Canned Vegetables Retain Price Levels
Raleigh, June 26. — Retail prices for canned vegetables of the 1946 pack will generally remain unchanged, except where approved industry wage increases have been granted, Theodore S. Johnson, State OPA District Director, said today. Ceilings will apply to principal canned vegetable remaining under price control such as corn, peas, asparagus, tomatoes, lima beans, blackeye peas and mushrooms, and to tomato products, including catsup, chili sauce, purees, tomato juice, and tomato sauce. On fruits processed with sugar and on catsup and chili sauce ceilings will reflect the recent half-cent a pound increase in the cost of sugar. At the same time, Johnson announced that fresh green peas have been removed from price control, since these are already selling below existing ceilings, with indications that prices for the coming season will be lower than at present.
