Worthwhile Club Entertains Husbands

The Woman's Worthwhile Club enjoyed one of the loveliest banquets it ever had, on Thursday evening at a local cafe, when the ladies entertained their husbands. The table was arranged in the form of a cross with tulips and tall tapers making a centerpiece graduating into very small bouquets and candles at each of the four ends of the banquet table. Green, yellow and other spring colors were used in bouquets, place cards and in the cocktail and dessert. Delicious food was very efficiently served.

Miss Royster Barnett and Roger Whitener sang duets and solos. Fun and music was enjoyed throughout the evening.

ARTICLE ON NORTH CAROLINA PUBLISHED IN BOSTON PAPER

"Travelers in North Carolina have their choice of mountains, seashore or sandhills not to mention both winter and summer resorts and 12,000 miles of numbered primary highways to reach them," reads an article in the travel section of the Boston Globe published April 14.

"In the west are the highest mountains of the east, in the middle an empire of industry, on its fringe a sandhill region transformed into a peach orchard and the winter golf capital of America; in the east miles of rich agricultural land.

stretching to an ocean held at bay by long arms of sand dunes, enclosing sound waters teeming with fish and waterfowl. That is North Carolina."

The article goes on to mention such familiar places as Lake Junaluska, Blowing Rock, Chimney Rock, Lake Lure, Little Switzerland, the Blue Ridge Parkway and refers to the Great Smokies as the TVA lake country.

Thank You

During the past few weeks so many customers have been in our store that we have not been able to wait on you as quickly as we would have liked. Added to this increased business was the "breaking-in" of three new veterans of World War 2 who have joined our full-time staff. We certainly appreciate the consideration you have shown these men, who between them have just finished twelve years in the Armed Forces.

To you who patiently waited we are glad to report that these men are rapidly gaining in knowledge and experience.
