Xylophonist To Give Concert

JEAN SHAW

On March 22, at eight o'clock in the evening, Appalachian State Teachers College will present Jean Shaw, xylophonist, in a concert in the college auditorium.

A virtuoso of the xylophone at the age of nineteen, Miss Shaw is one of the few concert artists to treat the xylophone as a serious instrument. Playing it in a highly artistic fashion, she has received unstinted praise from many outstanding groups for the charm of her presentation.

Miss Shaw began the study of the xylophone at the age of seven, and showed such promise that six months later she made the first of a long series of public appearances. She has been, for four years, a performer on a coast-to-coast radio program, and has appeared over a television broadcast. She has shared honors with nationally and internationally known musicians.

A trained musician, Miss Shaw has arranged many of the compositions she uses, including the music of Chopin, Beethoven, and Mendelssohn. One of her most effective concert numbers is Liszt's "Second Hungarian Rhapsody."

Playing an especially designed instrument, Miss Shaw also uses three and four mallets, which enable her to achieve harmonic effects comparable to those attained on the piano.

Miss Shaw is presented at Appalachian through the lyceum series, and the public is cordially invited to attend.

State College Hints For Homemakers

To store bowls, platters, and odd dishes without stacking them, remember that a group of "stepped" shelves is useful.

A nut pic, should have a place in every kitchen; it may be used to remove corks, to punch holes in sifting-cans, to untie hard knots, and to clean seams in milk pails and other utensils. Cherries or small pickles, too, may be easily removed from their containers with a nut pick.

Tongs are a useful addition to kitchen equipment and are especially efficient for turning meats, cakes, and pies in oven, and excellent to use in rinsing dishes.

To prevent pictures from marking the wall, when hanging pictures, place a thumbtack on the back of the pictures at each of the lower corners. This will hold the picture far enough from the wall so that it will not leave a mark. Picture rearrangement is thus permitted from year to year.

When turkish towels have become worn or faded, simply cut them in squares and keep them to use as dishcloths.

A low-pitched, well modulated voice will rule out all whining, scolding, nagging, and complaining.

Sandwiches will keep moist for several hours if wrapped in waxed paper and then in a moist tea towel.

MITCHELL TELLS LIONS NATION IS ON BRINK OF WAR

The world is on the brink of another great disaster, spoke ex-Senator Hugh Mitchell of Statesville last night in his address to the Boone Lions at their Ladies night dinner. Former district governor Mitchell in giving the principal address told of the challenge of present world traditions to an international organization such as Lions International. It is the duty of the organization to combat the onslaught of Communism with unity, friendship, and common understandings. Mr. Mitchell is one of the outstanding leaders in the work of United Nations and Lions organizations.

After his address Mr. Mitchell presented several members of the local club with awards from Lions International for outstanding achievements in lionism. Lion Richard Kelley was particularly honored by being presented with a diamond-studded grandmaster key making Kelley the 121st man to receive such an award out of a membership of 350,000 in 23 countries. Other awards went to Lions Bob Agler and Robert King for outstanding work, and to Lions Kelley Smith and Whitener for successfully conducting the annual Melvin Jones membership drive. Lions Whitener and Greer were awarded master keys, one of the highest honors given in lionism, for their past achievements in Lionism.

Preceding the above part of the program Lee Scott, radio entertainer from station WKBC, entertained with piano selections. Mr. Scott, whose real name is Wayman Houck, is a native of Mill Creek community and a rising pianist.

Several distinguished guests from the Statesville Lions Club were present for the dinner, including: Mr. Emmett Easley, Louis Gordon and Roy Beck. Also present were district deputy governor Paul Cashion and Mrs. Cashion of North Wilkesboro.

Good Living Possible On Small Acreage

A small farm will provide a good living for any family if good management is practiced to make a little bit go a long way, says T. K. Jones, farm management analyst for the State College extension service.

Careful planning and wise allocation of funds and other resources are necessary if the farm family is to have a high standard of living, Mr. Jones stated. Present prices make it important for the small farmer to reduce cash expenses by producing as much of his food supply as possible.

That a live at home program can be practiced on the small farm is evidenced by the way Stokes A. Burleson of the Crossnore community in Avery county, has carried his out.

Mr. Burleson became a demonstration farmer in his community in 1938 when he agreed to cooperate with the TVA and the N. C. extension service. Practicing what he has learned since that time, Mr. Burleson plants a good garden each year and produces an adequate supply of both early and late vegetables for his family needs. Two high producing Guernsey cows provide the family with plenty of milk throughout the year. An ample supply of pork is cured each year and usually a beef is canned for later use. Fruit, root crops, and vegetables are stored for consumption during the winter months and more than 400 quarts of vegetables, fruits and meats were canned last year.

Income from the sale of beans, potatoes, and cabbage provides the mountain farmer with sufficient income to make needed improvements in home living. His seven-room house which was built in 1940 is wired for electricity and has running water.
