Mrs. John Barden, the speaker, presented a fine and inspiring program on the art of the Congo. Many unique articles, some made by the uncultured natives were shown, material and workmanship eliciting great appreciation from club members. In her inimitable style, Mrs. Barden delighted her listeners with bits of geography, superstition, religion and other points connected with the lives of these primitive people.
A dozen members enjoyed Mrs. Cooke's hospitality, especially the delectable and most artistic party plate at the program's close, this followed by punch served in the dining room. The next meeting will be held the third Thursday in February.

To Continue Fight in Behalf Of State Good Health Plan in 1948
Durham, January 17. — The North Carolina Good Health Association announced that its 1948 program will consist of a continuing fight in behalf of the six-point Good Health Plan, the development and promotion of a comprehensive, year-round rural health program, and special time-limit projects in the interest of good health week, student nurse recruitment, non-profit hospital insurance enrollment, practical nurse recruitment, and hospital week.

H. C. Cranford, executive director said that the association would also lend its support to a positive health, physical education and safety program being conducted by the State Department of Public Instruction in the public schools and colleges, and to the State Board of Health's campaign for extension, improvement and full utilization of local public health services.
The six-point Good health plan which the good health association has pushed since 1945, calls for: a hospital or community clinic accessible to every citizen in the state; $350,000 a year in state funds to provide $1 a day for indigent patients in hospitals; medical-education loans to encourage young North Carolinians to become doctors, dentists, technicians and nurses and to practice in rural areas; more doctors, more nurses, and more medical technicians by expanding the state's two-year medical school to a standard four-year school; adequate provision for educating more negro doctors; and a state-wide campaign to promote non-profit hospital insurance.

The rural health program was described as the most extensive undertaking for 1948. This educational work will be jointly sponsored by the Good Health Association and the State Medical Society. A rural health education committee composed of 15 state farm, health, and welfare leaders will be formed to assist in coordinating and carrying out the various activities planned.

Distinction List At Appalachian High
The distinction list is composed of the names of students who have averaged a B-grade on all first semester subjects and have not been cited for misbehavior during that time. Heretofore the distinction list grades were those for the second quarter of the school year. This time, since the student had to average a B-grade over the whole first semester, being placed on the distinction list carries a higher honor than ever.
Senior: Eugene Blackburn, Elmo Moretz, Jack Norris, Buck Robbins, W. B. York, Martha Austin, Mary Austin, Mary Nell Greene, Canessa Moretz, Clara Norris, Wilma Norris, Mary Lee Stout, Jean Wilson.

Cork Oak Seedlings Are Now Available
The Lenoir district office of the North Carolina division of forestry and parks announces that there are 6,000 cork oak seedling available at the Clayton forest nursery. These cork oak seedling are being grown for experimental purposes and will be shipped free of charge, except for express charges, in lots of not less than 25 or not more than 100 to any person requesting them.
Fred Claridge, management head of the Division, points out that the commercial possibilities of planting and growing cork oak in North Carolina are being studied, and cooperators are needed to help with the program. By planting cork oak throughout the State, the division believes it will find the best site for growing these trees on a commercial basis. Any person interested in obtaining cork oak trees may receive additional information from their district forester.
Green feed is necessary to hogs and, when it is supplied in sufficient amounts, it will improve sanitary conditions, will act as a tonic, will encourage thrift and health, and is an excellent source of Vitamin A.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

WHEN WE WORK WITH GOD
International Sunday School Lesson for January 25, 1948
GOLDEN TEXT: "For we are labourers together with God."—1 Cor. 3: 9.
20-8: 10.
Lesson Text: II Corinthians 5: 1-10.
In our lesson last week we considered the rare privileges that are ours when we belong to Christ. However, we must bear in mind that our privileges carry with them responsibilities and duties.

Paul, in our text this week, outlines this responsibility for us. In working out His plan of redemption for the world, God must have human helpers. Without him, we can do nothing and without us, God cannot accomplish his purpose in the world. Therefore, Paul declares that those who have accepted Christ are ambassadors on behalf of Christ. It is pointed out that an ambassador of a country must possess the following qualifications in order to be acceptable: (1) He must be a citizen of the country he represents; (2) he must have the interests of that country at heart, although he lives in another country; and (3) he must receive an appointment.

A Christian ambassador must have the same qualifications. Paul tells, in our lesson text, how a person becomes a citizen of Christ's kingdom. He came into the world and partook of our nature. On the cross he bore our sin and, as a result, those who trust him become citizens of the kingdom of God. By the same sacrifice Christ puts into the hearts of each new heavenly citizen a love for the heavenly kingdom and commissions him to serve as an ambassador.
The honor and privilege of being an ambassador also carry real responsibility. A true ambassador has a mission that includes every part of his life, realizing that the manner in which he conducts his affairs and his personal life are open to close scrutiny and his country is either helped or hurt by what he is and does. The ambassador for Christ must not forget that his spiritual citizenship is in heaven and that people in this world are likely to judge his country by the way he acts. His life should be centered around the twofold theme of living a life that truly represents Christ and of speaking the message that Christ would have the people bear—that they should be reconciled to God and become followers of God.

