have shown relatively little weakness since their pronounced rise early in the year. Part of the relatively strong demand for such cows is attributed to the efforts of consumers to lower their meat costs through the purchase of cheaper grades, and to the increased use of beef in the manufacture of sausage because of the scarcity of pork for this purpose.

Prices of the better grades of cows have shown considerably more weakness since the high point reached in late April than have the prices of the lower grades. This is largely because the better grades of cows meet considerable competition from the lower grades of steers, and because the supply of Common and Medium grade steer beef and of good grade cow beef on the market in the last 5 months has been relatively large and has increased seasonally as marketings of grass cattle have increased. The peak of grass cattle marketings usually is reached in October, and in November there is a general clean-up of inferior cattle that stockmen do not wish to carry through the winter. November, therefore, usually records the seasonal low point in prices of grass cattle and all of the lower grades of cattle. The unusually strong demand for cattle that can be used in feeding the large supplies of forage and roughage produced this year and for the cheaper kinds of cattle suitable for the trade desiring to reduce meat costs is expected to prevent any further marked seasonal decline in prices of the lower grades this year.

GREATEST CIRCUS COMING THIS WAY

Offering its millions of patrons the largest and best program in its brilliant annals, the mighty Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Combined Circus, is scheduled to exhibit in Johnson City Saturday, October 26, and on that date the world's largest big top will be filled with sensational new features from all over the globe, including the topmost acrobatic acts of every European nation, except Denmark.

mark. The Greatest Show on Earth will arrive on four long, railroad trains of double-length steel cars, carrying 1600 people, seven herds of elephants, 1609 menagerie animals and 700 horses, to say nothing of 31 great tents and countless tons of riggings, grandstands, properties and paraphernalia.

New European troupes are the Walkmirs, Antaleks, Romeos, Maschinos, Polis, Buemrangs, Demenatis, Willos, Lauries, and Torrence-Dolores—sensational aerial and acrobatic novelty offerings. The largest aerial ballet ever produced, led by the Lydia and Rooney, the Annetta and Nelletta troupes, and the largest liberty horse act ever seen are now thrills from abroad.

Mike Gillette, who leaps from the dome of the big top; the Otaris, who fly in masses from an aerial cross; the two Wallenda troupes in new hair raising high wire feats; Dorothy Herbert, riding reinless hurdling horses over fire pumps; the great Con Colleano, forward somersaulting star of the tight wire; the largest acrobatic display ever seen, with the Yacopis, the Danwillis, the Uyenos, the Yem Kams, the Demenatis, the Hadjis and Hassans; the celebrated Loyal-Repenskis, the famed Rieffenachs and the great Walters, bareback riding stars; the two Guice Troupes of comedy aerial flyers on the lofty bars—the Flying Concellos, with Antoinette, only girl ever to accomplish a two-and-a-half somersault to hand-to-hand catch; the famed Flying Comets; Hugo and Mario, who are fired in a split second from the mouth of a giant cannon across the upper reaches of the big top—these are but a few of the preeminent artists
