PAUL AT PHILIPPI

International Sunday School Lesson for November 10, 1946
Golden Text: "I can do all things in him that strengtheneth me."
Philippians 4:13.

About two years after Paul and Barnabas returned from their missionary journey the former suggested that they again visit the churches which they had established in Asia Minor. This was probably about a year after the Council at Jerusalem.

Paul had already achieved a wonderful success with his mission to the Gentiles but he was not a man to be content with past accomplishments. His ambitious spirit, inspired by the vision of his apostleship to the Gentiles, was unwilling to remain at Antioch. Always, to his dying day, the urge with Paul was to go on, to carry the new gospel to regions which had not heard it.

A difference of opinion rose between Paul and Barnabas as to the advisability of allowing John Mark to accompany them on this Jerusalem with him from the Council, and hereafter these two were associated together in missionary activity.

While the dissension which had appeared was unfortunate, the result was that two missionary parties went from Antioch thereby doubling the number of workers in the field. Each of the original partners was probably freer to pursue their own methods under the new arrangement.

Paul and Silas followed an overland route to visit the churches in Asia Minor. Passing through the Cilician Gates in the Taurus Mountains they visited Derbe, Lystra, Iconium and Antioch in Pisidia. Paul wanted to carry the gospel directly west, towards Ephesus, but was deterred by the Holy Spirit. Therefore he went through Phrygia and Galatia, two regions in the interior. At that time Paul wanted to go into Bithynia to the north, the region just south of the Black Sea, but again a divine conviction caused him to travel westward. Without stopping to teach or preach in Mysia they reached Troas, a seaport, located very close to the site of the ancient city of Troy, made famous by Homer.

While at Troas, Paul had his famous vision of a man of Macedonia who made the historic re-

Green Valley School News

Due to the election on Tuesday there was no school, but we will have school Saturday, November 9th, 1946.

We were happy to have our county nurse, Mrs. Clawson, visit our school last week.

The children all enjoyed a Halloween party on Thursday afternoon. They were served candy and oranges.

We are pleased to report that our school has purchased a piano from the funds raised from our box supper. There has been much interest shown already. The children all appreciate good music. We wish to again thank Messrs. Walter Lookabill, Albert Wooding, Vaughn Tugman and Waldo Tugman for their kindness in going after our piano.

The assembly program was presented by Mrs. Cottrell's fourth grade class.

We were happy to have Mrs. David Martin, Mrs. Russel Norris and children visit our school last week.

The assembly program will be presented this week by Miss Moretz's second grade class.

Demonstration School News

Halloween celebration carried out in the form of carnival festivities was an enjoyable success in the Elementary School on Thursday night. Supper was served in the cafeteria early in the evening, after which amusements were begun in various classrooms. Many forms of entertainment were afforded which included the crowning of Henry Gaither and Orlando Brown as King and Queen of harvest, cake walks, fishing, apple bobbing, and a visit to the Hall of Horrors, a major thrill of the evening sponsored by Miss Walkers sixth grade. "Fantastic," appropriately suggesting its artistic arrangements of the everyday article in unique fashion, was displayed by Miss Goodman fourth grade. Appreciation is extended to the faculty, patrons, and friends for their cooperation in helping to make this party a success. Proceeds of the evening will be used for the beginning of a visual aid program and other equipment needed by our school.

Cafeteria

Our cafeteria committee has made several additions toward the beautification of our lunchroom by putting up new curtains, painting and adding a new bulletin board for which various grades will be responsible during the year.

We serve each day an average of 310 students and because of the well planned menus by our lunchroom employees, we are having attractive and well balanced meals. We are appreciative of the fine work which is being

Beaver Dam News

The Beaver Dam Home Demonstration Club met with Mrs. Dean Reese for an all day meeting Oct. 4. In the morning Miss Matheson, assisted by some of the members, prepared a very enjoyable meal. After dinner the meeting was opened by the president. The collect was repeated and the secretary's report read.

Miss Matheson gave an interesting discussion on "What We Earn and How We Use It." Plans for the club's Christmas party were discussed.

The men of the community had an old-fashioned "working" at the community house Oct. 18. We are proud of the progress that was made toward cleaning up the grounds. The club women served the workers dinner. Setting out of evergreens and shrubs for the church grounds was also discussed. The next meeting of the club will be in the community building Nov. 21.

quests, "Come over into Macedonia and help us." We know that Luke, author of Acts, joined the Pauline party at this point because, in verse ten, begin the "we" passages of this book.

The great apostle was positively convinced that God had directed him to carry the gospel into Europe. No decision more momentous in the world's history was ever made. It sent Paul and the gospel which he carried in the direction of the empire, to the people who contained possibility of ruling world affairs. It is almost impossible to imagine history if Paul and his party had traveled toward the Orient instead.

Landing at Neapolis, a seaport, Paul and his party proceeded to Philippi, an important city of Macedonia. There was no synagogue in Philippi but Paul went to a "prayer-place" of Jewish proselytes and on the Sabbath made his first European convert. She was Lydia, a sister of purple-dyed cloth, who had come from Thyatira in the little province of Lydia on the western coast of Asia Minor.

Paul had a special affection for the church he founded at Philippi and, while he was a prisoner in Rome, he wrote them a beautiful letter. In it he told what Christ meant to him. The things which he had once thought important and held most highly, he now considered of a less than nothing in comparison with the importance of his knowledge of Christ.

Paul was not satisfied with his Christian attainments. He knew he was not perfect, and, therefore, he was eagerly advancing toward the goal of perfection. Banishing from his mind all the past, with the eventual goal uppermost in his mind, he, like a racer, was straining, every nerve to reach the highest prize—heavenly life with Christ Jesus.