Paul knew that the life of an ambassador for Christ is anything but easy. Misunderstandings arise, harsh criticism and ridicule received and, sometimes even bodily punishment given by those who fail to receive the message of Christ. Paul knew from personal experience the trials that the ambassador for Christ might have to undergo and he, therefore, counsels that they be sure their faith is strong enough to see beyond the dishonor and evil reports. This faith must be able to remind him that although he may be unknown to men, he is known to God and although he may be chastened, God continues to be with him. He must never forget that as an ambassador, he is a laborer together with God to accomplish the work of God in the world.
We should remember that our God works by a plan. Nothing that comes from his hand shows haphazard or careless planning. If God uses a plan in the making of the minutest things in the physical universe, he certainly goes by a plan in saving a lost world. In the working out of some of his plans, God works alone and does not ask human assistance. However, in the great work of soul-winning, God left a place in his plan for human initiative and effort and he expects Christians to take their place in his plan.
As Christ's ambassadors we can take the gospel of Jesus to people whom we cannot bring to Christ. Jesus once said, "Go out into the highways and hedge and compel them to come in." In the early days of the Christian church, all Christians were missionaries and took the gospel of Jesus to the homes and to the market places. Today, the average Christian leaves the preaching of the gospel to the minister and the ministry of the church alone.
As ambassadors for Christ, we are partners with God. The partnership is continued and broadened through the consecration of the life to the will of God, knowing that, whatever happens we have Christ's promise, "And lo, I will be with you always, even unto the end of the world."

An occasional application of lime and phosphate and potash to the pasture will encourage the growth of the more desirable pasture plants.

Doughton Favors

That there is virtually certain to be a veto of the GOP measure was made clear yesterday by Secretary of the Treasury Snyder, as the election year tax battle opened before the House Ways and Means committee.

Snyder said the Republican bill would blast hopes for debt retirement and actually put the Treasury $2,100,000,000 in the red in fiscal 1949. And, he said, this would "constitute a major threat to the nation's fiscal integrity and economic stability."

He argued that the country's best interest would be served by prompt enactment of the president's own tax proposal. This would give taxpayers a 40-a-head reduction for themselves and each dependent and make up the entire loss by a new $3,200,000,000 bite on corporation profits which exceed a prewar average.

There was little prospect that the Republican-controlled Congress would give Mr. Truman's plan a second thought.
There were rumors, however, that the House Republican leadership might modify the Knutson bill to make it more palatable to possible Democratic supporters.

In its present form the measure would:
1. Extend to all States the community property principle where by husbands and wives can split the family income equally for tax reporting purposes, thus reducing their tax rates.
2. Increase individual exemption from $500 to $600.
3. Grant additional reductions ranging from thirty per cent in the lowest income bracket to ten per cent in the upper brackets.

NHA HOME MORTGAGES
President Truman has signed a bill amending the National Housing Act to increase by $750,000,000 the Federal Housing Administration's authority to insure new home mortgages. The original $4,200,000,000 authorization has been exhausted. Congress, however, voted only 75 per cent of the $1,000,000,000 requested by home-builders and further stipulated that $500,000,000 of the amount would be available only on approval of the President.

Corn loan and purchase rates for the 1947 crop, ranging by counties from $1.27 to $1.56 a bushel, and averaging $1.37 nationally, were announced recently by the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

December Bond Sales In Watauga County Reach Total $33,402

Mr. Alfred T. Adams, county chairman of the U. S. Savings Bonds committee for Watauga county, announced today that, according to information received from Allison James, state director, in Greensboro, sales of Savings Bonds for the period December 1, through December 31 for Watauga county totaled $33,402.25.

Bond sales for the entire state of North Carolina for the same period were: E Bonds $6,856,159.50; F Bonds $589,095.50; G Bonds $1,651,400.00; total $9,096,655.00. North Carolina's Bond sales for this December were $600,000 more than sales in December 1946.

Although a full report on the total year's Savings Bonds sales by counties will not be available for another week, Mr. Adams stated, "the available figures show that North Carolina reached over 90% of the $94,000,000.00 sales quota for 1947 with sales totaling $85,285,851.25."

"Leading industrialists and bankers of the nation, meeting with Secretary of the Treasury Snyder in December, urged immediate further vigorous action as an anti-inflation measure to spread the national debt through Savings Bond sales with the Bond-a-Month plan and the Payroll Savings Plan," Mr. Adams said, "and a special campaign to increase bond sales in January and February is now getting underway."

FEDERAL WORKERS
Employees in the Federal executive branch dropped below 2,000,000 in November for the first time since 1941. The figure, 1,999,853, was a net reduction of 4,145 from October, although half of the 56 agencies reporting showed employment increases inside this country. The Army accounted for a major portion of the reduction by decreasing its civilian industrial personnel employed overseas by 12,643, chiefly in the Mediterranean theater. with the U. S. reached $900,000,000.

CARD OF THANKS
We wish to express our thanks and appreciation to everyone for their kindness during the sickness and death of our beloved mother and grandmother, Mrs. Violet Greene and also for the beautiful floral offering. May God bless each and everyone.—The Family.
