ITEMS FROM THE DEMOCRAT OF MAY 10, 1907

Mrs. W. L. Bryan left this morning for Marion, where she will spend a few days with her daughter, Mrs. Dr. Morphew.

It is now definitely announced that the summer term of the Appalachian Training School will open on Tuesday June 4th.

Prof. A. Masters left for his home in Mitchell county last Saturday, but will be back in time for the opening of the summer school.

Mrs. R. C. Rivers left this a. m. to visit her aged mother, Mrs. N. A. Jurney, at Olin, Iredell county. She was accompanied by her youngest son, Master James Rivers.

More building in and around Boone is one of the crying needs just now. There is not a single empty house in the corporate limits of the town.

Here are the gentlemen elected on Tuesday to preside over the affairs of the town for the ensuing year: J. C. Fletcher, Mayor; M. B. Blackburn, M. P. Critcher and L. B. McNeil, aldermen.

Eli Long reached home in time to spend a few days with his mother before she died. He is still here, but we have not learned what his plans for the future are, whether he will remain at the old home or return to the west.

It seems that no state flag will flutter from the dome of the courthouse for a while yet at least, as the matter was brought before the commissioners on Monday, and was passed over with but little comment. Of course it is a law that the state flag shall float from each courthouse and state building, but it does occur to us that it is a very foolish one.

It seems that the Masonic picnic for Boone is now almost assured. Four of the five lodges directly interested were represented by committees here on Monday evening.

The body was unanimously in favor of the enterprise, and another meeting will be held in Boone on Friday May 24th, to perfect the arrangements. The proceeds from the picnic will go to the Oxford asylum.

Hands were again ordered on the new Shulls Mills road, but it now appears that one or more injunctions will be filed near the villages for more damages than was allowed by the assessors, which will doubtless retard the work until the matter is satisfactorily settled.

At the stockholders meeting of the Boone and Blowing Rock turnpike company, held here on last Monday the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: J. W. Farthing, president; Dr. C. J. Parlier, W. D. Edmisten, J. W. Farthing and W. C. Lentz, directors. W. C. Coffey succeeds himself as treasurer of the company.

Physicians and representatives from 12 counties of North Carolina gathered at Grace Hospital in Morganton recently for the purpose of forming the Catawba Valley Conference of Hospital Executives, election of the organization's officers and adopting of a constitution and by-laws.

Purpose of the organization as set out in the constitution and by-laws which were adopted at the meeting includes the promoting of intelligent planning and co-ordination in the field of hospital service; to serve as a forum for the discussion of common problems and as a clearing house for the exchange of information looking to the advancement of the service.

The purposes were further stated as for the interpreting to the public the functions of hospitals and their place in the community and to co-operate with all agencies with health and social problems.

The area served by the organization, covering 12 counties, was assigned by the executive secretary of the state medical care commission at Raleigh, and takes in the following counties: Avery, Burke, Caldwell, Catawba, Cleveland, Lincoln, McDowell, Mitchell, Polk, Rutherford, Watauga and Yancey.

Vance Whitener of Spindale, sophomore at Appalachian State College, has won a position in the cast of "The Lost Colony", the Roanoke Island Historical Association annual production, to be presented again this summer at Manteo, North Carolina.

The privilege for a try-out competition was won by Mr. Whitener's acting in "The Third Blow" presented by the Appalachian Playcrafters at the spring dramatic festival at Chapel Hill brought him to the favorable notice of the directors of "The Lost Colony."

The following change in office hours for the United States Employment Service became effective Monday, May 6: The employment office will observe office hours from 8 a. m. to 5 p. m., rather than the present schedule of 8:30 a. m. to 5:30 p. m.

SIX-INCH SERMON

By REV. ROBERT H. HARPER

Learning to Live Together
Lesson for May 12: Matthew 18: 15-17, 21, 22; Mark 10: 35-37, 41-45.
Memory Selections: John 13:35.
Two matters are dealt with in this lesson — forgiveness and self-seeking.

Jesus outlined a plan for an injured man to follow. He must first talk with the man who injured him. If no amends are made, he must tell it to the church, and if the man who injured him will not listen to the church, he can be regarded as a Gentile and a publican. When Peter asked if forgiveness should be extended to the seventh time, Jesus replied, "I say not unto thee, until seven times; but, until seventy times seven." Jesus was not dealing in actual numbers. He did not mean that a man might forgive 490 times by count and then refuse further to forgive. But he meant to say that forgiveness should be unlimited.

In the second instance Jesus taught that it is unseemly and wrong that the inordinate ambition of this man or that should mar the association of brethren. When the ten heard the ambitious request of James and John, "they were moved with indignation." Then Jesus, calling them together, spoke of the nature of true greatness. It is the greatness of those who serve — "whosoever would be first among you, shall be servant of all." For their example in such service Jesus invited attention to himself.

Certainly the forgiveness of wrong suffered and the putting down of inordinate ambition are necessary if men would live well and happily together.
